The compiling of this book is without question due to the interest in the history of the Lake Family of Southern New Jersey aroused by the annual Reunions that have been held at Pleasantville for the past ten or more years. In 1912 the compilers published a pamphlet genealogy dealing with the early generations. The favorable reception of this venture encouraged them to carry on the work so as to include some newly discovered data of importance and to include later generations.

Only those who have done similar work can appreciate the labor and difficulty involved in such an undertaking, but the result is here presented to the indulgence of the family. If it is not the adequate record of the lives and accomplishments of the family that the compilers hoped might result from the pamphlet before alluded to, it at least includes much data and many facts of interest that would otherwise soon fade from memory and so be forever lost. No one will be so keenly aware of the incompleteness and inadequacy of the work as the compilers. But the work has been with them a labor of love, and they have done what they could. They trust that no other apology or defence will be needed.

It remains for them to express their appreciation to all who have helped by their labor and counsel in the work.

First, should be remembered those men to whom is due the credit for the origin and the continuance of the annual reunions. The Rev. Dr. S. Wesley Lake has been President from the beginning; the Rev. Dr. James E. Lake, Historian, and Mr. William Lake, Secretary. The work of the Rev. James E. Lake, especially in tracing the line back to William Lake, should not be forgotten. His collection of data has been of no small assistance in the work.

Those whose labors have been of greatest help in collecting data have been Mrs. Flora Lake Ryon, who, alas, was not spared to see the completion of the work; Mrs. Flora (Risley) Champion, Mrs. Mary Bell (Lake) Gardiner, the Rev. W. Elwell Lake, Mrs. Ann C. Fleming, Miss Mattie Collins, and Mrs. Sophia (Lake) Martin. Besides these there were others, literally too numerous to mention, who have helped in greater or less degree, and to whom is due the gratitude of all who find the book useful.

To Mr. Simon Lake, more than to any other one person, perhaps, is due the credit for the present form of the publication. The compilers feel under the greatest obligation to him for innumerable helpful suggestions. He alone made it possible to include the beautiful reproduction of the coat of arms. He also suggested the plan enabling the compilers to include the illustrations, and prepared the unique chart that shows not only his own ancestry, but the ancestry of many other members of the family.

The compilers trust that this book will stimulate still further interest in the origin and history of the family—an interest that will lead to the discovery of the English ancestry, to the completion of the records of those branches of the family that the plan of this work forbade us to trace in detail, and to the working out of many of the "lost" lines of descendants of William Lake.

With gratitude to all who have lightened the labor in any degree or way, and with the hope that others may be led to the same sincere respect for their ancestors that has come to them through their study of the family history, the compilers commit the book to your charitable hands.

GENEALOGY OF THE LAKE FAMILY

THE LAKE FAMILY IN ENGLAND

The family name of Lake is in origin a place name, that is, it designated its bearer as living at or near a lake. Used in this way, it occurs as early as 1273, as, for example, William of the Lake. Names of this type are usually found spread over a large territory, and indeed originating quite independently among different nations. Consequently we are not surprised to find the name among the Dutch, the Germans, or the Swedes.

In ancient English records the name is not uncommon, and is found in various parts of the country, though perhaps most frequently in the South and West.

Several branches of the family early arose to distinction, chief of which may be mentioned that of Almeric Lake of Southampton, whose two distinguished sons were Arthur, Bishop of Bath and Wells, and Sir Thomas Lake. Bishop Arthur Lake was born in Southampton in September, 1569; he graduated from New College, Oxford, in 1591. In 1616 he became Bishop of Bath and Wells, which office he discharged with great credit to himself. He died May 4, 1626. His tomb may still be seen in his own cathedral. His more distinguished brother, Sir Thomas Lake, was born in 1567, and was knighted in 1603. He was a favorite of James I, who in 1615 made him Secretary of State. His later career seems to have been unfortunate and embittered by family quarrels. He died September 17, 1630, leaving a widow, Mary, daughter of Sir William Ryder, three sons and four daughters.

The great English General Sir Gerard Lake was of this family, being a descendant of the third son Lancelot. Gerard, first Viscount Lake of Delhi and Leswarree, was born July 27, 1744. He entered the English army in 1758; he became major-general in 1790, lieutenant-general in 1797, and general in 1802. He served under Cornwallis in America in 1781. After service in Ireland, he was sent to India in 1800. His campaigns there against the native Indian states were extremely successful, and as a result English influence in India became supreme. He received the thanks of Parliament and was raised to the peerage. He died February 20, 1808, one of the most honored and most loved commanders of English military history. It is said of him that he could think more clearly amidst the rain of bullets than in the calm of his own tent. His line became extinct in 1848, none of his three sons having issue.

The next famous family of Lakes in England to be mentioned is that of Sir Edward Lake. He was born about 1600, the eldest son of Richard Lake of Irby, Lincolnshire. He received the degree of B.A. at Oxford in 1627. He was an eminent lawyer, becoming advocate general for Ireland. On the outbreak of the Civil Wars, he both fought and wrote on the King's side. At the battle of Edgehill he received sixteen wounds, and having lost the use of his left hand by a shot, he placed his horse's bridle between his teeth and fought with his sword in his right hand. He was promised as a reward a baronetcy and an augmentation to his arms by King Charles I in 1643. But since the King was beheaded and the period of the Commonwealth intervened, nothing was done till 1661. King Charles II then made him Chancellor of the Diocese of Lincoln, and the augmented coat of arms promised by King Charles I was in 1661 formally authorized by the College of Arms. He died July 18, 1674, and was buried in Lincoln Cathedral. His wife was Anne, daughter of Simon Biby, by whom he had a son Edward, who died an infant before 1666. This family is of peculiar interest to us, because two of Sir Edward Lake's brothers, namely Thomas and John, came to America and lived in Boston.

The will of Sir Edward Lake is dated April 8, 1665; he added codicils in 1670, 1671, and in 1674, they being rendered necessary by the death of the executors successively named. This will is an interesting document, since it gives us much information in regard to the antecedents and connections of Sir Edward. He leaves a bequest to the church at Normanton near Pontefract in Yorkshire, because it was the home of his paternal ancestors. He mentions his kinsman and servant Christopher Lake, his brother John Lake, his cousin Francis Lake of Hatcliffe, the eldest son of his brother Luke Lake, and Stephen, eldest son of his brother Thomas Lake. He makes his brother Thomas Lake executor, and directs that the heirs male for ever may for their Christian name have the name Biby, or Seaman, his wife's mother's surname, or Caly, an ancestor of the time of Edward III, or Wardell, in honor of his mother, a daughter of Edward Wardell. Thomas Lake, the brother in New England, died before Sir Edward, and in a codicil he names Thomas's son Stephen executor in his place; then Stephen died, and Thomas, Stephen's brother, is named.

Thomas Lake, brother of Sir Edward, seems first to have gone to New Haven, Conn., for there he married Mary, daughter of Stephen Goodyear, a prominent merchant and Deputy Governor. Several children of Thomas and Mary are mentioned in the Boston records, but only Stephen, Ann, and Thomas grew up. Stephen died young, and Ann, married, first, the Rev. John Cotton, and, second, the Rev. Increase Mather of Boston, by whom she left issue. Thomas, son of Thomas, and nephew of Sir Edward Lake, was born in Boston February 9, 1656. He returned to England, was a barrister and a member of the Middle Temple. He lived at Bishop's Norton, Lincolnshire. He married Elizabeth, daughter of John Story, of Derbyshire, and died May 22, 1711, leaving a son Biby and a daughter Mary. Biby Lake was a sub-governor of the African Company, and in 1711 received from Queen Anne a confirmation of the title granted to Sir Edward Lake, together with the coat of arms. The descendants of Biby Lake have held honorable places in English affairs down to the present, Sir St. Vincent Atwell Lake being the seventieth Baronet, counting from Sir Biby.

Another Edward Lake who attained eminence was apparently of the same family as Sir Edward, though the exact relationship is not known; perhaps he was a cousin of some degree. He was born at Exeter November 10, 1641, the son of a clergyman. In early life he was a tutor to the princesses Mary and Anne, daughters of James, Duke of York. He became archdeacon of Exeter October 24, 1676, at which time he received the degree of D. D. from Cambridge University. He was a famous preacher, and a well-known writer of religious and devotional books. He died February 1, 1704.

The last of the famous men of the name of Lake in England to be mentioned is the famous John Lake, Bishop of Chichester. He was the son of Thomas Lake, a grocer of Halifax in Yorkshire, where he was born in 1624. He graduated from St. John's College, Cambridge. He was a devoted royalist, as was Sir Edward Lake, to whom it is not unlikely that he was related. In 1647, he took Holy Orders; on the Restoration he was made Vicar of Leeds, and in 1661 he received the degree of D.D. from Cambridge University. He held many important church offices, until in 1682 he was made Bishop of Sodor and Man. In 1684 he was transferred to the See of Bristol, and in 1685 he became Bishop of Chichester.

Though Bishop Lake owed much to King James, and though his loyalty to the Crown was unquestioned, he could not sanction the King's illegal acts tending to the restoration of the Roman Catholic faith in England; and on refusing to read the King's declaration of liberty of conscience, he with six other Bishops, was committed to the Tower of London in 1688. One should read Macaulay's account of the heroic stand of these men, who will ever be regarded as heroes for conscience's sake. He refused to take the oath of allegiance to William and Mary, and died August 30, 1689. His whole life shows that he spoke only the truth when he said that "He thanked God he never much knew what fear was, when he was once satisfied of the goodness of his cause." His heroic character and godly life may well be an inspiration to all who take pride in the Lake name.

This roll of great men of the name of Lake might be extended almost indefinitely, but the purpose of this chapter is not to tell all that is known or may be learned of the family in England, but merely to show that in the mother country, the old home, the family of Lake is ancient and honorable; that sufficient has been said to demonstrate this will readily be granted.

We hope that sometime, perhaps through some happy accident, we may discover to which branch of the English family our John Lake belonged, but until that time we shall claim all as our kinsfolk and give hearty thanks for their good examples, and endeavor ourselves to follow them in all virtuous and godly living.
HERALDIC NOTE CONCERNING THE COAT OF ARMS

Arms of Lake: Sable, a bend between six crosses-crosslet fitchy argent. Crest: A sea-horse's head argent.

To the student of heraldry, three features of this blazon give evidence of a considerable antiquity. First, its extreme simplicity. To one used only to the floridities of modern heraldry—since the Tudor period, the most surprising characteristic of the shields on early rolls of arms is the general absence of complications of design and varieties of tincture. The old apothegm quoted by Guillim quickly becomes clear: Simplicitas formae antiquitatis nota. Like a great number of the early feudal shields, the design of the Lake arms consists simply of an “ordinary” (the “bend,” or diagonal stripe) and a repeated small charge (the “cross-crosslet fitchy,” or recrossed cross with sharpened shaft); the tinctures are rigidly restricted to two, a single metal (“argent,” or silver) and a single colour (“sable,” or black). The whole forms a readily grasped pattern obviously designed, like the earliest “field heraldry,” to be easily perspicuous at a distance, thus conforming to the oldest canon of heraldry: Arma sunt distinguishingi causa.

Secondly, the crosses-crosslet themselves suggest that their appearance in the design is due to the ancient practice of “geratting.” This practice is described in detail in “The Boke of Saint Albans,” 1486, the first work on heraldry published in English and itself based upon an earlier Latin treatise by Nicholas Upton, 1440. “Geratting” consists of “differencing” a simple shield—to distinguish the arms of cadets, by powdering the field with small charges additional to the original design. The first of the nine modes of geratting given by the Boke of Saint Albans is that of sowing the field with small crosses. A vast number of examples of this practice can be found in the early rolls. For a single example, Sir John L'Estrange, of Knockyn, sealed the Baron’s letter to the Pope, 1301, with his arms: Gules, two lions passant argent. Robert L'Estrange (Harleian MS. 6137, fo. 77b) bore the same with the addition of “crusily fitchée,” or powdered with crosslets similar to those in the Lake arms. So very many instances of this form of geratting can be found, and so well established a method was it of merely “differencing” cadet shields, that the later theory of fanciful heraldic writers—that this form of staked cross indicated a journey to the Holy Land, presumably on a Crusade—falls into the vast scrap-basket of heraldic sciolism. By the sixteenth century geratting had practically disappeared, and in its place the system of “differencing” by single small charges became the dominant one and still persists.

Finally, the Lake crest is highly characteristic of the spirit of the earliest and best heraldry, which delighted in any form of rebus or any allusive connection, no matter how recondite, vague, or far-fetched, between the family name and the heraldic charges. A horse’s head often appears among early crests, for reasons purely arbitrary with the bearer; but a Lake, by assuming a marine form of head was simply following the natural bent of the early heralds to endow an ornament with an appropriately “canting” significance.

A brief glance at three of the several crests recently borne by Lakes may be interesting (Fairbairn’s Book of Crests, 1905). 1, Viscount Lake has: “A horse’s head couped argent, charged on the neck with a bar gemelle gules.” 2, Sir St. Vincent Atwell Lake, Bart., of Edmonton, Middlesex, has: “A sea-horse’s head argent, finned or, gorged with a fess cottised gules.” 3, George Lake, esquire, of Rushey, Herts, has: “A sea-horse’s head and neck couped argent, holding in the mouth an annulet or.”

Now without any consideration of the genealogies involved, there can be no doubt in my mind that these three crests had one and the same common heraldic ancestor in the form as I have drawn it. That No. 1 is called a “horse” and No. 2 a “sea-horse” has no significance when one realises the endless mutations of such figures under the hands of a long series of insufficiently instructed heraldic draughtsmen. Indeed with the best intentions in the world a modern draughtsman might go astray. In “A Complete Guide to Heraldry,” by A. C. Fox-Davies, 1909, the illustrator, Mr. Graham Johnston, Herald Painter to the Lyon Court, gives (p. 202) as a model for a sea-horse a spirited drawing which almost adequately represents the animal as drawn by medieval heralds, but gives the head a mane of hair instead of the dorsal, crest-like fin. Obviously if, following such a paradigm, we give simply the head and omit the fish tail and webbed feet, we have no characteristic left which would differentiate our drawing from the head of the more familiar land animal. But a recourse to any sixteenth century example would restore at once the fin, which, through successive carelessness of rendering, might easily be confused with a mane; and soon the blazon would become changed and the variation fixed. Many examples of similar heraldic mutations could be adduced. The additions of the bar gemelle and the cottised fess are merely “differences” familiar to modern heraldry but, on crests, unknown to early practice. The annulet, again, is obviously also a “difference,” similar to the annulet now placed on a shield to denote a third son. And as between a head of a single tincture and one with a mane or fin of a second, the latter form may safely be regarded as a secondary one, the variation being also a “difference.”

PIERRE DE CHAIGNON LA ROSE.

Cambridge, 10 February, 1915.

MR. LA ROSE’S LETTER IN REGARD TO THE COAT OF ARMS

COLONIAL CLUB, CAMBRIDGE

10 February, 1915.

MY DEAR MR. ADAMS:

I am sending you under separate cover the coloured drawing of the Lake arms. On it you will note that I have drawn no motto. You will look in vain in the early rolls for any mottoes with arms—they are a comparatively late invention and changeable at will. Furthermore there are now so many different Lake mottoes that it would be foolish to try to determine which one would have precedence.

I enclose with this such heraldic notes as occurred to me as significant. I feel they belong in an appendix because of their length—if you use them at all.

As for assigning any date to the arms, that seems to me out of the question. I can only give the indications that lead me to regard the coat as an early and extremely good one.

Kindly let me know if anything isn’t clear, and believe me,

P. DE C. LA ROSE.
1. JOHN LAKE OF GRAVESEND

Gravesend was settled in 1643 by a company of Englishmen under the leadership of Lady Deborah Moody. She was the widow of Sir Henry Moody and came over to Massachusetts about 1640. She settled first in Salem, but in 1641 she removed to Lynn, where she purchased land. Soon she became a follower of the teachings of Roger Williams, and on account of the persecution of the Massachusetts authorities removed with some of her followers to New Amsterdam. John Tilton, who is said to have come over with Lady Moody, was one of those who went to Gravesend with her. Besides those who removed from Massachusetts, Lady Moody found other Englishmen at New Amsterdam, who joined her in the Gravesend enterprise. The first town patent for Gravesend was granted by Governor Kieft, December 19, 1645, to Lady Moody, Sir Henry Moody, her son, John Tilton, etc., and their associates, thirty-nine in all. Among these associates were John Lake, William Goulding, and Thomas Spicer, all names familiar in Cape May County. Whether John Lake and Thomas Spicer came from New England with Lady Moody or whether they joined her in New Amsterdam, it has not yet been possible to determine with certainty. The former seems more probable, since Thomas Spicer was at Newport, R. I., as early as July 16, 1638, the date of his signing the compact. He was chosen Treasurer of Portsmouth in 1642, and in 1643 appears in Manhattan. Since John Lake was his son-in-law, it is probable that he also was at Newport and joined Lady Moody on her way to New Amsterdam; though he may not have married Anne Spicer until after the settlement of Gravesend. There were several families of Lakes in Massachusetts, notably those of Thomas and John of Boston, brothers of Sir Edward Lake of England, who were related to the best families of the Colony, and who were themselves of high social position both in England and America. John Lake of Gravesend may have been related to them or to other New England Lakes; but the problem of his origin, it must be admitted, is still a problem.
We learn from the will of Thomas Spicer that his daughter Anne married John Lake. This will is dated September 30, 1658, and was proved November 4, 1658. His wife's name was Michal. He was that year one of the magistrates of Gravesend. Since three children of John and Anne (Spicer) Lake are mentioned in the will, it is evident that they had been married some years, possibly before the settlement in Gravesend. John Lake died some time before August 4, 1696, but he left no will, and the exact date cannot be determined. Anne Lake was living as late as 1709. Nor is there any record of his family save such as can be constructed from the Gravesend records. The baptism of a daughter of Jan Leek is recorded in the register of the Dutch Church of New York: Metje, May 20, 1652.

We find in the Gravesend records mention of dealings of Anne, widow of John Lake, with her eldest son John; of transactions between John and his brother Daniel; of transactions between Anne and her son-in-law Nicholas Stillwell; of the marriage of Margaret Lake and William Goulding, April 2, 1676; besides mention of William and Elizabeth Lake, other children of John and Anne (Spicer) Lake.

John Lake, Jr., remained in Gravesend and is the ancestor of the branch of the family still resident there. Daniel removed to Staten Island, and is the ancestor of the Staten Island branch of the family. Nicholas Stillwell was the son of Nicholas and grandson of Nicholas, the founder of the family; William Goulding, the elder, removed to Cape May, as did Jacob Spicer, son of Samuel, and grandson of Thomas. Jacob Spicer, perhaps the best known of the early settlers of Cape May Co., was therefore a cousin of our ancestor William Lake. Besides the Stillwells, Spicers, and Gouldings, who were of William Lake's kin, other settlers of Cape May from Gravesend were the Corsons, the Garretsons, the Townsends, and the Hewitts. Most of the other Cape May settlers were from other Long Island towns.

THE GRAVESEND FAMILY

2. John Lake (John\(^1\)). He was the eldest son. His wife was Neeltje Claessen. He probably lived for a time at Flatlands, for November 21, 1670, he bought a horse of James Hubbard of Gravesend. He is named in the assessment roll of Gravesend in 1683. In 1700 he was a Captain of Militia. In 1694 he bought of Hannah, widow of John Delavall of Pennsylvania, for £164 a house and forty acres of land on Hogg's Neck in Gravesend. May 6, 1696, he with Joakim Gulick, had a survey of 85 acres at Smoking Point, with nine acres at the mouth of the Fresh Kil, on Staten Island. In 1714 he was an elder in the Gravesend Dutch Reformed Church, but the date of his death has not been found. His will was proven May 17, 1729, and a wife Mayke is mentioned.

Children:

3. i. Jan, bp. April 16, 1688.
5. iii. Thomas.

v. Mary, m. Cornelius Van Sicklen.

3. John Lake (John\(^2\) John\(^3\)). He was baptised April 16, 1688. Although it cannot be said to be fully proved, yet all the indications are that this John is identical with the John Lake of New Brunswick, Middlesex Co., N. J., whose will is dated February 20, 1752, and proved May 6, 1754. He mentions his wife Martinah, his son Richard, son John, deceased, who left a daughter Hannah, and daughters Nailee, Hannah, and Sarah. The executors named are the son Richard and Daniel Bayley, Jr.

Children:

i. John. He lived in Amwell, Hunderton Co., N. J.; his will is dated Sept. 24, 1751, and was proved March 26, 1752. He mentions his wife Sarah, and three children, Hannah, John, and Joseph. The executors named are the wife and his brother-in-law Daniel Bayley.
ii. Richard.
iii. Nailee.
iv. Hannah.
v. Sarah.

4. Daniel Lake (John, John). He was born March 10, 1696, baptised April 25, 1696. He married Elizabeth Van Sutphen, daughter of Derick Janse Van Sutphen and Elizabeth Janse Van Nuyse, who was born April 6, 1699, and died August 1, 1766. He died April 10, 1776. His will is dated December 16, 1774, and was proved February 25, 1778. He mentions his son Daniel, his grandson Guysbert, eldest son of John Lake, deceased, his granddaughter Elizabeth, wife of Hendrick Banta, [his granddaughter] Rachel Smith [wife of John], son Dirck, David Lake, Neltie Hubbard, Mary Voorhees, Sarah Johnson, Elana Benham, and a daughter Elizabeth already advanced. The executors named are the sons Dirck and Daniel; the witnesses Samuel Hubbard, Samuel Stryker, and Hendrick Johnson.

Children:

   ii. Dirck or Derrick, m. Jan. 16, 1748, Maria Voorhees.
   iii. Neltie, m. Nov. 18, 1756, Bernardus Hubbard, who was b. Feb. 1, 1732.
   vi. Margaret, bp. Feb. 22, 1739; m., it is said, Elias Hubbard of Flatlands, who was born Feb. 13, 1746, and died Dec. 31, 1832.
   viii. Jacobus.
   ix. Geertje, m. Johannes Van Sicklen.

8. x. John, probably one of the oldest of the children.
   xi. Sarah, m. Johnson.
   xii. Ellen, or Elana, m. John Benham, by license dated June 14, 1759.
   xiii. Elizabeth.
5. Thomas Lake (John,² John¹). He is probably to be identified with the Thomas Lake, of Amwell Township, Hunterdon County, N. J., though the identity cannot yet be said to be proved. The will of Thomas Lake of Amwell is dated February 11, 1755, and was proved October 19, 1765. He mentions his wife Jane, who is to have the homestead during her widowhood; his son Thomas, who is to have the homestead; his son Garret, who is to have 100 acres; his son John, his five daughters, Winifred Hull, who has a daughter Jane, Sarah Bets, Catharine Sutphen, Ann Aller, and Ellen Lake. The executors are the sons John and Garret. Chamber’s “Germans of New Jersey” gives some account of this Thomas Lake.

Children:

i. Thomas. Probably the Thomas Lake of Bethlehem Township, Hunterdon Co., whose will is dated Feb. 28, 1787. He speaks of his wife Eleanor, of his daughters Eleanor and Hannah, and of his sons Abraham, Jacob, and Joseph. He mentions also a granddaughter Sarah, daughter of his son Abraham. Eleanor’s will was proven March 19, 1790.

ii. Garret.

iii. John.

iv. Winifred Hull, whose daughter Jane is mentioned in her (Jane’s) grandfather’s will.

v. Sarah Bets.

vi. Catharine Sutphen.

vii. Ann Aller.

viii. Ellen.

6. Nicholas Lake (John,² John¹). Papers relating to the settlement of the estate of John,² now in possession of Mr. William B. Lake of Gravesend, state that Nicholas went to Middlesex County, New Jersey. We find his will of record in Somerset County. It is dated August 23, 1768; has a codicil dated October 11, 1768; and was proved October 8, 1773. He mentions his wife Mary; his eldest son Hendrick; his sons John, Jacobus, Thomas, Nicholas, and Abraham; his daughters Eleanor, Mary, Sarah, Jane, and Margaret. The executors named are Ryck Suydam, Abraham Quick of Somerset County, and John Scheurman and Jacob Vandike, of Middlesex County. Chamber’s “Early Germans” states that Nicholas Lake of New Brunswick sold 345 acres of land for £427 sterling to John Abramse Van Voorhees, who removed from Flatbush in 1738. The facts given below in connection with each of the children are deduced from the will.

Children:

i. HENDRICK. He was the eldest son, and as such he received £10 in excess of his one-eleventh.

ii. JOHN.

iii. JACOBUS.

iv. THOMAS.

v. NICHOLAS.

vi. ABRAHAM.

vii. ELEANOR, m. Johnson, and had John and Elizabeth, who m. Peter Huyk.

viii. MARY.

ix. SARAH, m. Hendrick Sneider, and had Mary, m. Aaron Hankeson, Nicholas, Christopher, Gurtze (?), and Jane.

x. JANE, m. Hendrick Sneider after the death of her sister Sarah.

xi. MARGARET, m. Cornelius Blew.

A Jacobus Lake married by New York license of October 28, 1765, Arreantie Hubbard, who was born December 7, 1736. His will is dated July 18, 1795, and was proved October 2, 1795. He was of Somerset County, N. J. He mentions his wife Arreantie; his sons John, Garrett, and James, who is to have the plantation after his mother's decease on condition of paying his sisters £500; and his daughters Alche Vastor (Vechte), Mary Voorhees, and Catharine Lake. He mentions also a grandson James, son of his son John, and a grandson Lewis Heath. The wife and the son James were the executors. He may have been the son of Nicholas or Daniel of Gravesend.

Garrett Lake, who makes will July 30, 1787, proved September 26, 1787, is probably son of above Jacobus, as he mentions his daughter Jean Heath, his son Thomas Garrett, his youngest son not yet twenty, his wife Sarah, and his brother John. Witnesses, Peter Hoppah, Hopewell Hull, and Cornelius Lake.

7. DANIEL LAKE (Daniel, John, John). He was born July 23, 1730, and died August 28, 1810. He married, May 14, 1755, Nealtye or Nelly Voorhies, who was born April 28, 1734, and died in 1797. Daniel Lake lived on the homestead in Gravesend in the old stone house, of which no one knows the year of erection, but which stood till about the year 1800. According to tradition, he about this time built the house still standing. He was one of the executors of his father's will in 1778, and was one of the executors of the will of his brother John of Freehold, N. J.

Children:

ii. ELIZABETH, b. June 18, 1758; m. Hendrick Johnson.

iv. NEALTYE, b. Nov. 6, 1763; d. Feb. 13, 1824.
v. MARIA, b. April 17, 1766; m., May 19, 1783, Richard Stillwell.
vi. EVAH, b. Feb. 25, 1769; m. Abraham Barre.
vii. LEAH, b. Sept. 21, 1772; m. Jaques Stillwell.

8. JOHN LAKE (Daniel, John, John). The date of his birth has not been found, but was probably not far from 1730. Daniel Lake, his father, in his will speaks of his son John, deceased, and of his grandson Guybert. He lived in Freehold, Monmouth County, New Jersey, but the date of his settlement there is not known. The will of John Lake of Freehold is dated May 24, 1760, and was proved May 30, 1760. He directs that all movables be sold at public sale, except movables of his first wife's, and further directs that movables of his second wife shall not be sold. His wife's name is given as Elsia. He speaks of his children Elizabeth, Rachel, and Guybert. The executors are Richard Van Cleave of Freehold, his brother Daniel Lake of Gravesend, and his brother-in-law Garret Longstreet of Squan.

John Lake and Elsey Johnson, both of Monmouth, had marriage license dated April 5, 1759. Probably his first wife was a Longstreet, since Garret Longstreet had a license to marry Catharine Lawrence May 9, 1761. December 14, 1790, Guybert Lake of Hackensack, Hendrik Banta and Elizabeth, his wife, and John Smith and Rachel, his wife, “now or late” of Freehold, gave to Daniel Lake of Gravesend a release of his trusteeship under the will of John Lake. This document is preserved in the family of Wm. B. Lake of Gravesend.

Children:

i. GUYSBERT; lived in Hackensack, N. J.
The Home of Calvin W. Lake 10
Sydenham, Ontario, Canada
ii. Elizabeth, m., Aug. 2, 1769, Hendrick Banta. She is mentioned in her grandfather Daniel Lake's will, and had a daughter, who married in Dec., 1808.

iii. Rachel, m. John Smith of Freehold.

9. Court Lake (Daniel, Daniel, John, John). He was born October 14, 1760, and died October 22, 1846. He married, April 6, 1782, Ida Ryder, who was born October 2, 1763, and died November 25, 1826. He lived in the old stone house in Gravesend, and was a soldier in the Revolution.

Children:

iii. Court, b. March 28, 1788; d. June 4, 1874.

vi. Yonnear or Jane, b. Dec. 1, 1795; d. April 25, 1827; m. Nicholas Johnson.

viii. John, b. May 7, 1800; d. Feb. 6, 1834.

10. Jacobus Lake (Court, Daniel, Daniel, John, John). He was born May 4, 1786, and died September 9, 1865. June 2, 1814, he married Ann Ryder, who was born March 25, 1796, and died May 18, 1876. He lived on the homestead in Gravesend, and was a soldier in the War of 1812.

Children:

i. Ida, b. April 27, 1815; d. Jan. 4, 1835; m., Nov. 11, 1833, Henry Van Sicklen.

ii. John Ryder, b. April 18, 1818; d. May 3, 1890.

11. JACOBUS LAKE (Jacobus, Daniel, John, John 1). He was born April 13, 1824, and died February 10, 1902. November 22, 1849, he married Sarah Bertram Lewis who was born January 13, 1827, and died November 15, 1906. He was a farmer, and lived on the homestead in Gravesend. He was for many years town clerk, and was noted for his remarkable memory and for his knowledge of the early history of the town.

Children:

1. JACOBUS, b. May 28, 1851; d. Nov. 28, 1852.
2. WILLIAM BERTRAM, b. Nov. 24, 1852.
4. FANNIE LEWIS, b. Nov. 24, 1855.

12. WILLIAM BERTRAM LAKE (Jacobus, Jacobus, Daniel, Daniel, John, John 1). He was born November 24, 1852, and married, November 12, 1879, Phebe Maria, daughter of Andrew J. and Sarah Elizabeth (Du Bois) Cropsey, who was born October 15, 1857. Mrs. Lake is of Huguenot ancestry, and both the Du Bois and Cropsey families are old New Utrecht residents. Mr. Lake lives in a handsome home within a stone's throw of the old homestead at Gravesend, at the corner of Lake Place and Gravesend Beach Road. He may be regarded as in a sense the head of the Lake family, being descended from the eldest son, and living at the old home. The old stone house, built probably by the son of the settler, was torn down in 1800, and the present old homestead built. This is a fine specimen of the Long Island farmhouse of its period, a relic too few of which remain.

Mr. Lake, following in the footsteps of his ancestors, began life as a farmer; but about twenty years ago he became a general contractor, in which business he has prospered.

For twenty-seven years he has been Secretary of the Sunday School of the Gravesend Dutch Reformed Church, and has not missed a session in all that time. Through his efforts the old Gravesend Cemetery was preserved and restored. It is the last resting place of the dead of Gravesend for the past two hundred and more years. Mr. Lake is President of the Cemetery Association, having been chosen first during the administration of Mayor Seth Low.

Mr. Lake is a Trustee of the St. Nicholas Society; Vice-President of the Kings County Historical Society; a past president of the State Volunteer Firemen's Association; and was several times president of the Coney Island Mardi Gras, of which he was one of the originators. He is also a member of many other social and fraternal organizations. He takes a great deal of interest in historical and genealogical matters; and in general is active in all that makes for the good of the community.

Children:

ii. Elizabeth Hamilton, b. March 11, 1883; m., June 12, 1907, George R. Stillwell, who was born May 19, 1880.

iii. Sarah Bertram, b. Sept. 3, 1884; m., Nov. 24, 1908, Lester Robe Van Sicklen.

vi. Agnes Livingston, b. March 16, 1898.

13. John Ryder Lake (William Bertram, Jacobus, Jacobus, Court, Daniel, Daniel, John, John). He was born April 18, 1886, and August 16, 1909, married Florence C. Guden, who was born August 16, 1889.

Children:

ii. William Frederick, b. March 6, 1914.

Note: There was also a Daniel Lake of Kingwood, Hunterdon County, N. J., who probably belonged to this branch of the family. His will is dated September 25, 1775, and was proved November 8, 1775. He mentions his sons William—eldest, Abram, John, Thomas, and Timothy. He mentions a granddaughter Mary, a child of his son William, and grandchildren Abner, Mary, Stephen, and Ann Runyon. The executors named are the son William and John Taylor.
THE STATEN ISLAND FAMILY

2. Daniel Lake (John\(^1\)). His name appears on the Gravesend assessment roll in 1683. July 12, 1694, he bought land in Gravesend of his brother John. In 1689 he was appointed Lieutenant for Gravesend. About 1695 he removed to Staten Island, where, December 21, 1696, he conveyed meadow land in Gravesend to Reinier Van Sicklen. In 1683 he married Alice or Abigail Stillwell, daughter of Nicholas the first, who was born in 1645. Her first husband, whom she married October 26, 1665, was Samuel, son of the Rev. Obadiah Holmes; her second husband was William Osborn, whom she married in 1680. She had six children by her first husband. Probably Alice Stillwell was the second wife of Daniel Lake, for there are indications that he had at least two children too old to be born later than 1683, who are not mentioned in the Stillwell book.

Children (probably by a first wife):

3. i. Daniel,\(^2\)

   (By Alice Stillwell, according to the Stillwell book):

   ii. John. (See Loyalist Lake Family of Canada.)

4. iii. Abraham.

5. iv. Elizabeth.

6. v. Thomas.

3. Daniel Lake (Daniel,\(^2\) John\(^1\)). In Vol. XI, p. 54, of New York Wills, we find an abstract of the will of Daniel Lake, gentleman of Staten Island, dated August 2, 1727, and proved October 9, 1727. He mentions his wife Sarah, his sons Daniel, Joseph, and William, his daughter Alice, and his grandson Daniel Stillwell. The executors are the wife, William Hillyer, Richard Stillwell, and Matthew Reeve. John Polyon in his will dated October 8, 1722, mentions his son Daniel Lake, who was one of the executors. Probably Daniel Lake's wife was Alice Polyon. Though no son Daniel is mentioned in the Stillwell book, yet we think this man must be a son of Daniel,\(^2\) because no grandchild of his could have grandchildren so early as 1727.
GENEALOGY OF THE LAKE FAMILY

Children:

8. i. DANIEL.
   ii. JOSEPH.

9. iii. WILLIAM.
   iv. ALICE, m. (?) Richard Stillwell, and had a son Daniel.

4. ABRAHAM LAKE (Daniel,² John¹). He married Alice or Alice ————.

   Children:
   10. i. JOSEPH, bp. April 20, 1708.
       ii. MARGARET, bp. July 25, 1710.
   11. iii. ABRAHAM, bp. April 19, 1715.

5. ELIZABETH LAKE (Daniel,² John¹). She married, first, Nathaniel, son of Nathaniel and Ann (Stillwell) Brittain, who was born in 1663, and died in 1732. She married, second, Abraham Brower, by whom she had no children.

   Child:
   12. i. NATHANIEL.

6. THOMAS LAKE (Daniel,² John¹). He married Jannetie, daughter of Garret Stryker and Wyntje Cornelise Boomgard, who was baptised December 26, 1679. He appears as a witness in Staten Island August 6, 1725.

   Children:
   i. THOMAS, bp. Oct. 19, 1718.
   13. ii. SARAH.
   14. iii. ELCE.
   15. iv. DANIEL.

7. ANN LAKE (Daniel,² John¹). She married Thomas, son of Nicholas² Stillwell, who was born May 16, 1688, and died in 1753. She was his second wife.

   Child:
   i. ELIZABETH.

8. DANIEL LAKE (Daniel,³ Daniel,² John¹). We find in Vol. X, p. 29, of New York Wills, an abstract of the will of Daniel Lake of Staten Island. The will is dated December 1, 1780, and was proved January 23, 1781. He mentions his wife Margareta, his daughter Alleday, his son William, and speaks of his father-in-law, Harmanis Garretson. He makes his brother, William Lake, executor.

Children:
  i. Alleday.
  ii. William.

9. William Lake (Daniel, Daniel,2 John 1). We find in Vol. XII, p. 50, of New York Wills, an abstract of the will of William Lake of New York City, dated February 26, 1783, and proved May 17, 1783. He gives his wife Elizabeth £200 in lieu of dower; mentions his children Elizabeth, David, and John; and makes his brothers Daniel and Joseph of Staten Island executors. Peter Poillon of Staten Island, October 3, 1780, speaks of William Lake as his brother-in-law.

It is quite possible that this William, instead of being a son, was a grandson of Daniel, a son of his son William; for, September 21, 1758, letters of administration on the estate of William Lake of Richmond County were granted to his wife Sarah.

Children:
  i. Elizabeth.
  ii. David.
  iii. John.

10. Joseph Lake (Abraham, Daniel, John 1). He was baptised April 20, 1708. He married Aeltie Burbank.

Children:
  16. i. Abraham, bp. March 26, 1731.
      ii. Maria, bp. May 11, 1735.
      iii. Sarah, m., in 1760, Obadiah Wilkins.
  17. iv. Daniel.
      v. Aeltie, m., in 1753, Charles Sickles.

11. Abraham Lake (Abraham, Daniel, John 1). He was baptised April 19, 1715. The name of his wife has not been found.

Children:
  i. Sarah, m., June 14, 1773, Nicholas Snyder.
12. NATHANIEL BRITTAIN (Elizabeth (Lake) Brittain, Daniel, John 1). He married Esther Belleville.
Children:
   i. ELIZABETH or SARAH, according to the record of her baptism, April 9, 1732. She married, in 1759, Henry Lane.

13. SARAH LAKE (Thomas, Daniel, John 1). She married John Michaux by license dated July 27, 1757.
Children:
   ii. JOHN, b. March 15, 1768.

14. ELCE or ALICE LAKE (Thomas, Daniel, John 1). She married Jacob Larzelere.
Children:
   i. DANIEL, b. June 16, 1757.
   ii. NICHOLAS, b. March 13, 1759.
   iii. RICHARD, b. June 10, 1771; bp. Oct. 27, 1771.
   iv. WILLIAM.
   v. BENJAMIN.

15. DANIEL LAKE (Thomas, Daniel, John 1). He married Sarah Connors.
Children:
   19. i. PATIENCE.
   20. ii. REBECCA.
   21. iii. DANIEL.
   22. iv. JOSEPH.
   23. v. WILLIAM.

16. ABRAHAM LAKE (Joseph, Abraham, Daniel, John 1). He was baptised March 26, 1731. He married, according to Stillwell, Aeltie Burbank in 1761.
Children:
   24. i. CORNELIUS.
   ii. ALIDA, m., Oct. 6, 1798, Daniel Mesereau, who was born Aug. 27, 1771, and died July 16, 1855. They had Aletta, m. Daniel Kingsland, and William L. and Margaret, who died in childhood.

Children:
   i. Loran; perhaps it was she who, Jan. 1, 1804, m. John Stevens.
   ii. Daniel.
   iii. Ann.

Children:
   i. Margaret, m. James Guyon.*
   ii. William, m. Elizabeth Poillon.†

19. Patience Lake (Daniel, Thomas, Daniel, John). She married, in 1764, Lawrence Rolph. According to the records of St. Andrews Church, Richmond, S. I., he was born April 10, 1742, and she January 22, 1742. They were both baptised August 18, 1765.

Children:
   i. William Roberson, b. Feb. 12, 1765.
   ii. Eleanor, m., Jan. 20, 1799, James Cubberly, and had William.

20. Rebecca Lake (Daniel, Thomas, Daniel, John). She married at Morristown, N. J., April 6, 1766, Peter Mesereau. He was born in 1734, and died June 16, 1803. His will is dated May 6, 1800, and was proved July 25, 1803. He speaks of his wife, but not by name, and mentions the following children: Elizabeth, Rebecca, Catharine, Ann, Sarah, Daniel, and William.

Children:
   i. Elizabeth.
   ii. Rebecca.
   iii. Catharine.

* Since Margaret Lake and James Guyon's marriage license is dated May 7, 1782, this is probably another Margaret Lake.
† Since William Lake took out a licence to marry Elizabeth Poilon June 21, 1775, this is probably an earlier William.

vii. WILLIAM.

21. DANIEL LAKE (Daniel, 15 Thomas, 6 Daniel, 2 John 1). Stillwell gives him a son Daniel, born May 12, 1797, who had issue: Eliza, Cornelius, and Helen.

22. JOSEPH LAKE (Daniel, 15 Thomas, 6 Daniel, 2 John 1). He was born July 8, 1753, and married, in 1782, Catharine Corsen, who was born June 2, 1755. They both died within an hour of one another, March 14, 1813.

Children:
   i. PATIENCE, b. May 30, 1790.
   ii. SARAH.
   iii. CATHARINE.
   iv. ELIZA.

23. WILLIAM LAKE (Daniel, 15 Thomas, 6 Daniel, 2 John 1). He married, in 1769, Mary Tyson, eldest daughter of Mary and Barent Tyson. William Lake was the executor of the will of Mary Tyson, which was proved January 22, 1781.

Children:
   i. WILLIAM, b. Nov. 16, 1769.
25. ii. BORNT, b. March 25, 1771.
   iii. JOSEPH, b. Nov. 25, 1772; m., April 11, 1842, Sarah Hicks, a widow.

24. CORNELIUS LAKE (Abraham, 16 Joseph, 10 Abraham, 4 Daniel, 2 John 1). He was born in 1770, and April 6, 1794, married Susan Androvette.

Children:
   i. CORNELIUS.
   ii. SARAH.
   iii. ELIZA.
   iv. ELLEN.
25. BORNT LAKE (William, Daniel, Thomas, Daniel, John). He was born March 25, 1771, and was killed October 25, 1815.

Children:
   i. WILLIAM.
   ii. JOSEPH.
   iii. CATHARINE.
   iv. DANIEL.
   v. MARY ANN, m. William Egbert.
   vi. JOHN. According to Clute's Staten Island, he was living as late as 1876 at Graniteville.

Note: The foregoing outline of the Staten Island Lake family is derived chiefly from "Notes on the Descendants of Nicholas Stillwell," etc., by William H. Stillwell, New York, 1883. The data there found has been supplemented from other sources, chiefly "Staten Island Church Records," published by the New York Genealogical and Biographical Society, 1909; Clute's "History of Staten Island," and the "New York Wills" in the collections of the New York Historical Society.

Some further data for later generations may be found in the "Staten Island Church Records," and a few names and dates of Lakes who have not been placed may also be found in Clute's "History of Staten Island."
THE UNITED EMPIRE LOYALIST LAKE FAMILY OF CANADA

1. This family is a branch of the Staten Island family, and, according to data furnished by Mr. John N. Lake, of Toronto, is descended from Daniel Lake (John 1) through his son John. This John would seem to have been the eldest son of Daniel and Alee (Stillwell) Lake,* and Mr. Lake says owned the homestead. John Lake, showing the quality of loyalty to the crown so characteristic of the early English Lakes, adhered to the side of the Mother Country in the Revolution, and entered the British army. His property was confiscated, and after the war, with many other loyalists, he went to Canada and settled near Bath, in the Township of Ernestown. He was born, probably, sometime between 1725 and 1730; his wife was Margaret Snider; both died at a great age at the home of their son John.

Children:

2. i. John.
   ii. James, b. 1760, d. 1839; m. Margaret, b. 1756, d. 1833. Buried in the old cemetery at Ernestown, Ont.
   iii. A daughter who married Colonel James Parrott of her father's regiment. Colonel Parrott also settled in Canada.

2. John Lake (John 1). According to Mr. John N. Lake's data, he was born about 1760, and died about 1835. He was twice married, his first wife being a Van Voorhees, and his second a Mrs. Doran. All his children were by the first wife. John Lake was a class leader in the Methodist Church. He was also a local preacher, and gave much of his time, without remuneration, to the work of the church. Mr. John N. Lake says that his

*Editors' Note: It would seem impossible that the founder of the Canadian branch of the family could have been a son of Daniel and Alee (Stillwell) Lake. Probably he was a son of William Lake (Daniel, Daniel, John 1). John, son of Daniel, must have been born soon after 1683. He may, of course, have been a son of John (Daniel, John 1). Further light is much to be desired. grandmother at the time of a great revival, when all her children had professed conversion, prayed that if any of her children were to "backslide," she might die first. Arising from her knees, she soon fell ill, and died in a short time. Most of the children soon lost their love for the church, and were not reclaimed for years.

Children:

3.
   i.  Benjamin.
   ii.  Nicholas.
   iii.  John.

4.
   iv.  James, b. March 5, 1793.
   v.  William.
   vi.  Catharine, m. Calvin Perry.
   vii.  Ailse, m. Jacob Comber.
   viii.  Annie, m. Col. Clark.
   ix.  Margaret, m. William Potter.

3.  Benjamin Lake (John, John). He was born about 1780. He lived in the Township of Portland, County Frontenac, Ontario. He married a Miss Lake, probably a first cousin. He was a farmer and a Methodist.

Children:

5.
   i.  William.
   ii.  John.
   iii.  Ira.
   iv.  Dennis. He was an able business man, and became wealthy.

4.  James Lake (John, John). He was born March 5, 1793, and died October 18, 1867. About 1813 he married Mary Storms. In 1821 he married Margaret, daughter of John Bell of Ernestown. The Bells were Loyalists, but did not go to Canada until about 1819. He was a Methodist, and a contracting builder in Ernestown, County Lennox, Ontario.

Children (by first wife):

   i.  Henry.
   ii.  Charity.
   iii.  Sabra.

(By second wife):

6.
   iv.  Samuel Bell, b. 1822.
   v.  William, b. 1823; d. 1839.
vi. James, b. 1825; m. Amy Gordanier in 1846; d. 1901.

vii. Silas Fields, b. 1828; m. Mary Ann Moss in 1849. Still living (1915) in Toronto. He is a Methodist.

5. William Lake (Benjamin, John, John). He was born in 1806, and died in the fall of the year 1885. He married a Miss Stafford, and lived in Portland Township, County Frontenac, Ontario.

Children:

8. i. John Harvey.
   ii. Ira, m. Hester Shibley. They had a son who was a journalist in Providence, R. I.
   iii. William, m. Sarah Lawrence. He was a machinist, and had five children.
   iv. Charles. He was a physician, and had three sons.
   v. Dennis. He was a druggist.
   vi. Buckley, m. Louise Lake. He lived on the home- stead, and was a farmer.
   vii. Harriet, m. Albert Boyce, a druggist.

6. Samuel Bell Lake (James, John, John). He was born in 1822, in Morven, Ontario. He married Rebecca Irish in 1847, and died in 1888. He was engaged in the carriage business in Morven, and was a Methodist.

Children:

9. i. Byron Nelson.
   ii. George A.
   iii. Ada.
   iv. Tillie.
   v. Naomi.

7. The Rev. John Neilson Lake (James, John, John). He was born August 19, 1834, in the Township of Ernestown, County of Lennox and Addington, Ontario. He received his education in the elementary and high schools of his birthplace, and later studied architecture and draughting. For a time he was engaged with his two older brothers in the carriage business in Morven. In 1855 he entered the service of the Methodist Church as a Junior Preacher. For two years he served the Pictou Circuit in Prince Edward County, an appointment with twenty-two preaching stations. In spite of the wish of his people for his reappointment, he was sent to Aylmer, and the following year to the Town of Ingersoll. In June, 1859, he was ordained, and was stationed at Hullsville (now Garnet), near the City of Hamilton.

June 9, 1859, he married Emily Jane, youngest daughter of Stephen Van Rensselaer Douglas of Brantford; her mother was a daughter of the Rev. Thomas Whitehead, for fifty years a prominent minister in Canada, who was born in Dutchess County, N. Y., about 1760.

In 1862, while stationed at Markham, near Ontario, the Rev. Mr. Lake's health failed, and for several years he was part of the time engaged in business pursuits. In 1869 he was stationed at Niagara; here his eyes failed, and regretfully he retired from the active ministry.

In 1870 he entered the real estate and loan business in Toronto, in which he is still actively engaged. Mr. Lake also engaged in the building business, which he found very profitable. Many of the finest residences in the city were erected by him.

In 1882 he selected the site for the town of Saskatoon on the Saskatchewan, which owes its name to him. At the time, the site was 150 miles from the C. P. R.; but the event has proved the wisdom of the selection, for now it has five railroads, and is a large and prosperous city.

Mr. Lake has been, and is still, largely interested in many important business enterprises of his adopted city. He was President of the American Watch Case Co. for fourteen years; has been for many years closely connected with the North American Life Insurance Co.; he is President of the Melbourne Limited (a land company); and is President of the W. E. Dyer Co., Limited (a building company). Mr. Lake, although not seeking public office, has served his city as an alderman.

Mr. Lake has never faltered in his love and devotion for the Methodist Church, and the Church has delighted to honor him. He has been a delegate to every General Conference when in the country; for twenty-four years he has been Treasurer of the Union Church Relief Fund; he is a Trustee for the Bond Holders for the New Methodist Book Room in Toronto, the finest on the Continent; Chairman of the Building Committee of Victoria College; and the organizer of the “Church and Parsonage Aid Fund,” to which he has generously contributed.

For twenty years he was Treasurer of the Sherbourne Street Methodist Church, and for twelve years Organist and Superintendent of the Sunday School. In the course of forty years he has been Chairman of three building committees. He laid the cornerstone of the present edifice, and takes pride in the fact that the church is distinguished for its generous giving to the cause of missions, raising $32,000 among its 800 members, a record unequaled by any other church in Canada.

Now although he has passed his eightieth birthday, he continues his manifold activities, enjoying his comfortable home with his good wife, and expects to end his days in peace, having served his day and generation more than well.

8. JOHN HARVEY LAKE (William,5 Benjamin,4 John,2 John 1). He was born May 9, 1835, in Kingston, Ontario, and died February 15, 1908. He married Clarissa Miller, daughter of Calvin Wooster Miller, whose wife was a Lake and a sister of the wife of Benjamin Lake. He was a farmer, a Methodist, and lived in the Township of Ernestown, County Lennox, Ontario.

Children:

10. i. CALVIN W., b. May 29, 1865.
   ii. ELLA L. E., b. Feb. 2, 1867; m. G. L. Van Luven, a dentist.
   iii. W. ARTHUR, b. July 28, 1870; m. Sarah Van Alstine, and had a son who died young. He was a railroad man.
   iv. MARGARET, b. Feb. 4, 1872; m. David Balkwell, a farmer.
   v. FLORENCE, b. June 15, 1882; died at the age of twenty-three.

9. BYRON NELSON LAKE (Samuel Bell,6 James,4 John,2 John 1).

Child:

11. i. WALTER B.

10. CALVIN W. LAKE (J. Harvey,8 William,5 Benjamin,3 John,2 John 1). He was born May 29, 1866, at Kingston, County
Frontenac, Ontario. Mr. Lake inherited the homestead of three generations, and until a few years ago operated the farm very successfully. He then sold the farm, and took up his residence in Sydenham, Province of Ontario, where he is leading a retired life. Mr. Lake has never married. He has shown much interest in the genealogy, and to him and his great-uncle is due the credit for the representation of the Canadian branch of the family in this book.

11. Walter B. Lake (Byron Nelson,° Samuel Bell,° James,' John,² John¹). He married E. Blanche Royer. He is a dentist at 2235 N. Broad St., Philadelphia.

Children:

i. Walter Royer.

ii. Roy Milton.

LAKE IMMIGRANTS TO AMERICA

Besides John Lake of Gravesend, with whose descendants this work is concerned, there were other persons of the Lake name who early settled in the United States. So far as known to the writer, all were of English origin, and some may have been—probably were—related to our John Lake. A few of the more prominent of these early Lakes are here mentioned:

David, of Portsmouth and Tiverton, Rhode Island, as early as 1667.

Henry, of Portsmouth, Rhode Island, as early as 1652.

Henry, of Salem, Mass., in 1649, later of Dorchester. His descendants are numerous in Massachusetts.

James, in Massachusetts, in 1647.

John, of Boston, in 1643, a tailor. He married Mary Coy. Had no surviving issue.

John, of Boston, perhaps a nephew of the preceding. He died in 1691, unmarried.

John, of Boston, a brother of Captain Thomas Lake.

Lancelot, of Boston, in 1695, a physician. He died September 17, 1715, probably leaving no children.

Mistress Margaret Lake came in 1635, with her sister Elizabeth (Read) Winthrop, wife of Governor John Winthrop, Jr., and her two daughters. She was the daughter of Edmund Read, of Wickford, Essex, England, and widow of John Lake. John Lake claimed descent from the same family to which Sir Edward Lake and Captain Thomas Lake of Boston belonged. Mistress Margaret Lake brought with her two daughters, one of whom named Hannah married John Gallup; the other named Martha married Thomas Harris of Ipswich, Mass. She also had a son John, who is said not to have come to this country. Her will is dated August 30, 1672, and was proved September 24, 1672. She mentions only her two daughters and their children.

Robert, of Dorchester County, Maryland, as early as 1639.

Thomas, of Dorchester, Mass., brother of Henry, as early as 1641. He left no issue.

Captain Thomas, of Boston, first of New Haven, where he married Mary, daughter of Deputy Governor Stephen Goodyear. He was killed by the Indians in Maine in August, 1676. He was a brother of Sir Edward Lake, and his son Thomas was Sir Edward's heir. Thomas was the only son to leave issue, but a daughter Ann married, first, the Rev. John Cotton; second, the Rev. Increase Mather, and has left numerous descendants.

William, of Salem, Mass., in 1665. He was a cooper by trade, and perhaps a son of Henry of Dorchester.
2. William Lake, the ancestor of the South Jersey Lake family, was a son of John and Anne (Spicer) Lake of Gravesend, Long Island. Just when he was born we are unable to determine, but probably he was a young man when his name first appears in the Gravesend records. It is likely that he removed to Cape May County, N. J., soon after entering man’s estate, probably not marrying before leaving Gravesend. It does not appear from Gravesend records that he owned land there, or that his children were born there. Since his children were not yet of age at the time of his death in 1717, it is probable that they were all born in New Jersey; indeed it is very probable that he married after settling in Cape May.

Only two references to William Lake have been found in Gravesend records. One of these is of so much interest that it will be quoted in full. The other is merely a reference to the impounding of a horse owned by William Lake under date of December 12, 1694, at which time he was already a resident of Cape May County. The document here quoted is a court record of a suit against William Lake in regard to the payment of an obligation that he had assumed for William Stillwell:

1691. Att a Court held att Gravesend ye 10th date of August: A declaration of John Merry of Easthamton in an action of debt: against William Lake of Gravesend both upon Long Island: Whereas John Merry declareth that William Stillwell was in his debt fourthie pound of Whealebone ye last season att Caap May and William Lake there present ingages him self to pay this same 40 pound of bone, to take ye ingagemen from W: Stillwill, and pay ye sd 40 pound bone to ye sd J : marrye, ye which he refuses now to pay him, Wherefore ye said John merry was forced to bringe his sute before Capt. Nicles Stillwill & ye rest of our Tounes men: or ye Justices assistance:

Jerimiha Stillwill testifies upon his oath that afterwards when William Stillwill was gone Left his Concerns with William lake & asked him ye sd will Lake whether hee would pay this same 40 pound of bone & w: Lake answered he did nott care if he did.

Jacob Spicer testifies upon his oath thatt when William Stillwill went away spoke to William Lake, William Lake you will pay this same 40 pound of bone to John merry of schinking ye Indian & he answered yes or to thatt Effect:

After debating of ye matter in difference between John merrie & william Lake, it was ordered by ye Justice & ye rest of his assistance thatt william Lake is ordered to pay to John merry ye sd fourthie pound of whealebone or ye value of itt & Cost of sute. And further ye sd william Lake is impowred by ye above-said power that he hath power to demand sue or receive all such debts dues owing unto William Stillwill to ye value of ye above-said summ within this County provided thatt he be accountable to William Stillwill & ye Charges alloweth to him again, ye said William Lake Gravesend Town Records, Book 4, Court Minutes (p. 40 of copy, 36 of original).

This document shows that our William Lake had come to Cape May on a whaling voyage as early as 1690; that he in 1691 resided still in Gravesend; and that he was engaged in the whale fishery with his kinsfolk, the Stillwells and Spicers. It establishes beyond question the Gravesend origin of our Lake family, and throws an interesting sidelight on the character and activity of the early settlers of South Jersey.

The earliest trace, aside from the Gravesend record just quoted, of William Lake's presence in Great Egg Harbor is a deed recorded at Cape May Court House (Liber B, folio 11). By this deed, under date of March 25, 1694, William Golden, the father of the brother-in-law of William Lake, of Great Egg Harbor in the County of Cape May, sold 200 acres of land to William Lake of the same place, whaler. On the 19th of June of the same year, William Lake served on the trial jury at a Court held for Cape May County at "Fallmouth." There is also at the Court House a memorandum on record (Liber B of deeds, folio 32), in which William Lake releases his interest in certain property not described to one Thomas Stanford; this may refer to the 200 acres purchased from Golden. John Somers was one of the Justices before whom this document was signed. There are on record other conveyances to William Lake, and in his will he disposes of a considerable estate.

Many of the early settlers of South Jersey were members of the Society of Friends, but we find no mention of our William Lake in Friends' records. The most important religious denomination in Cape May County was the Baptist, the church organized at Cape May Court House being one of the three or four earliest in the country. It was not formally organized until about 1712, but there were Baptists in the county from the beginning. No mention of William Lake or his family has been found in Cape May Baptist annals, but the baptism of his wife Sarah, who is called of Egg Harbor, is found in the records of the Pennypack Baptist Church of Philadelphia under date of 7 mo. 25 day, 1710. It has been suggested that she was a daughter of the Rev. Nathaniel Jenkins of the Pennypack Church, who was also the first Pastor of the Court House Church.

At a meeting of the Court of Gloucester County held June 16, 1713, William Lake was appointed Overseer of the Poor for Great Egg Harbor in place of Jonathan Adams; and March 19, 1716, William Lake and John Adams were appointed overseers of the poor.

William Lake's will is dated March 22, 1716/17, and was proved June 11, 1717. He mentions his wife Sarah, his sons Nathan and Daniel, and three daughters, whose names are not given. Nathan receives 450 acres on the Great Egg Harbor River; Daniel receives the homestead of 250 acres—to be his at the age of twenty, subject to the tenancy of his mother during her widowhood. Each of the daughters is to have a heifer four years after the date of the will. The executors named are the wife and the testator's friend, John Scull; the witnesses are Peter Cainover (Conover), Mary W. Gorman, and Peter White. Probably the homestead was the land bought in 1703, next to Peter Scull's. The deed was recorded at Woodbury in 1834. The property was sold to Daniel Lake Collins by Daniel Lake, the great-grandson, and much of it is still owned by the Collins family.
Children:

3. i. NATHAN.

4. ii. DANIEL.
   iii.-v. Three daughters not named.

A Sarah Lake, probably one of these daughters, married Elias Steelman, presumably a son of James Steelman the first, by Governor's license of August 10, 1730. Probably Sarah died young, since Elias Steelman on December 16, 1732, married Comfort Creesey.

THIRD GENERATION

3. NATHAN LAKE (William,² John¹). We know but little of Nathan, eldest son of William and Sarah Lake. He married Mary, daughter of Peter Scull, as appears from Peter Scull's will. She died intestate in 1761, and letters of administration were granted on her estate to Abel Lee February 2, 1761. By the terms of his father's will, he received 450 acres on the Great Egg Harbor River. According to a deed recorded at Trenton (Liber AX, folio 89), on March 22, 1749-50, he sold 200 acres on Great Egg Harbor River and Lake's Creek to Return Badcock. Though later deeds refer to the will of Nathan Lake, no such document can be found of record. Nathan Lake was appointed a Freeholder for Egg Harbor by the Gloucester County Court at the March term in 1729; and in 1733 he was appointed a Constable. He was appointed an "Overseer" by the will of James Steelman the first, who died in 1734, and certain documents relating to his duties in that capacity and bearing his signature are in possession of the compiler.

In deeds there are references to a son named Amariah. A Nathan Lake, probably a son, was a witness of the will of Daniel Lake ⁴ in 1772. Since Nathan's son Amariah made a deed in 1759, conveying land that came to him from his father, it would seem that Nathan died sometime between 1750 and 1759, but nothing more definite is known.

Children:

5. i. AMARIAH.
   ii. NATHAN (?), witnessed the will of Daniel Lake ⁴ in 1772.
The Hon. Simon Lake 64
4. Daniel Lake (William, John). He was born not earlier than 1697, since he was not yet twenty when his father made his will in 1717, and probably he was not born till considerably later. His wife was Gartara Steelman, whom he married by Governor's license of September 14, 1730. She is said to have been, by what authority we know not, a daughter of Hance, son of James Steelman the first; but she may have been a daughter of Peter Steelman, probably a brother of James the first, and his wife Gertrude. Peter and James Steelman are both mentioned in the records of Old Swedes' Church (Gloria Dei), Philadelphia.

September 20, 1737, Daniel Lake was appointed by the Gloucester County Court a constable to attend the Grand Jury.

The will of Daniel Lake is dated October 30, 1772, and was proved April 13, 1774. The witnesses are Alexander Fish, Martha Greaves, Nathan Lake, and Gideon Scull, and the executors are the son Daniel and his wife "Gorteriff."

Children:

i. William. According to Daniel's will, this son was to have forty acres of land, which after his (William's) death was to descend to his son William. In Liber AG of Trenton deeds, folio 530, there is record under date of May 20, 1760, of a transfer of fifty acres of unappropriated land between William Lake and George May of Great Egg Harbor. August 20, 1760, Richard Somers sold William Lake land (Liber Q, folio 418). A William Lake is mentioned in an old account book kept by Frederick Steelman and his family; the first entry is dated in 1772, the last in 1774. William Lake served as private in the Gloucester Co. Militia during the Revolutionary War.

6. ii. Abraham.

7. iii. Daniel.

8. iv. Andrew.

v. Sarah, m. in Ireland. She was given £5 by her father's will.

9. vi. Jemima.
FOURTH GENERATION

5. AMARIAH LAKE (Nathan,3 William,2 John1). It was doubtless this Amariah who married "Nemoiah" Townsend by Governor's license of June 4, 1760. August 30, 1759, Amariah Lake sold to Joseph Scull land which his father, Nathan Lake, had given him. Nathan had it from his father William (Trenton deeds, Liber AG, folio 405). Nothing further is known.

6. ABRAHAM LAKE (Daniel,4 William,2 John1). By the will of his father Daniel, he received forty acres of land. Abraham Lake moved to Cumberland County, and we find an Abraham Lake in Cumberland County as early as 1781. Mr. Lucas Lake told the Rev. Dr. James E. Lake that his father John Lake, son of Daniel the brother of Abraham, told him that when he (John) was about twenty-one years old (John was born in 1773), he went to Cumberland County to visit his Uncle Abraham, who had five or six big strapping sons.

Abraham Lake was married to an Abigail Heaton by Governor's license of March 19, 1781; but the earliest record of land in connection with him that we have been able to find is dated 1795. May 26, 1795, he bought 200 acres of land in Downs Township on the west side of the Maurice River from Samuel and Susannah Dallas; evidently this is not his first purchase, for other land of his is mentioned in this deed. Since the son Robert was born in 1777, Abigail Heaton was evidently a second wife.

October 25, 1798, Abraham Lake was appointed administrator of the estate of Samuel Lake, probably a son.

Abraham Lake died in 1802, for May 6, 1802, Eunice Lake was appointed administrator of the estate of Abraham Lake. The amount of the Inventory was $470.53, it was taken April 24, 1802, by Wm. Mason and Daniel Heaton. June 6, 1805, Eunice Souder, administrator, gave account of her administration of the estate of Abraham Lake. From these facts, it would seem that Abraham Lake married a third time and that the widow married a Souder.

According to the records of the Cumberland County Orphans' Court (Liber B, folio 135), September 21, 1805, Commissioners appointed by the Court reported a division of the lands of Abraham Lake amongst the heirs at law: Robert, Isaac, John, Andrew, and Abraham Lake, Rebecca Lawes, and "Unos" Lake, five of them being minors under the age of twenty-one years. About 350 acres of land were divided, all in Downs Township.

Children:
  i. Samuel, died a young man in 1798.
  11. iii. Isaac.
  12. iv. John.
  13. v. Andrew.
  15. vii. Rebecca.

7. Daniel Lake (Daniel,⁴ William,⁴ John⁴). He was born about 1740, and was married to Sarah Lucas on October 10, 1764, by Governor's license of August 17, 1764. She was the daughter of Christopher Lucas and his wife Lydia. The will of Christopher Lucas is dated in 1773. Sarah Lucas had two brothers, John and Simon, who served in the Revolution, John as a Lieutenant and Simon as a Captain. After the War, Simon became a Methodist Minister. He died about 1838, aged about 83, and is buried in the Methodist yard at Pleasant Mills in Burlington County. The Lucas family seems to have originated in Burlington County. It is interesting to note that the names Christopher, Simon, Lucas, and Lydia, which have occurred frequently among the descendants of Daniel Lake, were brought into the family through the Lucas connection. Daniel Lake's second wife was Susannah Ingersoll, daughter of Ebenezer and granddaughter of Daniel Ingersoll, and widow of Joseph Edwards. Daniel Lake served as a private in the Revolutionary War. His will is dated March 11, 1794; a codicil is dated September 1, 1798; and the will was proved June 11, 1799. The witnesses are John Tilton, John Sprong, and Samuel Delancey; the witnesses to the codicil are John Tilton, Ebenezer Edwards, and Samuel Delancey. The executors are the wife and the son John. Children:
  17. i. Christopher, b. Oct. 1, 1765.
21. vii. LYDIA, b. March 17, 1776.
22. viii. AMARIAH, b. April 15, 1778.
23. ix. MARY, b. Sept. 5, 1780.
   xii. LOIS, b. Oct. 25, 1785.

8. ANDREW LAKE (Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was left only five pounds for schooling by his father's will, and so there are no deeds reciting a chain of title back to an earlier generation through him. Andrew Lake married Mary "Ingerson" by Governor's license of December 11, 1777. She was a daughter of Joseph Ingersoll and grand-daughter of Daniel Ingersoll, the first of the name in Atlantic County. Andrew Lake is mentioned in the account-book kept by Frederick Steelman and members of his family; the first entry being dated in 1773, the latest May 13, 1781. Andrew Lake must have died before 1805, for February 26, 1805, Andrew Homan and Mary his wife, formerly Mary Lake, together with her son Samuel, sell a tract of land to Thomas Adams. This tract of land had been left to Mary Lake by her father Joseph Ingersoll during her life and after her death to her son Samuel Lake (Woodbury Deeds, Liber 16, folio 52). Andrew Lake served as a private in the militia during the Revolutionary War.

No list of the children of Andrew Lake is known to exist; but the deed cited above proves that he had a son Samuel, and old people who knew Samuel Lake have told us that he had brothers Andrew and Nicodemus. We may therefore ascribe to Andrew and Mary (Ingersoll) Lake the following

   Children:
   26. i. SAMUEL, b. April 5, 1778.
   27. ii. NICODEMUS, b. March 28, 1782.

9. JEMIMA LAKE (Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). Before October of 1772, she had married Morris Risley, for her father Daniel speaks of his daughter Jemima Risley and leaves her £10, by his will. Morris Risley seems to have been rather a prominent man in his day. He died June 29, 1802, aged fifty-six; Jemima died September 10, 1802, aged fifty.
Sarah (Blake) Lake, Wife of Simon Lake 64
Children:

29.
   iii. Sarah, b. Sept. 12, 1779.
   iv. Peggy (Margaret), b. Aug. 12, 1785; m., Sept. 19, 1804, Jeremiah Bates, whose will is dated March 25, 1813; he mentions the following children: James, Samuel R., Gideon, Rebecca, Mary, and Hiram.

FIFTH GENERATION

10. Robert Lake (Abraham,6 Daniel,4 William,2 John1). He was born October 14, 1777, and died September 24, 1840. September 19, 1803, he married Mary Pepper, a widow with a son Reuben, born July 15, 1802, William Mason, J. P., officiating. He married, second, July 23, 1815, Mary Hall, widow of Henry Hall, David Bateman, officiating. Henry Hall was born March 14, 1783, and died December 8, 1814; he had two children William and Henry. Mary (Hall) Lake was a daughter of John and Temperance Robbins, and was born April 4, 1789. The reader is referred to the Bible records of the Lake-Robbins-Bedant family, printed in Appendix II, for further data relating to the connections of Mary (Hall) Lake.

There are on record a number of conveyances made to and made by Robert Lake. February 5, 1811, Daniel Heaton and Ann, his wife, sell to Robert and Andrew Lake 170 acres of land in Downs Township for $1200. September 16, 1814, Robert and Mary Lake sell Andrew Lake a part of the land Robert had inherited from his father. January 1, 1814, Robert Lake and Mary, his wife, sell to Uriah Stiles 22½ acres of land in Downs Township for $235, which land had come to Robert Lake from his father Abraham Lake. August 15, 1814, John Lake and Sarah, his wife, sell 14 acres of land in Downs Township to Robert Lake for $140, the land being a part of the land that came to John from his father Abraham Lake.

Robert Lake died in 1840; the inventory of his estate is dated October 19, 1840, and October 22, 1840, Joseph Butcher was appointed Administrator. June 3, 1843, the Commissioners appointed by the Orphans' Court made a report dividing Robert's Land (Liber D, folio 634). This report was not accepted by the Court, and a new Commission was appointed.

The heirs at Law were: the Widow Mary, Beaston, the heirs of Rebecca Robbins, Caroline Lake, Samuel and John Lake, Elizabeth Trout, Mary Hand, Robert and Charles Lake, of whom Charles, Caroline, Samuel, and John were under twenty-one. The land is described as being on the road from Port Norris to Dividing Creek; and Dividing Creek, Hansa Creek, and Eli Tul­lis's land are mentioned as boundaries.

Mary Lake, the widow, was appointed guardian of the minor children. Her will is dated October 18, 1862, and was proved December 16, 1875. She mentions her sons, John R., Charles D., and Samuel, and her daughter Caroline, wife of Lummis Garri­son. She mentions a grand-daughter Martha A. Lake, daughter of Robert Lake, deceased. Lydia Robbins was a witness; and the sons are executors.

Children (by first wife):

30. i. ELIZABETH, b. Feb. 15, 1805.
31. ii. REBECCA, b. May 14, 1808.
32. iii. BEASTON, b. Sept. 9, 1810.

(By second wife):

33. iv. ROBERT, b. Aug. 13, 1817.
34. vi. CHARLES [D.], b. March 4, 1821.
35. vii. JOHN [R.], b. May 26, 1823.
36. viii. CAROLINE, b. Feb. 27, 1825.
37. ix. SAMUEL, b. Sept. 29, 1827.
   x. MARY, m. Elias Hand.

11. ISAAC LAKE (Abraham, Daniel, William, John). The only item relating to this son of Abraham Lake that has come to notice, is his sale of land, inherited from his father, to John Tul­lis. The deed is dated December 19, 1820; the consideration, $10; the land conveyed was ten acres of marsh on Goose Island.

12. JOHN LAKE (Abraham, Daniel, William, John). December 28, 1813, John Lake and Sarah Cobb, both of Downs Township, were married by Amos Wescott, J. P. August 15, 1814, John Lake and Sarah, his wife, sell to Robert Lake for $140 fourteen acres of land in Downs Township, a part of what he had inherited from his father.

He died before September 3, 1817; for on that date William Davis, administrator of the estate of John Lake, deceased, conveyed to Justa Dragstrem for $36.75 a piece of land in Downs Township that had been set off to John Lake, deceased, as a part of his father's estate. Nothing further has come to light.

13. ANDREW LAKE (Abraham,6 Daniel,4 William,2 John¹).

August 8, 1811, Andrew Lake and Rachel Garrison were married by John McTosh. February 5, 1811, Daniel Heaton and Ann, his wife, sell to Robert and Andrew Lake 170 acres of land in Downs Township for $1200. September 16, 1811, Robert Lake and Mary, his wife, sell to Andrew Lake 20 acres of land in Downs Township for $400, a part of the land inherited by Robert Lake from his father, Abraham Lake. December 6, 1811, Abraham Lake and Sophia, his wife, and Andrew Lake and Rachel, his wife, all of Downs Township, sell to Justa Dragstrem for $150 one-twentieth of the marsh in Basse's Survey in Downs Township on the west side of the Maurice River. The land was purchased of Samuel Dallas by Abraham Lake in 1795, and came to the grantors as part of their share of their father's estate.

The inventory of the estate of Andrew Lake is dated February 7, 1844.

Family tradition says that the widow married Asa Smith. From the same source, we learn of the following children.

Children:

i. JOHN, nicknamed Knotty.
ii. LUCY ANN, m. a hostler named Loper of Dividing Creek.
iii. NELLIE, m. a man from Bridgeton.
iv. RHODA.

14. ABRAHAM LAKE (Abraham,6 Daniel,4 William,2 John¹).

He was born January 5, 1787, and died April 8, 1879. January 5, 1808, Abraham Lake and Saviah Green were married by John McTosh. February 26, 1813, Abraham Lake and Sophia, his wife, sold Robert Lake 22½ acres in Downs Township, which he had received from the estate of his father, Abraham Lake.
It appears that Abraham Lake bought land in Dennis Township, Cape May County, as early as 1818, and that he removed thither. Several conveyances to which he was a party are of record at Cape May Court House.

September 17, 1834, Abraham Lake and Sophia, his wife, convey land to Sophia Lake. April 8, 1836, Abraham Lake conveys land to Robert Lake. August 27, 1837, in Cumberland County, were married Abraham Lake and Hannah Stiddam, both of Cape May County. Members of the family say that there was by this second marriage one daughter, named Emma or Emeline, but nothing further is known of her. April 4, 1850, Abraham Lake and Hannah, his wife, of Dennis Township, sold land in West Creek to Joseph Camp. April 22, 1853, Abraham Lake of Dennis Township sold land, bought in 1832 from Garret Wilbert, to Joseph Powell. January 22, 1866, Abraham Lake of Dennis Township sold to Abraham Lake, Jr., of Philadelphia, land in Dennis Township near to Gandy's Mill, one lot of which was bought of Samuel Bishop in 1818.

His third wife, to whom he was married July 18, 1855, was Martha Ann Coleman. So far as we know there were no children of this marriage.

His descendants tell us that Abraham Lake was a man of medium height. He lived at West Creek in Cape May County, was a soldier in the War of 1812, and at the time of his death had 69 grandchildren, 195 great-grandchildren, and two great-great-grandchildren. He is buried at West Creek Baptist Cemetery.

Children:

i. MARIA, m., Oct. 5, 1824, Benjamin Albertson, and had one son, Lake Albertson, who married Margaret Bryant; see page 124.

38. ii. SYLVIA.
39. iii. ROBERT, b. March 3, 1812.
40. iv. SOPHIA, b. 1814.
41. v. JOHN, b. March 5, 1816.
42. vi. REBECCA.
43. vii. ELIZABETH.
44. viii. MARY JANE.
45. ix. HANNAH.
46. x. ABRAHAM, b. April 6, 1831.
47. xi. MARIA H.
15. Rebecca Lake (Abraham, Daniel, William, John). She married Jacob Lawes. They lived at Dragston, as do the children.

Children:

i. Lake, m. and had George, Rachel, Lake, and Rebecca.

ii. Jacob.

iii. William, m. and had Hannah, Elizabeth, Jane, and Charles.

iv. Rebecca, m. a Bland.

16. Eunice Lake (Abraham, Daniel, William, John). Eunice Lake was born March 24, 1800, and married Eli Tullis, who was born in 1792. Eli Tullis's mother was Rachel Glasby of the upper part of Cumberland Co.

Children:

i. Eliza, m. Ricksom Robbins as his second wife, and had: Rebecca, m. Thomas Platt, and is still living in Bridgeton; Rosanna, Stacy, Frank, Eli, Eliza, Eva, and May.

ii. Rachel, m. Wesley Bowker, a farmer, who lived near Haleyville, and had Eliza, Daniel, Jane (deceased), George, and Garner. One son is said to be a lawyer in Massachusetts, and another a physician in Baltimore.

48. iii. Eunice, b. 1823.

iv. Sarah, m. Joseph Moore, a veteran, and had: John, Grant, and Eunice. They lived at Newport, N. J.

v. Mary, m. Daniel Turner, a merchant in Port Norris, and had: Charles, m. — Girrell; Joseph, m. Beulah Lore, from Dividing Creek; Daniel, m. Emily Fowler—both dead and no children.

vii. John, an oysterman, m. Phebe Pepper and had Meade (named after General Meade), m. Nora Lawes, and has three or four children. The girl died when she was small.

viii. Eli, a very successful physician in Camden, died in 1914, aged 77; m. Matilda Morris of Monmouth Co., who died March 31, 1915. Their children all died in infancy.
ix. Daniel, a waterman, m. Mary Turner, and had one son, Frank P., 6 ft. 3 or 4 inches tall; has charge of the County House of Cumberland Co., about three miles west of Bridgeton.

x. Abigail B., m., first, William Trout, a farmer, and had Clarence, who died about two years ago in Atlantic City; and two daughters, one living in Del.; she m., second, Josiah H. Tice, a farmer; no children.

17. Christopher Lake (Daniel, Daniel, William, John 1). He was born October 1, 1765, the eldest son of Daniel Lake and Sarah Lucas, and was doubtless named for her father. The tradition is that, because the homestead by the terms of his grandfather's will was to go to his younger brother Daniel, Christopher left home and went to Hopewell Township, Cumberland County. At all events, May 10, 1800, he bought of David Royal a house and two acres and thirty-two square perches of land there. October 16, 1802, he sold land in Egg Harbor that had been left him by his father. He later moved to the Township of Lower Alloway Creek in Salem County. This was about 1811; for on August 9, 1811, Christopher Lake of Cumberland County and Mary Thomas of Salem County were married by John Wood, J. P. March 2, 1813, Christopher Lake and his wife Mary, in consideration of natural love and affection, deeded to John and Moses Thomas, children of Moses Thomas of Lower Alloway Creek, cedar swamp in Great Egg Harbor left him by the will of his father. Evidently Mary Thomas was the widow of Moses Thomas. According to family tradition, the wife of Christopher Lake was a "Dutch" woman. No list of their children is known to exist; but the compiler has been informed by old people, who at least thought they knew, that there were at least five. Of these there can be no question in regard to Mary, William, and Jane. Perhaps James and Alexander were children by an earlier marriage.

Children:

50. i. James.

ii. Alexander; he is said to have been mate of an ocean liner, and to have died before the Civil War.
The Home of the Hon. Simon Lake 64
51. iii. Mary.
iv. William; he is said to have gone to Indiana, where he married and had two sons and two daughters.
v. Jane, died young.

18. Daniel Lake (Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born August 7, 1767, and died June 4, 1843. He married, first, September 13, 1790, Rebecca, daughter of Roger and Rebecca Pedrick, of Upper Penn's Neck, Salem Co., doubtless a descendant of Roger Pedrick. She was born May 22, 1768, and died January 26, 1796. His second wife was Dinah, daughter of Samuel and Judith (Somers) Risley, who was born May 31, 1757, and died August 10, 1825. They were married July 15, 1798. He married, third, Ann, daughter of Samuel Leeds and Lovisa Barber, who was born May 31, 1790, and died July 28, 1863. Samuel Risley was a son of Jeremiah Risley, who came from East Hartford, Conn., about 1724. He was a son of Richard and Rebecca (Adams) Risley, and a grandson of Richard Risley, an original proprietor of Hartford, Conn. Rebecca Adams, wife of the second Richard Risley, was a daughter of John and Abigail (Smith) Adams, and a granddaughter of Jeremy Adams, an original Hartford proprietor. Daniel Lake became a member of the Great Egg Harbor Monthly Meeting of Friends. According to the records of the Meeting, Dinah Lake died August 10, 1825. April 2, 1829, Ann Lake, formerly Leeds, made acknowledgment to the Meeting of her outgoing in marriage; from this it would seem that Daniel had left the meeting. Ann was not disowned, for March 7, 1836, her two daughters were received into membership at her request.

In accordance with the will of his grandfather, Daniel had the homestead after the death of his father. His father, for this reason, left him only forty shillings. Daniel was a famous surveyor and conveyancer; experts to this day say that his work was seldom equalled. In person he was a large man, weighing over three hundred pounds. His signature is very peculiar, consisting wholly of capital letters, very neatly formed, written without removing the pen from the paper. He was Collector of Taxes for Egg Harbor Township from 1789 to 1791, and was a member of the General Assembly in 1818, 1824, and in 1826.
January 9, 1827, he bought from James Fordyce property in Wabash County, Illinois, paying $500 for it.

His will is dated April 11, 1841, and was proved in 1843. He mentions his wife Ann, his daughters Dinah Ann and Lucinda, the heirs of his daughter Rebecca, his daughter, Sarah Penston, and John, her husband. He leaves the property in Wabash County, Illinois, to his daughter Sarah, providing that after her decease and the decease of her husband, the property should be sold and the proceeds distributed to her heirs in such proportion that the children she had by Richard Tilton should have one dollar and the children she had by John Penston should have two dollars. He bequeaths his surveying instruments to his nephew Daniel L. Collins, and makes his wife and Daniel L. Collins executors in New Jersey, and John and Sarah Penston in Illinois.

Children (by first wife):

52. i. Sarah, d. Sept. 19, 1855, aged 64 years 8 months.

(By second wife):

(By third wife):

   vi. Joseph, died at age of four days.

   viii. Hannah, d. of scarlet fever in her sixth year.

19. Jemima Lake (Daniel,7 Daniel,4 William,2 John1). She was born October 18, 1768. By the will of her father she received £5. She married Isaac, son of Joseph and Prudence English. Joseph was the son of John English, the first of the family at English Creek; John was a son of Joseph English of Mansfield Township, Burlington County, who came from England. The will of Isaac English was proved November 13, 1846. He mentions his wife Jemima and these children: Isaac, Mary Dennis, Talitha Lee, Sarah Hickman, and Daniel, deceased.

Children:

55. i. Daniel, b. Feb. 16, 1793.
56. ii. Talitha, b. Nov. 12, 1800.
20. John Lake (Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born December 21, 1773, and died April 27, 1855. By his father's will he received the plantation next to Joseph Ingersoll's at what is now Pleasantville. He was the administrator of his father's estate; many papers connected with this business are in the possession of the compiler, and show him to have been a careful business man. His wife was Abigail Adams, who was born January 11, 1775, and died March 2, 1857. They were married August 2, 1796, the ceremony being performed by Samuel Risley, J. P. She was a daughter of John Adams and Margaret Garwood. John Adams was a son of John and a grandson of Jonathan Adams, who came from Long Island in 1695, and who was a grandson of Jeremy Adams, an original proprietor of Hartford, Conn.

John Lake was a constable in 1810. One of the chief sources of income of the shore people was the trade in oysters and clams which they carted to Camden and Philadelphia. What is now known as Washington Avenue in Pleasantville was formerly known as the Clam Road, because it was the road usually taken on the way to Philadelphia.

About 1822, in order to increase the growth of hay on the salt meadows, John Lake in company with Daniel Adams and others organized a company to bank and drain the meadows. This effort was very successful, and John Lake took great pride in having the finest meadow in the County. Remains of the bank may still be traced. It is generally admitted by those who knew him that in many respects John Lake was at least twenty-five years ahead of his time.

The will of John Lake is dated March 23, 1855, and was proved May 9, 1855; his son Lucas was the executor. Besides his wife, the following are named in the will: sons Daniel, deceased, David, Simon, and Lucas; daughters Margaret English and Sarah Bryant; a grand-daughter Abigail Avery. Among the interesting bequests are that of Great Island to Simon and David Lake, and that of a lot of one acre on the Clam Road to his heirs for a meeting house and burial ground.
Children:

60.  i.  Armenia, b. April 26, 1797.
   ii.  John, b. Jan. 12, 1799; he married Deborah Gaskill; he died July 19, 1826, a young man, and his father was administrator of his estate. His will is dated July 18, 1826, and was proved July 20, 1826. It is said that he had a daughter Rebecca, who died young.
   iii. Asenath, b. Dec. 24, 1801; died young.

61.  iv. Daniel, b. May 1, 1803.

62.  v. Margaret, b. Nov. 30, 1804.

   vii. Jesse, b. Dec. 16, 1810; d. in infancy.

64.  viii. Simon, b. Sept. 3, 1813.

65.  ix. Lucas, b. April 25, 1816.

21. Lydia Lake (Daniel,7 Daniel,4 William,2 John1). She was born March 17, 1776, and died August 7, 1853. Jonathan Corson of Upper Township, Cape May Co., and Lydia Lake were married December 21, 1797. He was born November 18, 1768, and died August 31, 1848; he was a son of Peter, grandson of Jacob, and a great-grandson of John Corson, who with his brother Peter came to Cape May Co. from Gravesend, Long Island. He was a farmer and lived on the Shore Road at Seaville, adjacent to Seaside Cemetery. He left no will, but his land was divided among his heirs by Commissioners appointed by the Court June 17, 1850.

Children:

68.  ii. Peter, b. Dec. 15, 1800.

69.  iii. Absalom, b. May 3, 1803.
   iv. Talitha, b. May 21, 1806; died young.

70.  v. Jonathan, b. Dec. 11, 1808.

71.  vi. Amariah, b. April 14, 1811.

22. Amariah Lake (Daniel,7 Daniel,4 William,2 John1). He was born April 5, 1778, and died June 26, 1847. His first wife was Mary Garwood, whom he married September 22, 1799; his second wife—the mother of all his children—was Margaret Adams, daughter of John and Margaret (Garwood) Adams.
She was a sister to Abigail, wife of John Lake. She was born January 7, 1783, died October 13, 1846, and they were married September 20, 1801. Amariah Lake lived in Bargaintown.

Children:

73. i. MARY, b. June 23, 1802.
    ii. LYDIA, b. April 1, 1804; m. James English. (See page 82.)

74. iii. JOSHUA, b. March 11, 1806.

75. iv. MARK, b. Feb. 26, 1808.

76. v. ENOCH, b. Feb. 28, 1810.
    vi. JEMIMA B., b. Sept. 8, 1812; d. Feb. 16, 1834; m., Feb. 21, 1833, Jeremiah Baker. They had one son Enoch, d. March 21, 1834, aged 3 months and 24 days.

vii. MARGARET, b. Dec. 6, 1814; m. James English. (See page 82.)

77. viii. REBECCA, b. Feb. 20, 1817.

78. ix. CHRISTOPHER, b. July 11, 1819.

79. x. PHEBE C., b. Nov. 20, 1821.

23. MARY LAKE (Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born September 5, 1780. November 7, 1800, she married James, son of Joseph and Prudence English. According to family tradition, Prudence was a daughter of Benjamin and Hannah (Budd) Springer, who were married by license dated December 29, 1731. Benjamin Springer was a son of Jacob Springer, who was born in Sweden and died in East Jersey in 1731. The Springer ancestry has been traced for many centuries in Europe, and a full genealogy of the family in Europe published. Joseph was a son of John and Sarah English, who settled at English Creek about 1714; John was a son of Joseph and Hannah (Clift) English of Mansfield Township, Burlington County, who came over from England. James English was born September 10, 1773, and died February 10, 1833. Mary died July 14, 1855. They are buried in the graveyard of Asbury M. E. Church at English Creek. James English was a farmer and merchant of English Creek. He was also interested in vessel property, and was altogether a substantial and respected citizen. It is related that he had the first corn-sheller of the neighborhood, and that it was an object of interest to his neighbors for miles around. Likewise they had the first cook stove in the neighborhood, Mary going to Philadelphia in the market wagon herself to buy it. James English is said to have been the wealthiest man on the Great Egg Harbor River.

Children:

80. i. James, b. Oct. 29, 1801.
81. ii. Peter, b. June 10, 1807.
82. iii. Joseph, b. Sept. 16, 1812.

24. Asenath Lake (Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born January 23, 1783; and died July 18, 1860. Her first husband, whom she married August 16, 1801, was Levi, son of Dr. Richard Collins and Sarah Griffiths, the first resident physician of what is now Atlantic County. Richard Collins was born in Ireland May 1, 1725, and died in 1808; Sarah Griffith was born July 16, 1735, and died January 12, 1801. They were married by license dated August 27, 1759. Levi Collins was born September 20, 1772, and died March 24, 1813. Her second husband was Paul Sooy, whom she married February 13, 1815. They lived on the old Collins place at Smithville. Paul Sooy was an early and an influential member of the Smithville Methodist Episcopal Church.

Children (by her first husband):

i. Samuel Griffiths, b. April 17, 1803; d. April 19, 1834.

ii. Esther, b. Dec. 3, 1804; d. Jan. 9, 1846; m. Peter English, son of James and Mary (Lake) English, Oct. 31, 1829. (See page 83.)

84. iv. Daniel Lake, b. July 17, 1808.

(By second husband):

ix. Richard. He was a sea captain, and was lost at sea. He married, first, Jeannette Tice, and had Nicholas—connected with the Police Department in Newark, N. J.; second, Elizabeth Batten—no children.

x. Joseph, m., probably, Fannie Higbee, widow of Daniel, Nov. 7, 1847. According to others, his wife was Fannie Strickland; perhaps both are right. He had an only child, a daughter Henrietta.

xi. Talitha, m. Absalom Leeds, Sept. 7, 1844, and had Joshua; Richard; Hezekiah—d. unmarried; Warren C., lives at Brigantine; Samuel, unmarried, lives at Brigantine; Jennie; Emma, m. Beverly Lear, Jan. 10, 1874. They live "up along the Delaware somewhere."

xii. James, d. unmarried.

xiii. Nicholas, killed at sea by a fall from a masthead, March 28, 1849; unmarried.

25. Lucas Lake (Daniel,\textsuperscript{7} Daniel,\textsuperscript{4} William,\textsuperscript{2} John \textsuperscript{1}). He and his twin sister were born October 25, 1785. His father in his will (1794) directed that Lucas should have "schooling according to the discretion of my Executors," and that he should be put to the blacksmith's trade when fourteen years old. He did learn this trade, and when he grew up he settled in the Northern Liberties of Philadelphia to engage in it. His wife was Dorcas Ireland, daughter of Edmund Ireland, as appears from a deed dated March 12, 1823 (Woodbury deeds, Liber B \textsuperscript{3}, folio 453), by which Edmund Ireland’s heirs sell land in Galloway Township to Matthew Collins.

A child:

88. i. Eleanor.

26. Samuel Lake (Andrew,\textsuperscript{8} Daniel,\textsuperscript{4} William,\textsuperscript{2} John \textsuperscript{1}). He was born April 5, 1778; died May 12, 1854, and is buried in Zion Churchyard, as is his wife. She was Olive Price, and was born April 4, 1781, and died August 1, 1861. They were married March 16, 1799. Samuel Lake was a wheelwright, and lived at Bargaintown. He served as a Sergeant in Capt. John R. Scull’s Company of Militia during the War of 1812.

Children:

i. Mary, b. April 7, 1804; d. Oct. 12, 1825.

89. ii. Charles, b. March 2, 1806.

90. iii. Thompson, b. May 2, 1808.

91. iv. Andrew.

vi. SARAH, b. Oct. 17, 1819; d. Aug. 23, 1899; m. Nicholas F. Smith, d. July 24, 1890, aged 71 years and 9 months. No children. He was a local preacher and a blacksmith and lived at Bargaintown.

27. NICODEMUS LAKE (Andrew,8 Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was born March 28, 1782, and married, January 26, 1807, Sarah, daughter of William Boice, and widow of Joshua, son of John and Margaret (Garwood) Adams. She is buried in the cemetery of Mt. Pleasant M. P. Church at Pleasantville, the gravestone reading Sally Lake, died December 29, 1861, aged ninety-four years.

   Children:
   92. i. MARY, d. Sept., 1895, aged 87 years.

   93. iii. CATHARINE, b. April 22, 1811.

28. ANDREW LAKE (Andrew,8 Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was born January 15, 1785; d. April 23, 1870. He married, December 28, 1809, Nancy, daughter of Oswald and Agnes (Mungal) Good-Bartlett, who was born July 19, 1789, and died October 13, 1870. They lived near Mt. Pleasant M. P. Church at Pleasantville, and are buried in the graveyard of that Church. They had no children.

29. RICHARD M. RISLEY (Jemima (Lake) Risley,9 Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was born February 3, 1775, and died in March, 1828. He married, May 20, 1803, Elizabeth, daughter of Joshua and Rebecca (Dole) Garwood, who was born February 15, 1782; after his death, she married John Frambes as his third wife.

61. Daniel Lake (John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John 1). He was born May 1, 1803; died February 13, 1851; and married Sarah Ann, daughter of Esperus and Hannah (Steelman) Tilton. She was born February 2, 1808, and died September 18, 1886. Esperus was a son of Daniel Tilton, who served as a private in the Gloucester County Militia during the Revolution. For a time Daniel Lake lived near Port Republic in a brick house on the south side of the creek. This house he built; it is known as the Tommy Risley place. Here he had a brick yard, as also he did at Pleasantville, where he resided most of his life.

In common with many of his neighbors, he was engaged in the business of carting oysters and clams to Philadelphia. He brought home goods, which he sold from a small store standing at the end of the house. It is related of him that he discovered the art of "floating" or freshening oysters in an amusing way. One day his boat sank in the ditch with his load of oysters. He feared they had been spoiled by the fresh water, but having orders for them, he took them to Philadelphia. Much to his surprise, on his next trip, the dealer spoke of their excellence, and asked him what he fed them on. He showed his quickness of wit and humor by replying readily, "Why, on Indian meal!" As it was rather a nuisance to sink the boat each time, the custom of building platforms for freshening the oysters arose.

It is said that when he wished to erect a sign for his store, his neighbor, Squire Daniel Ingersoll, said he would give him the board for it if he might select the name of the town to go on it. The agreement was made, and in this way originated the name "Pleasantville." This store was kept by his daughter, Mary Jane, for a time after his death; when she married she sold it to her brother Lewis, who in turn sold it to the brother Jesse.

Daniel Lake was also a farmer and a bricklayer, as well as a maker of bricks.

When he returned to Pleasantville from Port Republic—about 1832—he lived in an old house back of John Collins's; later he bought a one-story house where Lewis Lake lived, which, about 1840, he rebuilt. His brick yard was on the spot where Blake's hardware store now stands. He also burnt mud or blue bricks down at Jonathan's Thoroughfare.

While he lived in Port Republic, he, with the help of his brothers Simon, David, and Lucas, built a church there.

In person Daniel Lake was not a large man, but he was noted for his great physical strength. It is said that he could cut and cord a cord of wood an hour, using a specially prepared axe in the work.

He was a believer in what was called at the time "Thomsonian doctoring," and occasionally had a physician from Bridgeton attend him. It is said that his death was caused by the sting of a king crab or horse-shoe crab.

Children:

i. Jesse S., b. April 30, 1825; d. Sept. 24, 1896; m. Phoebe, daughter of John R. and Sarah (Somers) Scull, who was born June 17, 1827, and died May 9, 1905. They had no children. Jesse S. Lake was a man of extraordinary inventive gifts, and perfected many useful devices during his long life, but he did not possess the business instinct to make money from his inventions. He invented the whistling buoy, a steering wheel for yachts, a shade roller, the first calculating weighing scale, a device to allow cable cars to cross intersections of streets with their own power, and a car that laid and took up its own track. But his most useful inventions, perhaps, were those having to do with the perfecting of the mowing machine. He invented the device whereby the knife-bar can be raised and lowered; for this the McCormick people paid him a royalty. Altogether he secured patents for some sixty-five new devices and improvements. He was for many years a local preacher in the Methodist Church, and a class leader. He was also engaged in the oyster business, and had an iron foundry. Altogether he is remembered by those who knew him as a remarkable man.

Crate officiating, Harriet, daughter of James and Martha Somers and widow of Edward Cordery, who was born September 15, 1825, and who died October 28, 1914, in Ocean City, New Jersey. James Somers served as a private in the War of the Revolution, and Mrs. Lake was a member of the D. A. R. as a real daughter.

Simon Lake lived in Pleasantville on what is now known as Washington Avenue, in a house which is still standing. He was a man of unusual business sagacity, sterling integrity, and was greatly respected by all. During the Civil War period, he served one term in the General Assembly with credit to himself and satisfaction to the County. With his sons, Ezra B., Simon W., and James E., he was interested in the founding of Ocean City as a Christian seashore resort. Although he died almost at the outset of the enterprise, no one, least of all his sons, would question that much of the success that has come is due to his wise counsel at the beginning. His name and memory should be preserved and venerated, not only by his descendants, but by all loyal South Jerseymen.

169. THE REV. EZRA B (LAKE) LAKE (Simon, John, Daniel, William, John). He was born December 28, 1833, and died August 7, 1900. He married, first, July 1, 1854, Alice E., daughter of the Rev. John and Susanna Core, of Port Republic, who was born April 4, 1836, and died October 20, 1890; second, July 2, 1891, Martha Henderson (Borden) Corson, widow of John Chattin Corson, who was born November 1, 1843, and who is still living in Ocean City.

Ezra B. Lake with his wife united with Salem M. E. Church in 1854. In March, 1863, Mr. Lake entered the ministry of the Methodist Protestant Church, and during the ensuing six years held pastorates at Union Valley, Bridgeport, and at Berlin. In the spring of 1869, he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and until 1880 served that body, being stationed successively at Willow Grove, Port Norris, Petersburg, Silverton, Delanco, Camden, and Ocean City, where he was the first pastor.

In 1879, Ezra B. Lake, together with his father, Simon Lake, and his brothers, the Rev. S. Wesley and the Rev. James E. Lake, organized the Ocean City Association, and bought—chiefly from the Somers family—Peck's Beach in order to establish a Christian temperance seaside resort. He became the Superintendent of the enterprise, took up his residence at Ocean City, and devoted the rest of his life to the development of the new resort. One may say without fear of contradiction that the phenomenal success of the undertaking was due more to the energy, ability, and persistence of Ezra B. Lake than to any other factor. In 1892 he began to organize public utility corporations for the rapidly growing resort. He organized an electric light company, an electric railroad company, a sewer company, and a water company to provide an abundant supply of the purest artesian water. All these he founded and fostered until they were paying concerns. They made possible the rapid development of Ocean City to its present high position among New Jersey Coast resorts, and Ocean City is to-day Mr. Lake's most glorious and most enduring monument.

In common with many other members of the family, Mr. Lake possessed great mechanical skill and inventive ability. He invented a roller for window shades that was for a long time extensively used. He devised a great sea wagon designed to go out into the surf and rescue persons from a stranded ship. And at the time of his death he was developing a non-friction ball-bearing, needing no oil.

During all his life, he was as active in every good work for the moral and intellectual advance of Ocean City as in everything working for its physical and financial betterment. He was actively interested in the public schools, serving for many years on the Board of Education, and securing through his influence the erection of a very adequate building. He was a member of the Sons of Temperance, of the Masonic Order, and of many other organizations.

What was perhaps the honor of all his life most appreciated was his election by the New Jersey Conference as a delegate, in March, 1900, to the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church to be held at Chicago. He sat through the Conference faithfully, taking part in some of the most important and far-reaching legislation of the Church in recent years. On his return from the Conference, he was accorded a public reception, as a testimonial of the esteem in which he was held—all admitting him to be the first citizen of the town he had been chiefly instrumental in founding.

His death was the result of disease contracted, or at least aggravated, during his attendance at Seaville Camp Meeting. He was deeply mourned, and his memory is dear to thousands. Requiescat in Pace.

Children (by the first wife):

iii. Mary E., b. July 23, 1857. She lives at Princeton, N. J., with her cousin, the Rev. Wesley Elwell Lake. She is most deeply interested in church activities.
vii. Rebecca, b. April 12, 1868; d. April 13, 1868.

170. Anna Margaret Lake (Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born April 14, 1838, and died June 18, 1898. She married, in 1857, Somers Townsend Champion, who was born May 28, 1838. He was the son of Daniel and Mary (Smith) Champion. Mr. Champion married, second, about 1901, Henrietta (Johnson), widow of Edward Powell.

His boyhood days were spent on his father's farm, but his parents dying when he was fifteen years old, he went to live with his older sister, who was the wife of Senator Jesse Adams of Bakersville. During nine months of the year he went to sea; the remaining three he went to school in the old brick, one-room, one-story Union schoolhouse at Bakersville, also making himself useful as boy of all work in Senator Adams's general store.

On the breaking out of the Civil War, he recruited Company B, 25th Regiment, New Jersey Volunteers, of which in 1862 he was commissioned Captain by Governor Olden. This company saw much hard fighting. He has always cherished the memory of those trying days, and enjoys the companionship of his comrades in arms. Consequently he has always been active in the work of the G. A. R., and is a Past Commander of the Clinton B. Fickle Post.

For some years after the War, he was in the lightning rod business in Atlantic County, and was also engaged in farming. In 1881, he became interested in the Atlantic Highlands Association of Monmouth County. This corporation purchased 250 acres of land on the shores of New York Bay at a cost of $100,000. Mr. Champion was an incorporator, and for a number of years the Secretary and Superintendent, and it is not too much to say that the growth of the resort and its continued prosperity have been due in no small degree to his services and foresight. Mr. Champion has been a progressive and influential citizen of his adopted town, and has held many offices of trust and responsibility. He has been Commissioner and Borough Clerk; Secretary of the Board of Health; Justice of the Peace; and Recorder. He has also been much interested in the Fire Department of Atlantic Highlands from its organization. At present he is Secretary of the Department, and also Secretary and Collector of the Fireman's Relief Association.

Both he and Mrs. Champion early became interested in the submarine boat invented by their nephew, Mr. Simon Lake, and both gave liberally of their means for the building of the first boat, which was constructed at the Highlands. Mr. Champion, his son Barton, and Mr. Simon Lake, the inventor, were of the party making the first descent in the waters of Sandy Hook Bay. Mr. Champion was an incorporator of the original Lake Submarine Boat Company, and its Secretary.

Owing also to his relation to the Lake family, Mr. Champion early became interested in Ocean City, and for years owned much property there. The first deed made by the Ocean City Association was issued to him. Mrs. Champion also, as a part of her father's estate, came to own much Ocean City real estate.

Mr. Champion has been prominently identified with many fraternal orders. Owing perhaps to the deep interest of his father­ in-law in the society, he early became a member of Pleas­ ville Division, No. 83, Sons of Temperance. He served as Grand Worthy Patriarch of the State Division. Mr. Champion was the founder of Phil Kearney Lodge, No. 63, Knights of Pythias, which was first of Smith's Landing, but now of Pleasantville. In 1899 he was Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias in New Jersey, and is at present a member of the Supreme Lodge. He is also a member of the I. O. of O. F.; the Improved Order of Red Men; and the B. P. O. E.

Mr. Champion has been a lifelong Republican, taking pride in having cast his first vote for Abraham Lincoln. In 1902 he was a member of the General Assembly from Monmouth County, serving to the satisfaction of his constituents, and with credit to himself.

Mr. Champion is a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and has been especially interested in Sunday School work; he has served as Superintendent in both the Pleasantville and Atlantic Highlands Sunday School. Altogether he is a man whose character and achievements have added prestige to the family with which through his marriage he became connected.

Mrs. Champion was a woman of a singularly lovable character. Her life was so merged in that of her husband and in her home that in telling the story of his life her own history has been written. No one who knows the family—least of all he—would deny that Mr. Champion owes much to her devotion, sagacity, and sterling common sense. She was devoted to her husband, his children, her home, and her church, and all loved and honored her.

172. The Rev. S(imon) Wesley Lake, D.D. (Simon, John, Daniel, William, John). He was born at Pleasantville, N. J., August 7, 1842. On February 6, 1864, he married Mary Jane, daughter of Jonathan and Lucy Ann (Lewis) Scull, of Absecon, who was born November 25, 1846. Jonathan Scull was the son of John and Judith (Steelman) Scull of Estellville, N. J. Dr. and Mrs. Lake celebrated their golden wedding February 6, 1914.

Dr. Lake received his early education in the public schools of his native town, and later was a student at Pennington Seminary, then—as now—regarded as one of the best educational institutions of the State.

Being brought up in a religious home, it was to be expected that his attention would early be turned to the church. How deeply his mother's ardent religious spirit impressed itself on her family may be judged from the fact that three of her four sons entered the Christian ministry. In January, 1859, he united with Salem Methodist Episcopal Church of Smith's Landing, now Pleasantville. During the year 1865-1866 he taught school at Bridgeport, Gloucester County, and early in that year he was licensed a local preacher in Salem Church.

In June of 1867, by the Rev. Jefferson Lewis, D.D., Presiding Elder, he was appointed pastor of Gloucester Circuit, which included the churches at Porchtown, the Lake, Piney Hollow, and Friendship, the latter one of the oldest churches of the Conference. In March, 1868, at Lambertville, he was admitted into the New Jersey Annual Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church. During his long, active, and fruitful ministry, he served the following churches: Marlton, 1868-9; Vincentown, 1870-2; Petersburg, 1873-5; Farmingdale, 1876-8; Atlanticville, Long Branch, 1879-81; Foundry, Millville, 1882-4; Pemberton, 1885-6; Trinity, Trenton, 1887-90; Broad Street, Burlington, 1891-2; and Commerce Street, Bridgeton, 1893-6. In the year 1897 he was appointed Presiding Elder of the Trenton District, which position he filled with acceptability for three and a half years. In September of 1900, because of the death of his brother, the Rev. Ezra B. Lake, and because of the unanimous request of the Board of Managers of the Ocean City Association, he resigned the Presiding Eldership, and was appointed President of the Ocean City Association annually until the organization of the Ocean City Tabernacle Association in 1907. The Tabernacle Association was organized to take over and develop the religious work previously carried on by the Ocean City Association. Dr. Lake has annually been chosen President from the organization to the present time.

The story of the Ocean City Association and the founding of Ocean City has been chiefly told in connection with the biographies of the Hon. Simon Lake and of the Rev. Ezra B. Lake, but neither that story nor the story of the life of Dr. S. Wesley Lake would be complete without mention of his part in that remarkable enterprise. He, his father, the Hon. Simon Lake, his brothers, the Rev. Ezra B. and James E., the Rev. Wm. B. Wood, and the Rev. Wm. H. Burrell, were the incorporators, and are known as the "original six." He was elected a member of the first Board of Managers in 1879, and has served continuously in that capacity. For some years he was Secretary and bookkeeper for the Association, and in 1892 he was elected the President, which office he likewise still holds. Among his fellows in the management of the Association, he has ever been known as the "balance wheel"—ever ready to restrain undue enthusiasm or ill-advised schemes and even more ready with words of wisdom and good cheer in times of depression and discouragement. It is certain that the wonderful success of the enterprise is due in no small measure to his ability and devotion to the Association and the principles of Christian living for which it stands.

Dr. Lake for several years has been President of the New Jersey Methodist Publishing Company, which, among other things, publishes the Ocean City Ledger, a weekly, which also publishes a daily issue during the summer. He has also from their organization been a Director of the First National Bank.
of Ocean City and of the Ocean City Title and Trust Company, in whose success and prosperity he takes great interest.

Dr. Lake is a member of the Masonic fraternity, of the Knights of Pythias, and of the Odd Fellows. In brief it may be said of him that he is actively interested in everything that conduces to the advancement of any of his manifold interests. His distinguished services to his denomination and to the cause of temperance were recognized by the American Temperance University of Harriman, Tennessee, by conferring on him in 1897 the degree of Doctor in Divinity.

[STEELMAN LINEAGE.—James Steelman, Gentleman, who was connected with Old Swedes' Church in Philadelphia, is the first of the line. He first appears at Great Egg Harbor in 1693. He served as a Justice of the County Court, and owned large tracts of land. His wife was Susannah Toy, whose mother was Christina Toy of Cinnaminson Township, Burlington Co. James Steelman died in 1734.

Andrew 2 Steelman was born about 1689/90. His wife's name was Judith. He owned large tracts of land, including the greater part of Absecon Beach, on which Atlantic City now stands. He died a young man in 1737.

Andrew 3 Steelman was born in 1719, and died February 9, 1772, aged 53 years. He married by license of June 3, 1747, Hannah Ingersoll. He owned large tracts of land and had sawmills at Stevens Creek, now Estellville.

Frederick 4 Steelman was born March 25, 1752, and died July 29, 1809. He married, by license of October 4, 1773, Naomi, daughter of Joseph and Elizabeth (Ingersoll) Edwards, who was born in 1755, and died August 21, 1847. Frederick Steelman was a justice of the County Court from 1793 to 1798; and served as a private in the Revolution.

Judith 5 Steelman married John Scull, who was the father of Jonathan, and grandfather of Mary Jane Scull, who married the Rev. Dr. Wesley Lake, February 6, 1864.]

Children:

324. i. CARRIE LORENA, b. July 30, 1867.
    ii. CHARLES PITMAN, b. Jan. 10, 1869. He lives at Ocean City, where he is engaged in the real estate business. He is also Secretary of the Ocean City Association. He is a graduate of Wesleyan University in the Class of 1894.
325. iii. Wesley Elwell, b. Aug. 7, 1870.
   iv. Henry Howell, b. April 22, 1873. He is a jeweler in Ocean City.
325½. v. Harvey Young, b. Oct. 25, 1874.
   vi. Mary Luella, b. Dec. 27, 1880.

173. The Rev. James Edward Lake, D.D. (Simon,64 John,20 Daniel,7 Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was born January 17, 1845, at Pleasantville, and married, at Absecon, December 17, 1863, Emily Mott, daughter of Joseph Pearson and Elizabeth Ann (Fish) Venable, of Burlington County, who was born May 10, 1845. His preparatory education was received at Pennington Seminary. He was graduated from Drew Seminary in Madison, N. J., with the degree of B. D., in 1873. On his graduation he entered the New Jersey Conference, his first appointment being at Port Norris, Cumberland Co., N. J. He was ordained Deacon by Bishop Matthew Simpson, March 14, 1875, and Elder by Bishop Jesse T. Peck, March 18, 1877. In 1896 he received the honorary degree of Doctor in Divinity from Northern Illinois College, of Fulton, Ill. During his student years at Drew, he served the M. E. Church at Chatham, under the direction of the Presiding Elder. His present Conference appointment is as Superintendent of the Ocean City Tabernacle Association.

The Rev. Dr. James E. Lake has been active as a founder of summer resorts, the dominant principle of which should be freedom from the liquor traffic and the preservation of the Christian Sunday. The first venture of this kind was the establishment of Ocean City in co-operation with his father, Simon, and his brothers, Ezra B. and Simon Wesley, in 1879. In 1881 he organized the company that founded Atlantic Highlands in Monmouth County on lower New York Bay. In 1894 he organized the National Park Association, and founded National Park on the Delaware, opposite League Island. At present he is President of the National Park Camp Meeting Association.

Dr. Lake has also been active in the field of journalism, having founded, with others, the Seabright Sentinel and the Atlantic Highlands Journal; he is now editor of the Ocean City Ledger, published by the New Jersey Methodist Publishing Company. He has been most interested in the genealogy of the Lake family, and most active in promoting the annual reunion of the family.
Children:

i. Mary Eva Linda, b. March 19, 1865; d. Nov. 29, 1877.

iv. Emily Ada, b. July 26, 1873; m., Feb. 26, 1896, Robert Darlington Soars, of Buffalo, N. Y.

vii. Ethel Blake, b. May 9, 1887; d. Sept. 9, 1889.

174. John Christopher Lake (Simon,⁴ John,²⁰ Daniel,⁷ Daniel,⁴ William,² John ¹). [He had always been known as Christopher Lake and had signed his name as J. Christopher Lake. Through recent rulings of Departments of the United States Government, with which he had business relations, he had been compelled to sign his first name in full, thus making his name John C. Lake and dropping the Christopher, by which his identity was practically lost, causing much trouble and annoyance. He therefore secured a judgment and decree of the Superior Court of the State of Connecticut whereby his name was changed from John Christopher Lake to Christopher John Lake so that he could sign his first name in full and still retain his identity as Christopher.]

He was born September 2, 1847. He attended public school at Smith's Landing and Pleasantville, N. J., and later Pennington Seminary, at Pennington, N. J. When about eighteen years of age, he learned the watchmaking and jewelry business with his brother, S. Wesley Lake, at Absecon, N. J., and subsequently took the business over when his brother entered the ministry.

He married, first, Miriam O., daughter of Captain Elisha and Hannah (Mannery) Adams, of Pleasantville, who was born February 11, 1848, and died June 25, 1870. On February 20, 1877, he married, second, Anna M., daughter of Smith and Rhoda M. Corson, of Cape May, N. J., who was born September 17, 1855.

He followed the watchmaking and jewelry business for several years, but went to Philadelphia in 1874 and engaged in the window shade roller manufacturing business in partnership with his brother Ezra B. Lake under the name of Lake Brothers.

This business was later sold out to a Massachusetts concern which dissolved the partnership. He then invented his self-locking and balance shade roller and cord roller and arranged for their manufacture by P. S. Davald & Co. of Philadelphia on a royalty basis, he having charge of the manufacturing plant.
Subsequently the Union Shade Roller Company was formed, which for a number of years carried on the business of manufacturing his inventions in shade rollers. Later another plant was built at Aurora, Ill., on the royalty plan, where he resided for some time in superintending the organization of the factory.

During these intervening years he moved to Toms River, N. J., and established a foundry and machine shop especially equipped for the production of iron brackets or fixtures for his shade rollers and other light castings, and for some years supplied both of his royalty companies with their iron fixtures. Also during these years, in association with his father, Simon Lake, and three brothers, Ezra, Wesley, and James, he was one of the pioneers and for several years a director in the organization of the Ocean City Association, which promoted and established the temperance seaside resort of Ocean City, N. J. In 1883 he removed from Toms River, N. J., with his foundry and machine shop to Ocean City for the purpose of furnishing employment to the inhabitants during the long off-season of a seaside resort.
He employed from twenty-five to fifty hands. He also went into the manufacture of self-holding steering gear for boats. He associated his son Simon with him, and subsequently removed to Baltimore, Md., and under the firm name of J. C. Lake & Son carried on the manufacture of self-holding steering gears and safety winders for the dredging fleets of the Chesapeake Bay and tributaries. These were the means of saving the lives and limbs of the men from the dangerous means hitherto in use on these boats. In 1894 he went to Atlantic Highlands, N. J., to assist his son Simon in the trials of his first or experimental boat, the "Argonaut, Jr.," and subsequently assisted in the organization of The Lake Submarine Company. Later he was associated with that Company in building the "Argonaut" at Baltimore. In 1898 the office of the Company was removed to New York City; so he moved to Brooklyn, N. Y., but later he took up his residence in Rutherford, N. J. In 1901 he was the first subscriber and one of the pioneer organizers of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company for the building of his son's submarines for governmental warfare purposes. Subsequently the New York office of the Company was removed to Bridgeport, Conn.

In 1901 and 1902 while living at Rutherford, N. J., he invented his flying machine and announced it in the New York Herald over his own signature as follows:

"I have a practical everyday flying machine regardless of ordinary wind or weather for air, land, and water."

Signed, J. Christopher Lake.

This announcement created a furore at that time; but owing to the then questionable practicability of the submarine boat and to the utter impossibility of the flying machine, he was induced to lay the flying machine aside and devote his energies and resources to the submarine interests. This he did for some years and removed to Bridgeport. As Vice-President of the Company, he looked after its business in the United States for some years whenever the President (his son Simon) was in Europe. After the submarine became more popular and the first order was received from the United States for a Lake boat and its success was assured, he returned quietly to the promotion of the flying machine. He subsequently purchased the property of the Nutmeg Park Driving Association, with adjoining property of about fifty acres, consisting of a two-story grand stand forty feet by 250 feet, seating about 4,000 persons, a two-story barn forty by 150 feet with seventy-five outside stables and the best racing track in the New England states with forty acres enclosed with high board fence, etc. After experimenting, building, and testing out flying machines within the grounds, he reopened and rechristened it the "Bridgeport Aerodrome." It was commonly known, however, as the "Lake Aerodrome"; here was held the first and most successful aviation meet of the State. Since this time he has organized the Lake Aero Company, Inc., of which he is President, having exclusive rights of manufacture and sale of his flying machine inventions, of his air-borne motor boats, and his flying boats. He also organized a realty holding company under the name of the Aero Gardens Co., Inc., which holds the aforesaid property and appurtenances, and of which he is also President.
Children (by first wife):

326. i. SIMON, b. Sept. 4, 1866.

327. ii. ARLETTA, b. July 17, 1868.

175. SARAH ELLEN LAKE (Simon, John, Daniel, William, John 1). She was born March 15, 1851, and died April 13, 1903. She married, January 10, 1869, Jonathan Timberman, son of Capt. Elisha and Hannah (Mannery) Adams, who was born March 24, 1850. Jonathan Timberman Adams lives in Ocean City, and is a manufacturing confectioner. Formerly he was engaged in the hotel and amusement business there. In early life he was in the oyster business in Pleasantville, where he was born.

Children:

328. i. HARRY B., b. April 14, 1869.
   ii. NELLIE B., b. June 8, 1871; d. Aug. 11, 1873.

329. vi. EFFIE C., b. Oct. 16, 1886.

176. SARAH CORNELIA LAKE (Lucas, John, Daniel, William, John 1). She was born October 15, 1842, and died June 8, 1910. She married, December 28, 1866, Peter B(oice), son of James and Anna Maria (Boice) Risley, who was born April 19, 1840, and died December 8, 1913. Peter B. Risley was one of the most prominent and most respected of the business men of Pleasantville, where he lived all his life. He was a prominent member of Salem M. E. Church, and always a generous contributor to its support. He was largely instrumental in the building of the handsome new stone church, which he did not live to see dedicated.

177. ALBERT P. LAKE (Lucas, John, Daniel, William, John). He was born October 11, 1846, and married, May 6, 1868, Harriet S., daughter of William and Charlotte Alice (Young) Eldredge, who was born December 9, 1851. Charlotte Alice (Young) Eldredge was a daughter of Ephraim Young. The mother of William W. Eldredge was Muriel, daughter of John and Ruth (Ireland) Adams, who died July 1, 1899, in her ninety-first year. Wm. W. Eldredge was a son of Josiah Eldredge. Albert P. Lake lives at Pleasantville, and for many years was interested in the company owning the turnpike between Pleasantville and Atlantic City.

223. ASENNATH C. ENGLISH (Peter, Mary (Lake) English, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born February 28, 1833, and married, June 22, 1854, Nathaniel, son of Edward and Phoebe (Price) Risley, who was born March 23, 1826, and died July 18, 1906. Asenath English Risley received her education in the school at English Creek, but at fourteen years of age she went to Bridgeton to learn the trade of dressmaking and tailoring.
        After learning her trade, she worked at it for two years in English Creek. Then she went to Mullica Hill, at that time a thriving village, made so by the glass-works, a cloth mill, and by its being the center of a farming district.

Asenath C. English and Nathaniel Risley were married in Philadelphia by the Rev. W. W. D. Ryan, a Methodist minister. They came down to Absecon on what is said to be the first train running through from Camden to Atlantic City. This was on June 23, and the formal opening of the road did not take place until July 1, 1854.

Nathaniel Risley was born on the old Risley homestead at Smith's Landing, just below what is now the county farm. The house stood back in the field on the east side of the Shore Road.

The greater part of his life he spent in the oyster business and in farming. The first boat that he owned, a sloop, was named the "Arabel"; he traded between Smith's Landing, Philadelphia, New York, and points on the Hudson River. On a trip up the Delaware, a steamer bound down the river ran into and sank his vessel. With difficulty, and in his stocking feet, he managed to climb aboard the steamer in spite of the efforts of the captain of the steamer to prevent. However, passengers on the steamer gave him money with which to return home. The "Arabel" was built by Neven Bitten.

In 1857 Mr. Risley built a sloop, the "Lizzie Sooy"; and in 1886 he built a schooner named the "Freeman," of about twenty-five tons register. Both of these boats were used in the oyster business, which at that time was profitable. "Plants," as they were called, were secured from the natural beds in the Delaware or in Virginia, and allowed to grow in Lake's Bay until ready for market. Mr. Risley was one of those most interested in this business.

At a time when the oyster business was poor, he bought and cleared a large farm about two miles back from the Shore Road.

About the year 1896, he and three of his sons bought the hydraulic dredging business of Charles and William Stetzer. This business is still continued by his sons, N. Elton and Freeman Risley, and will be spoken of more at large in connection with N. Elton Risley.

The residence of Nathaniel Risley was erected in 1858. It stands at the intersection of Bayview Avenue and the Shore Road, on the site of the old building used as a church and schoolhouse before Salem Church was built in 1851. This property was bought by Mr. Risley of Alexander Fish.
Mr. Risley’s opportunities for education were meagre; as owing to the death of his father when he was fifteen years old, he was bound out to his elder brother Josiah Risley. He used to say that he attended school only about three months. But he was a man of energy and ability, and educated himself, chiefly perhaps, through the constant reading and thoughtful study of the Bible. He was an enterprising and successful man, and left a good name and a good inheritance to his children.

Although she never enjoyed robust health, Asenath English Risley always led an active life, and was ever a real help-meet to her husband. Since his death she has been less active, but just as busy. She has pieced, with infinite patience and skill, quilts for each of her children, each of her grandchildren, as well as for other persons. One in the same pattern as one pieced by her mother made by her for her grand-niece, Esther Steelman Adams, a namesake of Esther Collins English, is a prized possession of her nephew, Arthur Adams.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Risley were lifelong members of Salem M. E. Church at Smith’s Landing in Pleasantville, and have always contributed generously to its support. They led simple, consistent Christian lives, and were ever ready with the kind word and the helping hand to aid those in distress or need.

Adams was a farmer, and lived on the old Adams homestead, which has been in the family more than two hundred years, at Pleasantville. He held various local offices, and was much interested in the Pleasantville Building and Loan Association, and in various secret societies. He served as a private in the 15th N. J. Volunteers during the Civil War.
   [Adams Lineage.—Jeremy Adams came to Cambridge, Mass., in 1632, and removed to Hartford, Conn., in 1636, where he was an original proprietor. He married, about 1637, Rebecca, widow of Samuel Greenhill. For many years he kept the Inn. He died August 11, 1683.
   John 2 Adams was born about 1637 or 1638. He married, Au-
August 26, 1657, Abigail, daughter of Richard and Rebecca Smith of Wethersfield. He died September 6, 1670.

Jonathan Adams was born November 6, 1668. He went to Huntington, L. I., and from there in 1695 to Great Egg Harbor, N. J. He was a Quaker. His wife was named Barbara; probably he married on Long Island. His will was proved June 17, 1727.

John Adams was born about 1700. The name of his wife has not been found, but there are indications that she was Mary, daughter of Peter and Mary Cowenhoven. In 1767 he had his plantation resurveyed, and in 1770 conveyed it by deed in equal parts to his three sons, John, Jonathan, and Elijah.

John Adams was born about 1735. He married in 1763 Margaret, daughter of Thomas and Mary (Ballenger) Garwood. He served as an Ensign in the Revolutionary War. His will was proved April 17, 1798.

Daniel Adams was born April 1, 1773, and died February 17, 1863. He married Elizabeth, daughter of Oswald and Agnes (Mungal) Goodbartlet. He was the father of James R. Adams.

[ENGLISH LINEAGE.—Joseph English came from England to Burlington, N. J., about 1678. His wife was Hannah, daughter of Samuel and Joan Clift. Samuel Clift ran the ferry between Burlington and Bristol. Joseph English died about 1725, and his will was proved in Chester County, Pa., where he also owned land.

John English was born about 1690. His wife was named Sarah. In 1714 his father gave him large tracts of land at English Creek, where he settled, and had extensive sawmills. The date of his death is not known. He was a Justice of the County Court for many years.

Joseph English was born about 1730 at English Creek. His wife's name was Prudence, and according to family tradition she was a daughter of Benjamin and Hannah (Budd) Springer. He was a son of Jacob Springer, who was born in Sweden and died in East Jersey in 1731. Joseph English served as a private and as a lieutenant in the Revolution. He died in 1807.

259. ELMER P. LAKE (Andrew,91 Samuel,92 Andrew,8 Daniel,4 William,2 John 1). He was born June 8, 1838, and died October 1, 1887. He married, August 21, 1862, Mary Ellen Ross, of Green Creek, who is still living there.

Capt. Elmer P. Lake went to sea with his own father, Andrew Lake, at seven years of age. He became captain of a small sailing vessel when he was eighteen years old. He later became master of larger vessels, finally commanding some of the finest sailing vessels at that time afloat. He was an uncommonly expert navigator, he having the reputation of being one of the three ablest navigators from the State of New Jersey. His able seamanship and calm, cool, superior judgment in times of distress and danger were declared by his shipmates not excelled by any other captain's with whom they had ever sailed. He was a great reader, a deep thinker, and had a fine personality; although he always maintained strict discipline on board of his ship, he was of a kindly, gentle disposition. Perhaps from having come in contact with so many different creeds and peoples, he seemed to have imbibed peculiar beliefs regarding the Christian religion, and could not be called an orthodox Christian, although he possessed the cardinal Christian virtues. One of the dominant traits of his character was his fondness for and tenderness to dumb creatures.

He traded from the principal ports of the United States to the West Indies, South America, Europe, Asia—in fact, to the principal ports of the world. In 1868 he started on a voyage to the East Indies, sailing from Philadelphia to Liverpool, going thence to Calcutta, trading in Chinese and Japanese ports, the Bay of Bengal, and various other ports in and around Asia. He remained in Asiatic waters for three and one-half years, when he set sail for the United States. He was compelled on his way home, by a severe illness, to put in at St. Helena, and while convalescent used often to walk out to Napoleon's tomb, gathering mementos from the grave and bringing home with him an interesting picture of the great war chieftain's home while he was in exile. He made quite a large collection of interesting souvenirs and curios on his voyages in different parts of the world, and experienced many and thrilling adventures. In later years he traded principally from the southern ports of the United States to Spanish ports, to Cuba, South America, and Nova Scotia.

He was born December 22, 1858, and married, March 31, 1888, Lettie Jackson, daughter of Amariah and Anna Eliza (Ingersoll) Lake, who was born May 31, 1865. In connection with his brother Daniel L., in January, 1877, he began the publication in Pleasantville of a paper called the “Little Patriot”; later it was called “Everybody's Companion.” They also ran a job printing office, probably the first in Pleasantville. About 1902 he was President of the Metal Doll Company, which manufactured unbreakable dolls of steel. For many years he has been engaged with his cousin, Vincent F. Lake, in the invention and the perfection of a self-justifying typesetting machine. Isaac Risley lives in New York City.

Children:

iii. Ernest L., b. May 16, 1894.

302. Daniel L. Risley (Mary Jane (Lake) Risley, Daniel, John, Daniel, William, John). He was born June 25, 1860; he married, first, March 27, 1884, Annie Theresa, daughter of Albert and Emma J. (Souders) English (see p. 162), who was born March 31, 1862, and died February 3, 1904, by whom he had no children. He married, second, Anna Louisa Obertueffer. For several years, from about 1883 to 1889, he conducted a general store, and was postmaster at Pleasantville. About 1884 he entered the real estate business, and at one time, about 1900, he had thirty offices in the United States and England, and was perhaps the largest real estate operator in the world. He conceived the idea of developing the New Jersey pine lands in five-acre farms, and in this way founded Dorothy, Risley, Estelle, Thelma, McKee City, and Cardiff. During this period he owned the Pleasantville Press, then edited by Mr. G. H. Jenness. Later he developed Chicora, near Charleston, South Carolina, and was President of the Berkeley Railroad, which ran from Chicora to Monck's Corner, and connected with the Atlantic Coast Line. For several years he has lived in Denver, Colo., on account of his health.

Child:

i. Daniel Louis, b. Feb. 16, 1907.

303. Sarah Anna Risley (Mary Jane (Lake) Risley, Daniel, John, Daniel, William, John). She was born January 23, 1862. She was educated in the old Smith's Landing Public School in Pleasantville, which down to about 1880 was regarded as perhaps the best school in the county. In 1879 the uniform course of study for the county was adopted, and Miss Risley that year was a member of the first class to be graduated from the Atlantic County Public Schools. The next year she passed the examinations required for the diploma for what was called the Advanced Course. Earlier than this when only about fourteen years of age, she had passed the examinations prescribed for a first grade teacher's license, though of course too young to teach.

When twenty-one years old, Miss Risley went to New York to perfect herself in stenography, which she had previously studied by herself. For several years she worked as a stenographer and private secretary with several firms, for a time being Private Secretary to the President of the Life Insurance Company of Virginia, and for fourteen years in the office of a large commercial establishment.

During this period, Miss Risley's favorite recreation was bicycling, she being one of the first women in New York City to ride. In this way she became familiar with a large part of the country near New York, and other sections in which she lived.

In 1904 Miss Risley returned to Pleasantville and engaged with her brother in the real estate business, in which occupation she is still engaged.

About this time she became deeply interested in historical and genealogical studies, especially in the history of her native town and in the genealogy of the old families of old Egg Harbor. Her work on the Risley, Lake, Ireland, Price, Conover, Adams, and other Atlantic County families has made her unusually familiar with the origin and history of the early settlers—and with their family relationships. It is safe to say that without her services in collecting data, this genealogy of the Lake family could not have been written, and her book on the Risley family is eagerly awaited by all interested in local history and genealogy.

Miss Risley is a member of the D. A. R., by virtue of her descent from her great-grandfather, Jeremiah Risley, who served as a Lieutenant in Capt. Joseph Covenover's company, New Jersey Militia, though she is also descended from Ensign John Adams, and privates Daniel Lake and Daniel Tilton. Miss Risley is a member of the Board of Managers of the General Lafayette Chapter, D. A. R.

From its organization, she has been active in the work of the Atlantic County Historical Society, in which she is much interested.

For convenience of reference, her lineage in a few of the families with which she is connected is appended.

He has dealt extensively in beach front real estate, and has amassed a large fortune.
Child:

318. Rachel Jane Young (Mary Ann (Bryant) Young, Sarah (Lake) Bryant, John, Daniel, William, John 1). She was born August 22, 1855, and married, February 24, 1871, Harry E., son of Joseph and Martha (Golding) Reed, of Oceanville, N. J., who was born October 12, 1847, and died May 18, 1899. She married, second, Lewis H. Lake. (See page 118.)

Children (by first husband):

ii. Clementina, b. Dec. 11, 1873; m., March 19, 1908, Leonard Mull.

iii. Jennie, b. Dec. 24, 1877; m., March 1, 1898, Charles D. Vennel, b. April 22, 1877, and had Reed, b. Dec. 20, 1902, and Jessie, b. Nov. 5, 1904.

319. Lewis Thompson Bryant (John Lake, Sarah (Lake) Bryant, John, Daniel, William, John 1). He was born July 26, 1874, and married, June 27, 1901, Mary, daughter of William Augustus and Victoria (Cade) Lee, who was born March 23, 1877. Lewis T. Bryant was graduated from the Pennsylvania Military College at Chester with the degree of C. E. in 1891. Later he studied law with Judge Allen B. Endicott, and was admitted to the bar in 1898. He was Captain of the Morris Guards, and during the Spanish War was commissioned Major, March 6, 1899. Later he was made Paymaster in the N. G. N. J. with the rank of Lieutenant-Colonel. He has also received other military honors. For several years he has served with distinction as Factory Inspector for the State of New Jersey. Altogether the Lake family may take pride in counting him among its members.

Children:

320. RALPH BRYANT (George Clifton, George Clifton, Sarah (Lake) Bryant, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born August 28, 1871, and died October 26, 1891. He married Alice, daughter of Roland and Ann Elizabeth (Vansant) Scull. He lived in Atlantic City.

Child:

i. NETTIE, m., Oct. 15, 1911, Charles, son of Charles and Kate (Webb) Johnson, and had Ralph Bryant, b. Oct. 7, 1914. He is a chauffeur and lives in Atlantic City.

321. FRANK E(DWIN) CHAMPION (Anna Margaret (Lake) Champion, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born June 6, 1858, and married Flora Esther, daughter of Nathaniel and Asenath (English) Risley, who was born January 31, 1860. Asenath English is a daughter of Peter and Esther (Collins) English. Frank E. Champion began life as an engineer on the West Jersey Railroad, running on the Somers Point branch. Later he entered the milk and ice cream business in Ocean City, and was for years engaged in the coal and ice business there. Later for a few years he was a dealer in automobiles in Pleasantville and Atlantic City. They now live in Ocean City.

Children:

i. BENJAMIN STEELMAN, b. Jan. 29, 1878; m., June 8, 1900, Mabel, daughter of Melvin and Harriet Emma Corson, b. Aug. 20, 1878, and had Miriam Estelle, b. Aug. 16, 1903, d. March 24, 1907. Benjamin S. Champion was graduated from Rutgers College in 1898, and lives in California.

ii. JESSE ALBERT, b. June 6, 1881; m., Jan. 3, 1903, Bessie Craft. They live in California.

iv. ELFREDA, b. Feb. 11, 1888; m., Nov. 2, 1907, Roland Dean, son of Thomas and Josephine (Brophy) Erskine, b. April 11, 1884, and had Roland Dean, b. May 30, 1909.
322. IRA SOMERS CHAMPION (Anna Margaret (Lake) Champion, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born July 27, 1866, and married, October 15, 1885, Florence May Cronin, who was born August 6, 1865. Ira S. Champion has for many years been engaged in the manufacture of ice cream in Ocean City.

Children:

i. ANNA MABEL, b. Sept. 14, 1886; m., Nov. 18, 1908, William Augustus, son of William Augustus and Martha Quigg, b. Oct. 27, 1883, and had Margaret Isabelle, b. Nov. 6, 1911. He is a chauffeur in Ocean City.

323. ELIZABETH LAKE ROBINSON (Frances Amelia (Lake) Robinson, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born April 11, 1858, and married, March 14, 1877, William B., son of Michael Edward and Mary (Gilmore) Lynch, who was born May 15, 1854. They live in Tacony, and conduct the Hotel Berkeley at 55th Street, Ocean City, during the summer.

Children:

324. CARRIE LORENA LAKE (Simon) Wesley, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born July 30, 1867, and married, June 26, 1889, the Rev. William Alexander Ferguson, a Methodist minister of the Philadelphia Conference.

Children:

i. Arthur Wesley, b. April 20, 1890.

iii. Marian Luella, b. Nov. 16, 1892.

v. James Ralph, b. Nov. 13, 1898.

viii. Helen Mildred, b. June 7, 1907; d. April 23, 1908.

325. The Rev. Wesley Elwell Lake (S(imon) Wesley, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born August 7, 1870, and married, May 4, 1898, Carrie Souder, daughter of the Rev. George and Alice (Parker) Reed, who was born June 30, 1873.

W. Elwell Lake was prepared for college at Pennington Seminary, from which he graduated in 1887, when not yet seventeen, with the Rusling medal for scholarship. During the years 1887 to 1889 he taught school in Linwood, N. J. He graduated from Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., in the Class of 1893, receiving the degree of B. A. multa cum laude, and being elected a member of the Phi Beta Kappa Society. During his college course, he took prizes aggregating over $600 in cash. He was a member of the Eclectic Society.

From 1893 to 1895 he taught Greek and Latin in the Wyoming Conference Seminary at Kingston, a suburb of Wilkes-Barre. In 1898 he entered the office of the Ocean City Association, where he remained until 1902, becoming Secretary of the Association on the death of his Uncle, the Rev. Ezra B. Lake, in 1900.

In 1902 he entered the ministry of the Methodist Episcopal Church, becoming a member of the New Jersey Conference, and passing his conference examinations with extraordinarily high averages. He has served churches in Mantua, Millville, and Camden, and at present is stationed in Princeton, N. J. His services in collecting data for this publication have been highly valuable.

Child:

i. Randolph Elwell, b. June 19, 1899.

325½. Harvey Young Lake (S. Wesley, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born at Petersburg,
216 GENEALOGY OF THE LAKE FAMILY

N. J., October 25, 1874. He received his early education in the public schools of Trenton, and later graduated from Pennington Seminary.

After graduating from the Seminary, he entered the office of the Ocean City Association, and in a short time became manager of the business of the Association, which at that time involved the control of all the public utilities of the city. After the death of the Rev. Ezra B. Lake, the Association disposed of the public utilities, and Mr. Lake turned his attention to the real estate business. In this he has been unusually successful. Perhaps his most notable achievement in this line was his successful development of the Ocean City Bayous, a large tract on the bay front.

Mr. Lake is a firm believer in athletics. He has for many years held the championship in tennis for South Jersey, and has personally arranged and seen through successfully a Tennis Tournament in Ocean City. As a member of the Board of Education of Ocean City, he takes peculiar interest in the athletics and physical training work of the schools. He is an accomplished musician, and is a member of many social organizations. Altogether he is one of the most active, energetic, and efficient men of affairs of his home city.

326. Simon Lake (Christopher J., 17 Simon, 6 John, 20 Daniel, 1 Daniel, 4 William, 2 John 1). He was born at Pleasantville, New Jersey, September 4, 1866. He married, June 9, 1890, Margaret, daughter of John and Catharine (Smith) Vogel, of Baltimore, who was born February 26, 1873.

He attended public schools at Philadelphia and Toms River, New Jersey, and afterward took a business course at Clinton Liberal Institute, Fort Plain, N. Y. In 1885 he was taken into partnership with his father in the foundry and machine business at Ocean City, N. J., having previously taken a course in his father's shops in practical molding, pattern making, and machine work; he also took a course in mechanical drawing at Franklin Institute, Philadelphia. In 1886 he invented a successful single screw steering gear; afterwards he invented a new mechanical movement for transmitting motion from one shaft to another. This was in the form of an involute spiral, the threads of which were formed on a concaved disc, the axis of the threads in all positions converging to a common center, which center was the axis of the driven shaft, the spiral threads meshed with a gear on the driven shaft. This he applied to a steering gear, simplifying its construction to such an extent that it could be manufactured very cheaply. He took this to Baltimore and started its manufacture there under the name of J. C. Lake & Son Co., which firm also manufactured the safety winder for use on oyster dredging vessels. The winder was the joint invention of father and son.

While living in Baltimore, he invented a capping machine for automatically soldering the caps on tin fruit cans after they had been filled. This invention functioned satisfactorily, and on its tests it capped cans at the rate of fifty thousand per day; but the cappers' union, which at that time was a very powerful organization in Baltimore, were receiving fifteen cents per hundred for capping two-pound cans by hand and refused to permit its use and threatened a general strike in any packers' establishment that permitted the machine to go in.

About this time, 1893, the United States Navy advertised for inventors to submit designs for a Submarine Torpedo Boat, and as this was a problem Mr. Lake had been studying for several years, he prepared a design and specifications and submitted them to the Government on June 3, 1893. This design was for a submarine torpedo boat with twin screws; the hull was double, the space between the inner and outer hulls being filled with water when the vessel was submerged. Other inside ballast tanks regulated the final trim and buoyancy of the vessel preparatory to submergence. Submergence when under way was to be attained by hydroplanes, two pairs being used, one pair forward and the other pair aft of the center of buoyancy and gravity of the vessel; devices were also provided to keep the vessel always on a level keel. These devices consisted of horizontal rudders at the bow and stern automatically or hand controlled, and also of automatically controlled movable weights to compensate for the movement forward or aft of the crew.

The features which afterwards attracted the most attention of the scientific journals of the period, however, were the bottom wheels and the diving compartment. The vessel was provided with wheels so that by giving her a slight negative buoyancy she would sink to the bottom itself and could then be propelled in any direction as an automobile is propelled on the surface of the earth in the upper air. A diving compartment was arranged in the vessel which permitted members of the crew to leave and re-enter the vessel readily while submerged. This consisted of a compartment in the bow of the vessel with a door which opened outwardly from its bottom. Communication between this diving compartment and the main hull was through an air lock with heavy pressure resisting doors that closed on rubber packing to make it air tight. Compressed air pipes led from compressed air reservoirs to both the diving compartment and the air lock. When the vessel was running submerged on the bottom, if it was desired to view the bottom or to rake articles up from the bottom or to pick up cables, work on wrecks, plant mines, etc., members of the crew would simply enter the diving compartment, close the heavy door, thus shutting them off from the living quarters of the boat where the air was always at normal pressure, and open the air valve to admit compressed air into the diving compartment until the air pressure equaled the water pressure outside, the water pressure of course varying with the depth of submergence. When the two pressures became equal, the bottom door could then be opened and no water would enter the vessel. The crew, however, could on donning diving suits readily step out on the bottom and roam about the vessel anywhere within the length of their air hose.

By using the air lock, members of the crew could readily pass in and out of the diving compartment without reducing the air pressure in the diving compartment itself, even while the diving door remained open and the divers were outside. It was this feature of the boat which excited the most skepticism about the "Lake Submarine" when it was first proposed. And even at the present time (1915), many who have never seen how simple the operation is can hardly believe it possible. Yet the device is now in common use in several navies of the world, and has been used extensively, and probably will be used even more extensively, in various lines of commercial work.

The Trial Board considered the plans, and Admiral Matthews some years afterwards informed Mr. Lake that four out of the five members of the Board thought his plans entirely practical. But as Mr. Lake did not offer to build (merely submitting designs giving the Government the privilege of building) and as another company did offer to build and guaranteed performance, they finally decided to give a contract to the Holland Torpedo Boat Company on their guarantee of performance. This guarantee of performance was destined never to be fulfilled. They started in 1894 to build the "Plunger," the Government making payments as the work on the boat progressed. Her construction dragged along until 1900, when she was abandoned, never having been submerged except once when she accidentally sank at the dock.

Mr. Lake in the meantime decided to build a small vessel to demonstrate the practicability of his plans. In 1894 he went to New York and tried to interest capital in his schemes, but they were considered too revolutionary. Often in describing his vessel, when Mr. Lake told how a door could be opened and no water enter the vessel, a look of terror came into the eyes of the financier, who would reach out and press a button; whereupon his clerk would call his attention to an important engagement, thus terminating the interview. After spending six months in trying to interest New York capital, he went down to Atlantic Highlands, N. J. There with the financial assistance of his aunt, his father's sister, Mrs. Anna M. Champion, he constructed largely with his own hands a crude coffin-shaped craft of wood only fourteen feet long to prove that his theories of wheeling along over the bottom and opening a door under water were entirely practicable. This boat he called the "Argonaut Jr." It was completed in 1894, and he made numerous submerged trials with it in the summer of 1895 in New York Bay off Atlantic Highlands, N. J. At times he was accompanied by Mr. S. T. Champion, and by his son, Barton F. Champion. Their trials proved the entire practicability of his plans.

As the result of these trials, sufficient capital was raised to build a larger demonstrating vessel. This vessel was 36 feet long, and was called the "Argonaut." She became famous as the first entirely successful submarine vessel. She was the first submarine to be fitted with an internal combustion engine, and was the first submarine vessel that was ever operated successfully in the open sea and on the bottom of the ocean. Her success brought a congratulatory cable from Jules Verne, the celebrated French author of "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea," who predicted that "her conspicuous success" would "push on underwater navigation all over the world," and said "the next great war may be largely a contest between submarine boats," a prediction that seems likely to come true, as submarines are now taking the most prominent part in the great war going on across the sea.
The "Argonaut" was run hundreds of miles on the bottom of the Chesapeake Bay and on the Atlantic Ocean, and was tested out in all sorts of weather and over all kinds of bottom. Finally she was brought to New York and enlarged and a shipshaped buoyant superstructure added. This shipshaped buoyant superstructure of light plating has now been adopted by all governments.

Further experiments were made with the "Argonaut" in Long Island Sound in locating and recovering cargoes from sunken vessels. A number of sunken vessels were found, and a good profit made from the recovery of their cargoes. Mr. Lake was busily engaged in this line of work when he received a telegram from the late Senator Hale, then Chairman of the Senate Naval Committee, asking him to come to Washington. He did so, and the Senator asked him if he would submit plans to the Government for a submarine torpedo boat. He was then asked to see the Naval Board on Construction, and they also requested that he prepare plans. This he did, and submitted them on June 20, 1901. The Board on Construction was composed of Admirals Melville, O'Neil, Bradford, Bowles, and Captain Sigsby. They all congratulated him on his plans as being superior to anything that had yet been proposed either here in the United States or abroad. They said the type then in the possession of the Navy (the Holland type) was not satisfactory. It should be said that after the "Plunger" was found to be a failure, the Holland Company had brought out a simpler form of vessel with internal combustion engines, and had substituted her for the "Plunger." Although she was much smaller and would fulfill hardly any of the guarantees made for the "Plunger," yet they had succeeded in getting other appropriations through Congress specifying "Holland boats exclusively." The Board said that since Congress had specified Holland boats, the Navy's hands were tied; they suggested, however, that if he or his friends could build at their own expense the medium sized boat for which he had submitted plans, and if it worked as satisfactorily as they believed it would, they would recommend its purchase and the adoption of the type for the United States Navy. To make a long story short, Mr. Lake organized the Lake Torpedo Boat Company and did build the vessel known as the "Protector." She was built at Bridgeport, Conn., in 1901 and 1902. She was successful from the first. Ex-President Taft, then Secretary of War, appointed a Board headed by Major, now General Arthur Murray, to try her out, and this Board recommended the purchase of five of them at once for Coast Defense of important harbors and the defense of coast cities. Mr. Taft sent a recommendation to Congress for her purchase, as did the Chief of Staff, General Chaffee. The Senate voted to purchase her for $250,000, but her purchase was defeated in the House. Mr. Lake states that he heard one member of Congress accuse another member of intention to defeat the bill for her purchase in the interest of the Holland Company. This member (not now in Congress), who was the Chairman of the sub-committee that had charge of the bill, has recently been found guilty of defrauding the Government in other respects and has been sentenced to imprisonment.

Shortly after this, war was declared between Japan and Russia. Representatives of both Governments examined the "Protector," and she was finally purchased by Russia with the understanding that she would be paid for if she functioned satisfactorily and fulfilled Mr. Lake's claims as to her performance. She was shipped to Russia and tried out in the Gulf of Finland; her trials were satisfactory and proved her superior to all other types. She was shipped on specially designed cars 6,000 miles overland across Siberia to Vladivostock, and went into commission just before the close of the Russian war. She was the only submarine in commission in that war.

The Russian Government did not want it to become known that Mr. Lake was there advising them in regard to submarines; so on his way to St. Petersburg he was met at Paris by the Russian Ambassador, who requested him to go incognito and gave him passports made out in the name of E. Simons, by which name he was known in Russia to all except the highest officers during the period of the war. The Government gave him room in the Arsenal grounds at Libau, where he erected works known as the "Esimons Zvrode," which translated means the "E. Simons Works." Here were assembled five other submarines during the war. These were tested out in the Baltic Sea, and four of them were also shipped across Siberia to Vladivostock. They made by far the largest and heaviest shipments that had ever been made by rail up to that time; the boats stripped of their batteries and parts of machinery weighed 130 tons each. After the war additional orders were given, and Mr. Lake moved the plant to St. Petersburg, Russia, and constructed there four of the largest and most powerful submarines that had been built up to that time. The success of his boats in Russia secured for him orders also in Austria, for which country he built two vessels at Pola on the Adriatic Sea.

To enable him to handle this large business, he opened technical offices in Berlin, Germany, and lived there two years with his family, afterwards moving them to London, where they also resided for a year.

Germany and Italy were then just going in for submarine vessels; their first boats failed to function satisfactorily, and Mr. Lake was called into consultation by the great firm of Krupp, who wished to make a contract with him for his services as consulting engineer and to secure the right to build his type of vessel. He was able to show them how to make their boat function satisfactorily, and Germany now has a number of vessels built on the Lake principles.

He was also called to Italy, and sat for three days with a Commission in Rome appointed by the Italian Minister of Marine. He was able also to advise them how to overcome the difficulties they were having with their first boats; they have also adopted the hydroplane control, the double hull, and buoyant superstructure of the Lake type.

After Russia had tried out the principles of the Lake type in competition with others, they wished Mr. Lake to remain with them and build up, as some of the officers expressed it, "a submarine navy." The Government consequently offered the ground, and a proposition was made to advance 5,000,000 roubles to build the works and finance the business if Mr. Lake would remain to supervise the work. He, however, had a desire to see his work recognized by his own country; consequently he returned to America in 1910 to establish a shipyard where he had purchased land for his Company at Bridgeport, Conn. His Company has large orders for submarines from the United States Government, and is now (April, 1915) building five submarines at the plant at Bridgeport, Conn., and two at Los Angeles, California. The Government is also building one at Portsmouth Navy Yard from the Company's plans, for which they pay the Lake Company a royalty.

The Lake boats have always functioned well as submarine boats, and all modern submarine boats contain features invented by Mr. Lake. But, like many pioneers in invention, he has not received the reward he is entitled to, because it was impossible to find capitalists who had sufficient faith in his early and basic inventions to enable him to protect these inventions abroad. As a consequence foreign Governments are free to use his ideas without compensation.

He believes that the destiny of the submarine is to bring about permanent peace between maritime nations, and has recently published several articles in the leading magazines which tend to show that no nation can invade another where submarines exist, and also that all commerce on the high seas must cease between nations at war if both nations possess submarines in sufficient numbers. The logical conclusion, if this is true, is that war between maritime powers must cease, as no maritime nation can afford for long to have its commerce shut off altogether.

Mr. Lake has taken out nearly 100 United States patents, the majority of which relate either to submarine torpedo boats, or to submarine apparatus for use in the commercial field. He states that he believes the second kind of apparatus to be as important to the commercial world as the submarine torpedo boat is to the naval world.

Mr. Lake has also taken out a number of patents and made a number of very satisfactory tests on a new type of heat engine which he believes will obviate the difficulties with the type of internal combustion engine heretofore used in submarine boats.
This engine, he states, will be used for both marine and stationary purposes. Many other inventions in the field of mechanics he has made, but he has been kept so busy with his contracts with various governments throughout the world that he has not had the opportunity to develop them.

Mr. Lake is a member of the following scientific and tech­ ical associations: The Institution of Naval Architects of England; the Schiffbautechnische Gesellschaft zu Berlin, Germany; the Society of Naval Architects and Marine Engineers, New York; and of the American Society of Mechanical Engineers,
New York. He is also an associate member of the American Society of Naval Engineers of Washington, D. C.

Mr. Lake is a member of the Sons of the American Revolution, the Masons, Knights of Pythias, and the Heptasophs. His clubs are the Engineers of New York, the Algonquin, and Seaside Outing of Bridgeport.

He is a member of the Board of Finance and President of the Milford Home Defense Association of the Town of Milford, Conn., where he resides, having bought the old homestead of Judge Fowler in 1906. This he remodeled and has furnished largely with furniture and pictures—including several old masters—collected during his residence and travels abroad.

He is President of the Lake Submarine Company, the Lake Heat Engine Company, and Vice-President and Consulting Engineer of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, all of which companies he organized.

He is much interested in the genealogy of the family, and has prepared a unique chart showing his paternal and maternal lines of descent with collateral branches as far as known, which he calls “Blood” Rivers and Streams in the composition of a “Lake.” He has been most interested in the publication of this genealogy, and the compilers wish to acknowledge his generous aid and most valuable counsel in innumerable particulars, especially perhaps in connection with the coat of arms. He alone has made it possible to include this in our book.

   ii. THOMAS E., b. Nov. 8, 1892; m. Gertrude Eager, and had Miriam Gladys, b. April 30, 1910; and Rodman Simon, b. Nov. 1, 1914. Mr. Lake is with his father at Bridgeport in his work.
   iii. MARGARET VOGEL, b. Jan. 24, 1895.

327. ARLETTA LAKE (Christopher, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). She was born July 17, 1868, and married, June 17, 1891, Clement Eugene, son of Clement Cordery and Susan Matilda (Dennis) Adams, who was born August 11, 1866. Clement Eugene Adams is employed in the office of the Lake Submarine Torpedo Boat Company, and lives in Bridgeport, Conn.

Children:

i. HAROLD EUGENE, b. Feb. 8, 1894. He is a student in Middlebury College.
   ii. MARGARET ARLETTA, b. March 18, 1898.
   iii. JOHN CHRISTOPHER, b. May 4, 1906.

328. HARRY B. ADAMS (Sarah Ellen (Lake) Adams, Simon, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John). He was born at Pleasantville April 14, 1869, and died April 5, 1900. He married Anna Gibb. Harry B. Adams lived in Ocean City, where he was at one time Borough Clerk. He was in the real estate and insurance business, and for a time published the Home News, a weekly newspaper. In the last years of his life he was engaged with the Rev. Ezra B. Lake, his uncle, in promoting a patent ball-bearing device invented by the latter. Harry B. Adams was a young man of unusual ability, and his untimely death brought to an abrupt close a career full of promise.

373. (NATHANIEL) ELTON RISLEY (Asenath (English) Risley, Peter, Mary (Lake) English, Daniel, William, John). He was born April 6, 1871, and June 23, 1909, he married Josephine Essick. Mr. Risley was educated in the Smith's Landing Public School at Pleasantville. He early manifested a strong taste and a remarkable aptitude for mechanical matters, and abandoning the oyster business in which he had been engaged with his father and brothers, he became associated with Capt. Amariah Lake in the development of his amusement devices. But his father having purchased a controlling interest in a hydraulic dredge, he, on his father's earnest solicitation, gave his attention to the development of that enterprise, in which he has met conspicuous success. The firm of N. Risley & Sons later merged with the Hill Dredging Co.

Hydraulic dredging, usually carried on for the reclamation of low land or for the deepening of waterways, consists in pumping, by means of a centrifugal pump located on a floating barge, mingled sand and water through pipes, sometimes for distances as great as two miles. The average cost of filling in low lands on the New Jersey coast with sand taken from the thoroughfares back of the beaches is about ten cents a cubic yard.

Much of the more recent development of the New Jersey coast resorts, as well as the building of the inland waterway system of the State has been made possible only by this invention. The Hill Dredging Company, with which Mr. Risley is connected as General Manager, has worked at Atlantic City, Ventnor, Margate, Ocean City, Sea Isle City, Avalon, Stone Harbor, Wildwood, Cape May, Brigantine, and Barnegat—all in New Jersey, and at Fredericksburg, Washington, Old Point Comfort, and points on the Chesapeake Bay.

Mr. Risley has made many improvements in machinery for hydraulic dredging, some of which he has had patented. He was the first to devise means for the propulsion of the dredges by their own power. This he accomplished by pumping the water through a reducer in order to give it greater velocity, the reducer being directed from side to side to serve as a rudder.
He invented a device for measuring the percentage of sand in the mixture as it is being pumped.

Mr. Risley is also engaged in the manufacture of the pipe used in hydraulic dredging, the shop for the purpose being in Woodbury, N. J.

374. Freeman Hendrick Risley (Asenath (English) Risley, Peter, Mary (Lake) English, Daniel, William, John 1). 383. Arthur Adams (Marietta (English) Adams, Peter, Mary (Lake) English, Daniel, William, John). He was born May 12, 1881, and married, June 22, 1910, Emma, daughter of Hiram and Mary Jane (Jackaway) Steelman, who was born January 31, 1880. Hiram Steelman was a direct descendant of James Steelman, the founder of the Steelman family. Mrs. Adams is much interested in genealogy, and has collected much data relating to the Steelman and allied families. She is a member of the New Jersey Historical Society, the U. S. Daughters of 1812, General Lafayette Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, and the Colonial Dames. Arthur Adams graduated from Rutgers College with the degree of B. A. in 1902. He studied English in the Graduate School of Yale University, receiving the degree of M. A. in 1903, and that of Ph.D. in 1905. After teaching a year in the University of Colorado, he came to Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., where he is Professor of English. He is also a clergyman in the Episcopal Church, having been ordained priest May 13, 1909. Mr. Adams has written books and articles on subjects connected with English scholarship, and on genealogical subjects. He is a member of various learned, social, and fraternal societies, including the American Philological Society, the Modern Language Association of America, and the Phi Beta Kappa Society; he takes especial interest, perhaps, in the hereditary and patriotic societies of which he is a member. Among these may be mentioned the Society of Colonial Wars, the Order of Founders and Patriots, the Society of Scions of Colonial Cavaliers, the Imperial Order of the Yellow Rose, the Order of Washington, and the Sons of the American Revolution.

[Steelman Lineage.—James Steelman is said to have been a Swede, because he is mentioned among Rudman's list of Swedes attached to Old Swedes' Church in Philadelphia. We find mention of him as early as 1693 at Great Egg Harbor. His first wife was Susanna Toy, a daughter of Christiana Toy, who lived in Cinnaminson Township, Burlington Co. James Steelman died in 1734, and is called "Gentleman" in his will. He served as a Justice of the County Court for some years.

Andrew 2 Steelman, according to Rudman's list, was born about 1690. His wife's name was Judith. He owned large tracts of land, including much on Absecon Beach. He died young in 1737.

Frederick 3 Steelman married Sarah, daughter of James and Abigail (Adams) Somers by license of March 5, 1740. James Somers was a son of John and Hannah (Hodgkins) Somers, and Abigail Adams was a daughter of Jeremiah and Rebecca Adams. Jeremiah was a son of John and a grandson of Jeremy Adams, both of Hartford, Conn. Frederick was a farmer and merchant at what is now Bakersville. He served in the Revolution, and died in 1778.

James 4 Steelman was born about 1750. He married, by license of December 23, 1772, Sophia, daughter of John Couenover. John Couenover was a son of John, and a grandson of John, and a great-grandson of Peter Couenover (Cowenhoven), who came from Long Island in 1695 and settled in Great Egg Harbor. Peter was a son of Peter Wolfertse, and a grandson of Wolfert Gerretse van Couwenhoven, who came from Holland about 1630. Frederick, father of James Steelman, left to him large tracts of land at Gravelly Run, near May's Landing, on which he settled and operated saw mills. He was a soldier in the Revolution. He died October 17, 1817, and Sophia died March 12, 1823.

Frederick 5 Steelman was born February 21, 1778, and died
September 22, 1828. He married, March 7, 1797, Experience, daughter of Frederick and Naomi (Edwards) Steelman. This Frederick was a son of Andrew and Hannah (Ingersoll) Steelman, a grandson of Andrew and Judith Steelman, and a great-grandson of James Steelman. Experience was born May 19, 1775, and died October 13, 1861. Frederick was a soldier in the War of 1812.

James 6 Steelman was born October 6, 1803, and died December 18, 1893. He married, July 3, 1826, Esther, daughter of Jesse and Phoebe (Shane) Barrett, who was born November 7, 1806, and died November 3, 1876. Jesse Barrett was a son of Elijah Barrett, who was an Ensign in the Revolution. James Steelman lived at Gravelly Run, and was a constable for many years.

Hiram 7 Steelman was born June 25, 1844, and died October 23, 1914. He married, February 19, 1877, Mary Jane, daughter of Capt. Hosea Casto and Sarah (Surran) Jackaway, who was born October 15, 1857, and died May 23, 1912. Hiram Steelman in early life followed the sea; in later years he was in business in Ocean City. He served long as a member of the Common Council while Ocean City was still a borough. Hiram Steelman was the father of Emma Steelman, wife of Arthur Adams.

409. Laura Blake (Mark Wesley, Hannah Ann (Lake) Blake, Daniel, John, Daniel, Daniel, William, John) She was born April 4, 1874, and June 24, 1903, she married Arthur Carradoc Morgan, M.D.

Dr. Morgan was born November 14, 1869, in Lost Creek, Pa. His parents, John William and Margaret Morgan, emigrated from Wales many years before his birth.

After receiving a common school education, he began life as a slate-picker in the coal breakers. Soon, however, he was transferred to the office of the colliery, where he learned telegraphy. He entered the service of the Lehigh Valley Railroad as a telegraph operator, and for several years served that corporation in various capacities. The year 1893, because of ill health, was spent in the West; on returning East he resumed his work with the railroad. His thoughts having been turned to the study of medicine, he resigned his position, and entered the Medico-Chirurgical College of Philadelphia. In due course he graduated with honors, taking the Anders medal in his senior year. He served a term as an interne in the Philadelphia General Hospital.

His aptness to teach, as well as his aptness in learning, having been discovered by his instructors in the Medico-Chirurgical College, he was made an Instructor in the Department of Medicine. At present he is an Associate Professor in that Department, and has served as sub-dean. For seven years he has been a Visiting Physician to the Tuberculosis Department of the Philadelphia General Hospital, and has built up also a large general practice.

Dr. Morgan is a member of the county and State medical societies, and is a Fellow of the American Medical Association. He has written considerably for the technical journals of his profession.

The Alumni Association of his Alma Mater has recognized his worth, his position in the medical world, and his loyalty to his College in electing him their President—an honor appreciated as highly as it is richly merited.

Dr. Morgan is an active member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and has for eleven years been Treasurer and Trustee of the East Park M. E. Church. He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, and of many other social organizations. He has shown much interest in the annual reunions of the Lake family, and in the preparation of this genealogy. He is an adopted son, of whom the family may well be proud.

A WAR TIME LETTER OF THE HON. SIMON LAKE'S

Jan. 19, 1863,

Thursday 11 o'clock P. M.

Left Phila. for Washington. It being night, I was deprived of the opportunity of viewing the country. As the iron horse drew us along at a rapid pace, my thoughts were turned upon the scenes within the cars, where the light from the dim lamps threw a somber hue over the whole group, with a feeling of vague danger of a night collision. I began to contemplate the strange company in which I found myself. The question arose in my mind where could such a mass of humanity be moving? Were it possible that any great portion of it could be on the same errand that I was. But as I sat and listened to the different conversations of those around me, I soon discovered that many of them were upon a much sadder mission than that of my own. Fathers were on their way to the army in search of the dead bodies of their sons who had been wounded on the battlefield and since died from the effects of their wounds. Mothers who were in search of their sons who were sick in hospitals far from home and kindred, greatly depressed, with an indescribable feeling of fear that they might find their sons already in the cold embrace of death.

As I sat musing upon those sad thoughts that were rending the hearts of my fellow travellers, the gentle goddess of sleep stole so gently over my senses that I was soon locked in her embrace. How long I was permitted to enjoy that state of unconsciousness, I know not, but was awakened by the haw-hawing of the teamsters driving the car through the city of Baltimore. After getting through the city and exchanging our horse for the locomotive, we were once more on our way with almost lightning speed, nothing happening to impede our onward rush, until within seven miles of Washington, where there was a halt; and we soon learned that there had been a collision which resulted in smashing up two freight cars and the loss of about fifty lives.
The accident delaying us about two hours, we arrived in Washington Friday morning the 30th, about nine o’clock. I immediately set about getting my pass for the army and after a day of the hardest toil, I succeeded in securing a pass for myself and transportation papers for the boxes I had for the soldiers.

In the evening I visited our friend Nixon at his room, and spent an hour or two very agreeably, after which I retired for the night.

Early Saturday morning, I started for Harwood Hospital, to visit Clement Adams who was there sick. After riding in the city cars as far as they went in that direction, I took it on foot for about one mile and a half through snow, mud, and mire. Arrived there and found Mr. Adams very much improved in health. After viewing a number of wards in the hospital I found that there was every means for the comfort of the sick and wounded that the circumstances would warrant and the inmates seemed to feel that they were as well taken care of as if they were at home amongst their kindred. Mr. Adams told me that Father and Mother could not have nursed him better, and he felt that it was the next place to home.

Having accomplished the object of my visit, started back for Washtn, and had the good fortune to be overtaken by a colored “genman” driving a furniture car by two mules, whom I accosted with the humble request “Please give me a ride to the city,” which request was very politely granted. On our way to the city I had a very interesting conversation with him on the subject of the negro’s fighting; he stating that he knew that there were a large number of colored men in the city of Washington that would fight for the Union until the last, provided they were permitted to do so.

Arrived in Washington, I set about getting the boxes I had in charge for the soldiers, conveyed through the city to the steamboat landing on the Potomac. After having our passes examined and acknowledged all right, there was a general rush for the boat; all hands on board, the signal was given and the boat gently glided from her pier into the stream and we soon were on our way down the beautiful Potomac. It being a very cold and blustery day, I kept within the cabin, consequently had but a very limited view of the Potomac, but had the better opportunity of studying the views of my fellow travelers on the all-absorbing question of the war, which was freely discussed.
There seemed to be a diversity of opinions in relation to the con­ducting of the war. But the opinion seemed strongly to prevail that the war must not cease until the rebellion was fully crushed.

After enduring the shuffling and jamming of a crowded cabin for about five hours, we arrived at Aquia Creek about dusk. Our fare and lodging I gave you a short history of before.

Sunday morning, Feb. 1st, after having satisfied myself that I would not get on to Falmouth in the morning train, I had but little to occupy my mind but to contemplate the sad effect of this ter­rible "intestine war." The man who has been reared in sight of the church spires and who has been taught, from his earliest recollections, to regard the desecration of the Sabbath as a great evil, cannot contemplate the scenes by which he is here sur­rounded, without feelings of the most painful nature. There is apparently no regard had for the Holy Day. There is one con­tinued rush at unloading vessels and loading of cars, the build­ing of warehouses and soldiers' barracks. All seem to have for­gotten the command, "Thou shalt keep the Sabbath day holy."

As the time drew near for the next train for Falmouth to leave, there was another grand rush to and fro amongst the great crowd that was waiting to get forward, and asking many ques­tions of those who seemed to have learned perfectly how not to do it, we at last got upon the train and started for Falmouth, when we soon began to see the dreadful fruits of Secession. The country as far as the eye could see, as we passed up the road, was dotted with the different camps of the Union Army, which with the Rebel Army, has entirely denuded the country of all its timber and burnt all the fences and many of the houses. The former inhabitants have fled from their once peaceful homes and the whole country presented one vast field of desolation, the Union soldiers in many places digging up the stumps for camp fires.

As the train drew near to the Potomac Creek, the conversa­tion of many who had crossed the slender structure, turned upon the danger of crossing that fearful chasm, some remarking that they had rather run the risk of a battle than to cross upon that frail structure reared some 150 feet above the water. The Rebels having burnt the original bridge, it was rebuilt by the Union forces with small pine poles with the bark on. After crossing in safety we passed on through deep cuts and high em­bankments until we reached Falmouth, when I immediately set out on foot through mud and snow for the camp of the 25th New Jersey, which lay about one mile and a half from Falmouth Station.

On arriving in camp I was received with the most cordial and enthusiastic greeting by long absent relatives and friends, who seemed almost over-joyed to meet once more an old friend from home. After passing congratulations with each other, Captain Champion procured each of us a horse and we started for the Rappahannock in front of Fredericksburg at which place we soon arrived. Captain Champion pointed out to me where they crossed the river and the street of Fredericksburg which they marched through as they went out to battle and the place where they were ordered to charge the rebel batteries. And here he related how they went at it double quick until they were within about thirty yards of the Rebels when the order to fire was given by the Rebels, the command to fall (as by a Providential appointment) was given which they obeyed and held that position for some two hours. They could distinctly hear the Rebel command to shoot low. It being in the night and the Rebels ceasing to fire, they were commanded to fall back which they did in order.

After viewing the batteries our soldiers had erected in front of Fredericksburg for the purpose of bombarding the city, we started for the 4th and 23rd N. J. Regiments which were encamped about five miles from Falmouth. On the journey we passed many regimental grave yards where they had buried many of their brave comrades. Some of them had taken considerable pains to build a brush fence around the graves, whilst others have left the graves of their comrades unprotected and the traveler rides over the new made graves with as little thought as if they contained nought but some beast.

The road was strewn with many dead horses; we frequently passed as many as five in a place. We arrived at the 23d Regiment where we found many old friends who were generally in good health and spirits except Bro. Furry who had been afflicted with the rheumatism for some time. After bidding our old friends goodbye, we started for the 4th Regiment where we found Bro. E. Wright in fine health and much pleased to see a brother from old Pleasantville Division. It beginning to grow dark and we having some four miles to ride over a road both muddy and rough, we spent but little time in talking over old times, but started off at double quick over hill and dale through pine nurseries which had been cut down about breast high and through deserted cornfields sometimes taking the road which was generally up to the horses' knees in mud. And when we arrived in camp at the 25th, it was very dark and we were well bespattered with mud. After getting clear of our horses we turned into Capt. Champion's, Lieut. Risley's, and Lake's mud domicile where we found very comfortable quarters under ground where we spent the evening very agreeably in listening to our old friends recounting many of the incidents happening in their history since they left home and in answering many questions they asked about their loved ones at home.

I will here give you a description of their tent. A hole six by twelve feet, dug about three feet deep, logged up about five feet high with the clay piled up on the outside to the top, with their shelter tents stretched over the top for a roof, with small pine poles laid across one end for two berths, one above the other, with pine boughs for feathers and a small stove. Thus you have a general description of the great majority of the soldiers' quarters, (by substituting fireplace for stove,) only upon a larger scale, the soldiers' tent only accommodating two. There are many instances where they have not such comfortable quarters, but it is entirely owing to their own negligence, many of them throwing their blankets on the ground and stretching their shelter tents over themselves.

Monday morning, February 2d, arose very hoarse with a Virginia cough. After breakfast at the roll call, received what money the soldiers saw proper to send home. After which in company with Brother Disbrow, visited the ambulance corps where Mr. Ackley was in charge of one of them, who showed me through the corps and explained the mode of conveying the wounded from the battle field. When Bro. Disbrow being on guard duty that day, had to leave, the Chaplain gave me an introduction to their Colonel who gave me a very strong invitation to dine with them which invitation I could not well deny. I found both the Chaplain and Colonel men of staunch religious and temperance principles,—men who look upon the moral and physical interest of those whom they have been called upon to preside over with a Godly fear, the Colonel prohibiting all gambling within the regiment and promptly punishing any infraction of this law on that subject.

In the afternoon in company with Lieut. James G. Lake of Smith's Landing and Mr. Hughes of Cape May, we started for the 7th New Jersey which lay about one mile and a half to the northeast of the 15th. On our way we passed a number of Regimental camps with large numbers of horses tied in circles with no shelter, the cold, biting blast sweeping them with its unbroken power, with no bedding but the clay tramped to a mortar, 4 or 5 inches deep, this severe exposure causing their hair to stand on end and many of their bones to lie bleaching on old Virginia's historic soil.

Arriving at the 7th, we found several of the Risleyville boys in good health and fine spirits. Amongst the number was Bro. Ang, who said his health was never better.

After spending perhaps an hour in friendly chat with our old friends, we turned our faces toward the 25th. On our way back I turned from my two friends a little to the left and ascending an elevation somewhat higher than the surrounding country, where I had an extensive view of the Grand Army of the Potomac. Away toward the setting sun lay the city of Fredericksburg. The beautiful valley of the Rappahannock stretched to the right and left as far as the eye could reach, and as I turned my eyes from Fredericksburg to the right, until I had scanned the whole circle, there was one unbroken chain of encampments, excepting on the South side of the Rappahannock.

And as I stood and contemplated this grand and awful scene, its grandeur greatly enhanced by the golden hues of the declining rays of the wintry sun peering through a light and yellow mist, its solemnity greatly intensified by the recollection that I was surrounded by new made graves, and when I turned my eye toward the battlefield of Fredericksburg where lay many hundreds of my fellow citizens in the cold embrace of death, the question arose in my mind, is the cause of the Union which this great and mighty army is called to maintain, worthy of this great outlay of treasure and awful sacrifice of human life?

To answer this question satisfactorily, there are three prominent points that one must comprehend. First—the cost of the Union; Second—the great benefits that have been derived from the union; Third—the benefits that are likely to be derived from the perpetuity of the Union.

In regard to the first proposition, I would call your attention to the battlefield of Princeton on that memorable day when the Father of his Country stood on Princeton Heights with the weight of a young and rising Empire hanging upon his mind. There he saw his veteran troops give way before vastly superior numbers, and feeling that the day had come when he must fulfil the pledge he had made to his country that he would achieve her liberty or perish in the attempt, striving in vain to rally his scattered troops, he reined up his steed and turning his face to the enemy, sitting on his white charger in mute eloquence as a last appeal to his veteran troops of many battles, to rally once more for the establishing of our glorious Union. The appeal was not made in vain; they rallied once more around their loved Chieftain and rushed on to victory, dispersing the minions of the haughty tyrant that was striving to hold us in subjection. Further as we trace the bloody tracks of the army of Washington as they cross the frozen Delaware and think of the many ten thousands, the suffering and privations that they endured for the establishing of our Independence, we become prepared to estimate the first cost of our Union.

Second—The benefits flowing from the Union. Prior to the struggle for our Independence, we behold a number of weak and feeble colonies struggling for the mere privilege to exist, but after gaining their independence and forming our glorious Union, we behold them making the most rapid strides toward national greatness. From a weak and feeble few, we soon became one of the mighty nations, commanding respect from all nations.

Third—The benefits to be derived from the perpetuity of the Union, are a continuation of our past greatness and a further development of the progress of a free people in the formation of the public sentiment of the world in behalf of the right and the ability of man for self-government. Seeing what a great struggle our Union costs, and the great benefits resulting from it, and untold blessings that flow from its perpetuity, I am prepared to answer my question. I feel as though I should be one of the basest of the base offsprings of a noble and patriotic ancestry, if I were to say that anything short of the last man and last dollar, would be too dear a price for the maintenance of our glorious Union.

SIMON LAKE.
I was born January 19, 1845. My grandfather, John Lake, died when I was ten years old in 1855. He was born in 1773; hence we reach back to before the Revolutionary War. In his last sickness when he was fast sinking, they told me to go down to Jonathan's Thoroughfare to where Uncle David was canning oysters and tell him to hurry home, for grandfather was dying. The memory of the old farm yard, the cattle, the fences, are all vividly in my mind; the walk was a long one for a lone boy of ten years. Grandfather was a tall spare man with bent form, but was muscular and had the representative dark swarthy complexion of the Lake family; while his brother Daniel was fleshy and light complexioned, weighing over 300 pounds.

Grandfather was doubtless one of the great characters of Lake town, as Pleasantville was formerly called. He was easily the greatest factor in the Lake history for a half century. His eldest brother, Christopher, had removed from the Shore; his brother Daniel lived on the Lake homestead a mile below father's house, where as an English gentleman he had been a great Squire and Surveyor, perhaps one of the greatest authorities on titles next to Daniel Leeds for Atlantic County. Thus he lived and died at the age of 76, Grandfather visiting him joked him by saying get up and go help me ditch and you will be well.

Grandfather was a thorough man of affairs. For many years he was known as "Old John Lake" of Lake Town. He was the son of Daniel Lake and Sarah Lucas of Burlington Co.—one of the great family of Lucas—the daughter of Christopher Lucas and sister of Capt. Simon Lucas. She showed her strong will by naming her eldest son Christopher after her father, which brought trouble in the family when the second son whom they named Daniel demanded the Homestead; hence Christopher ran away from home and brought sorrow to the family. She also so influenced my grandfather with her greatness that he named my father after her brother Simon and Uncle Lucas after her. maiden name. Grandfather was made the executor of his father, Daniel Lake, in 1799, and was given a large tract of land by the same will adjoining the Ingersoll tract. It was a great task to be the executor of so large an estate and to have the care of so large a family, even including his youngest sister Asenath, who afterward became the mother of six children by Levi Collins of Port Republic and afterward of six children by her second husband, Paul Sooy. But in all his business life no suspicion ever attached to his administration. He had a notable family of children by which he lives tremendously to-day—I have vivid recollections of nearly all of them. In the cold year of 1857 (I think), we boys skated from father's back stoop over fences and ditches, thoroughfare, meadows, Lake's and Absecon bays to Aunt Armenia Leeds's on Absecon Beach. She was the wife of Andrew Leeds, and they had a fine home and owned a large tract of the Island. The ice was very thick, and we certainly had a great day; but the greatest of all was Aunt Armenia's sweet cake and mince and pumpkin pies. She was a lovely woman.

Daniel, born in 1803, died when I was about five years old; consequently I remember concerning him only my father's telling us of his elder brother's greatness, of which he never wearied. He was a business man of great ability, and had he lived to a proper age would doubtless have been a great leader; as it was, he left a great family, of whose achievements it would take a volume to tell. I should be delighted to tell of my love and delight in Aunt Hannah Ann, who married Capt. Uncle William Blake, at whose home in Port Republic we always found congenial quarters. She died at about the same age as her father, and left a notable family to call her blessed—Cousin Jesse, John T., Lewis S., Ezra A., Mary Jane, Anna Bella, all of precious memory, and Armenia, who married William G. Bartlett and who is now living at Atlantic City in her 85th year. She, however, removed to Philadelphia before I knew much of her. She has lived to show the strength of her Lake blood and stamina by giving to the world twelve strong robust sons and daughters; of course, we would not discount the manliness of her stalwart husband. The children of Daniel Lake, the 4th, would indeed fill a volume.

After Daniel, Grandfather had Aunt Margaret Tilton and Aunt Sally Bryant. With these and their children, we had great fellowship. I am tempted but must forbear writing about them. Then came my Father, Simon Lake, who to me was really a replica of Grandfather; he had the same large frame and round shoulders. He was nearly six feet tall, had a hand and foot twice the size of mine, an endurance never shrinking, and weighed 198 pounds. Simon Lake to me was the greatest man I ever knew. It would be hard to find a flaw in his character. I can conceive of no position of trust or confidence, kindliness, heroism, or wisdom in which he would not have proved to be one of Earth's noblest sons. His looks, his form, his manners, his inherent patriotic manliness always remind me of Honest Abe Lincoln.

Uncle Lucas and Uncle David were great strong men who were much in my early firmament as strong good men. Grandfather lives everywhere in Atlantic County. Daniel Lake Collins, and a large progeny, were the children of Grandfather's young sister Asenath. John Lake Bryant was the son of Aunt Sally Bryant of Atlantic City. Thus everywhere he still lives.

The sturdy character of Grandfather is seen in the marvelous founding and building of Ocean City by Simon Lake and his sons during the last thirty-five years.

I should like to write of his Christian character, but time will not permit, except to say that he had the same bold, unflinching character as Archbishop Arthur Lake in the fifteenth century and the Right Rev. John Lake, D.D., Bishop of Chichester, one of the seven bishops thrown into the Tower by King James in 1688. From all I can read, the Lakes have always been independent, conservative, steadfast. In England they were Church of England adherents. In America they have, like the early settlers everywhere, been leaders in all lines of moral reform and Christian work. Grandfather was born a Quaker and married Abbie Adams, a devout Quakeress, who lived and died a most loyal representative of its quiet teaching. Grandfather was independent, but never said a word or did an act unworthy the puritan character of his early church; and so far as I ever heard, he ever exemplified the most severe moral ideals. If others raised the price of potatoes he always refused, saying fifty cents was all a bushel of potatoes were worth. The story of his temperance work would fill a volume. He fought the Methodist minister who used tobacco or took his toddy. The Rev. Thos. T. Wilson, one of the early pastors, told me of his calling down the Rev. James F. Morrell in a public meeting where Mr. Morrell threw the meeting open for questions. Grandfather asked how a minister could urge others to be clean with the tobacco juice running from both corners of his mouth.

I must not write more, but I must say that Grandfather's orchard was probably the best in the county. Brother Wesley and I have said many times that, while we have traveled extensively, we have never seen its equal as to variety, quality, and vigorous growth.

How my thoughts cluster around the old homestead! It pains me to write so hastily about these precious old memories. How I should like to tell of the home life of Father and Mother, of the old Family Bible, the fireside tender reading of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" by father, the holy family altar, and the blessed quiet of the holy Sabbath! How I should like to tell of the talks with Uncle Lucas, of the beautiful character of Aunt Sally Ann Lake, and of the nobility of the Tilton family, of our play days with the Risleys, the Frambes, the Adams, the Blakes. How I would like to roam over the woods with the boys with camera in hand and tell the world of an ideal age, a veritable paradise, when men and women and children lived in peace and plenty, of the school days, the love matches, the ideal manhood when peace and plenty reigned, and of how the old world found here a place of liberty of conscience, and of good will until human experience shall be welded into a new age, a city of peace, light, and intelligence.
John Lake’s plantation comprised that portion of Pleasantville between Washington Ave. and Adams Ave. on the north side of Main St. back to the Fire Road, and on the south side of Main St. from Washington Ave. to Ingersoll St. half way to Atlantic City, including the greater part of Lake’s Bay for oyster privileges. The meadow was barren, but Mr. Lake believed it could be made to furnish grass for cattle and sheep. Therefore he did a great deal of ditching to drain the meadows, with very good results. They raised their sheep, weaving their cloth and making their clothing.

He also built a brick factory on Jonathan’s Thoroughfare to make brick from the blue mud in the meadows, and also built a road from the mainland to the factory; this is still discernible, as is the site of the brick yard.

He also established Salt Works on the meadow a half mile from the upland; operated by evaporation; the site of this is also traceable.

He also operated a brick factory at his home on Main St., hauling the clay from the clay holes near Christ Church in Risley Town.

The main business of those days was oystering; the oysters were carted to Philadelphia by way of Washington Ave., then known as the Clam Road, and the White Horse Pike, or else shipped to New York by boat, of which many were built at Absecon at that time.

Daniel Lake, the son of John Lake, tried in every way to carry out his father’s ideas of making the meadow yield enough hay and pasture for sheep and cattle; they also used the mud taken out of the ditches for fertilizer for the farm, for which there is nothing better in use to-day.

He was not a large man but was noted for his great strength. It was said of him that in digging ditches he could cut a sod eighteen inches square and throw it a hundred feet and hit a hat every shot and keep a sod in the air all of the time. I do not vouch for the truth of this, but he was a man of great strength, and a man so stern that his children obeyed with great fear.

Daniel Lake lived for some time at Port Republic, where he manufactured brick and brought them to Egg Harbor and Cape May in scows.

David Lake, the son of John and brother of Daniel, also worked the meadows, inventing a machine for grinding the mud and mixing it with the lime of burnt oyster shells for fertilizer. He also invented, with his nephew, a self-laying track car for hauling loads over the soft meadow and very soft ground. He also invented a fly trap, which if placed on the market today would be a paying proposition.

David and Simon, his brother—the founder of Ocean City—were the prime movers with their brother Lucas in building the Pleasantville and Atlantic City Turnpike. It was in the building of this turnpike that the self-laying track car was the most used for hauling sand and gravel.

While repairing the road and hauling sand from Lucas Lake’s property at what is now Chester Ave., near the Reading R. R., Roland Lake, a grandson of Daniel, uncovered a row of a dozen skeletons of Indians, buried in a row, face down, with tortoise shells over their faces. Tomahawks and arrows, with bows plainly traceable in the sand, but nothing but the stone heads left, were found. All of the skeletons were of large size.

Jesse S. Lake, son of Daniel, was a genius and a man of thought and far in advance of his time. He invented many useful and amusing things; among them was a mowing machine, the whistling buoy, a ratchet heaving machine which could be carried under the arm, but with which one could move a house; a fancy toy top; a patent grip for cable cars, enabling them to turn corners and cross cables without the use of horses. For this he refused an offer of $50,000 from the Philadelphia Traction Co.; but the electric car soon took its place; so he lost the benefit of it.

At the time of his death he was working on a plan to get aluminum from the meadow mud, as he had discovered that it abounded with this metal. He was also working on a plan to put passengers on or off an express train at full speed without injury.
My father, Mr. John T. Lake, told an interesting story of how he and Jesse were frightened by a panther while looking after some traps which they had set in the woods up the old field lane, now Adams Ave., about the corner of Adams and Isleworth Aves. They had gone to most of their traps; it was about five o'clock on a Winter’s morning. As they were walking along through the woods, they heard the sound of some one chopping wood over on the Clam Road or Washington Ave., and in a few minutes heard a most unearthly cry from that direction. Father said to Jesse, “That man has cut himself; let’s hurry over and see if we can’t help him.” But before they could do anything the cry came again, much nearer and almost freezing the blood in their veins; the next instant causing the perspiration to start from every pore in their bodies. While still standing paralyzed with fear, they heard a crashing in the underbrush about one hundred yards ahead of them; and all of a sudden there appeared in the trail a full-grown panther; he threw up his head like a large dog and emitted the dreadful cry again, and with one bound disappeared in the underbrush on the other side of the trail. With one impulse both boys turned and throwing away their hats started on a wild dash for home; father was the younger and much smaller and had been walking behind Jesse; so when he turned to run he was in the lead, and he said he kept it too—not because he could run the faster, but because every time Jesse tried to pass him he ran back and forth across the narrow trail and kept him from passing. When they got home, they were almost dead from running, and it was a long time before they went to their traps again before daylight or without a gun.
APPENDIX VI

DANIEL LAKE COLLINS’S DIARY

To Whom this may Concern:

Take notice that our names are Mark Lake and Daniel L. Collins of Great Egg Harbour, New Jersey, bound to the Western Countries for information.

Being prepared, we took our departure from Bargaintown on the fifth of August, 1830, and thence proceeded to Somers’ Point. There meeting with some difficulty in respect to our passage, we crossed the river and paid our uncle and aunt a visit. There we had an interview with Captain Daniel Corson, from whom we derived considerable information in respect to the Southern States. Thus passed the sixth instant, and the seventh, meeting with an opportunity, we took passage on board the fast sailing schooner President of Long Island, John Beagle being Master. We cleared Great Egg Harbour Bar at ten o’clock, and at twelve had the pleasure of speaking the schooner Nicholas Vansant off Little Egg Harbour, laden with a beach party. The wind being free, we arrived at New York by eleven o’clock that evening. There meeting with my brother we spent the eighth and ninth very agreeably. On the eleventh, we took passage for Albany on board the steamboat North America at seven o’clock and arrived at seven in the evening. Being on our passage in the day time, we had the pleasure of viewing the delightful cities and villages, and among all the rest the lovely cottages and romantic wilds as they were strewn along the edge of the river and foot of the lofty mountains, bringing fresh to our minds the many records of Scottish lives. Not wishing to prolong our history I return to our journey.

Being come to Albany, we took lodgings at one Katfield’s, a public house. Next morning we took passage up the Canal by the Telegraph Line, proceeding west through Troy and up to the ninth lock a distance of eight and a half miles; not proceeding as fast as we liked, we went on foot about fifteen miles; then being overtaken by the Merchants' Line boat we took passage for Utica, a distance of eighty-six miles.

We arrived at Utica on the thirteenth at twelve o'clock. Passing about an hour, we proceeded to Syracuse, a distance of sixty-nine miles. This and Selina are very pleasant places. The canal passes through them. The principal support of these places is the manufacturing of salt, which is carried on very extensively, both by boiling and by evaporation. About a mile up the Canal, opens to our view the small but pleasant Lake Anadoga, and on the opposite side we see the delightful village called Liverpool. It is to be considered that these salt mines are owned by the State, and that therefore they impose duties on it, which bring the price up to ten shillings and six pence per barrel; a barrel contains five bushels, which makes it cost about two shillings and one pence per bushel.

We proceeded from Syracuse to Rochester, at which place we arrived a First Day night, the fifteenth of the eighth month. Not leaving there until nine o'clock the next morning, we had a good chance to view the place and find out the prices, &c. It is a very flourishing place. Wheat is selling at eighty-seven and one-half cents per bushel; flour at $4.25 per hundredweight; plasterer's wages range from ten to fourteen shillings; blacksmith's wages are twenty dollars per month; farmers from twelve to fourteen dollars per month.

After viewing the Falls of Rochester where Sam Patch made his last leap of ninety feet which put an end to his existence, we took passage by the Troy and Erie Line for Tonawanda, passing through Lockport where five locks rise sixty feet; after rising sixty feet we passed for a distance of two and three-quarters miles through a solid rock whose precipitous sides rise on an average twenty-five feet. Here are the works of men for you, as well as the work of the great Creator,—sights, my friends, that will never be forgotten by me. We can hear and hear, but can form no adequate idea of those tremendous locks.

After arriving at Tonawanda we travelled eleven miles to view the great Falls, and now we are regaling ourselves under the shade of a beautiful butternut tree on Britain's most noble shore. Here we can think of our dear homes though we are distant far away. Here we can view the wonderful works of nature and drop a silent tear on behalf of us fallen creatures.

This being the eighteenth of the eighth month, we travelled along the banks of the Niagara River on the Britannic side for the space of twenty miles, viewing the country as we passed. The buildings are principally log, but the ground is very fertile. Produce is cheaper than in this country. Wheat is six shillings; rye four shillings; corn three shillings; oats one shilling and six pence, &c. The soil is great for grass and fruit, especially plums and apples.

Passing over to Black Rock we proceeded to Buffalo, a distance of three miles, which is a pleasantly situated place. It lies at the mouth of Lake Erie, and the Great Canal terminates at this place, which will be the cause of its prosperity. We stayed here the nineteenth, and the twentieth we agreed for our passage on board the schooner Hercules of Buffalo, laden with salt and live stock, such as Swedes, Dutch, Irish, Yankees, &c., &c. The wind being contrary, we did not set sail until the twenty-first, when the wind becoming fair we launched forth with about sixty passengers on board. Here is happiness for you—the women piled up abaft the mainmast crying York and filling the lake with the filth of their stomachs; the children crying down below; the hands swearing on deck; while there stand some professed gentlemen disputing about their berths and saying “Oui, Madame, if you will accept our berths you may have them, but there shall no man sleep in them.” This causing a jealousy on the part of the husbands, I did not know but that we should have a “brace.” But I went and “quiled” down by the bowsprit to take my rest till morning, and there lay Mark on the soft side of a board on the locker with his knapsack under his head. Thus passed the first night, and here they lie all over the deck now as sick as death. If I don’t go on deck I shall vomit at the thought of the rest, but Mark stands it pretty well. So goodbye until you hear and see the rest.

On the twenty-second of the month, being the first of the week, we touched at Brockport, forty-five miles up the Lake and discharged a part of our sick passengers. Then we proceeded, and the wind being calm, we never got to Erie until the twenty-third about four o’clock, a distance of fifty-five miles. Feeling discouraged, we concluded to take it on foot to Portage County where L. Hurlbut lives, to do which we steered for Salem in the state of Ohio, a distance of thirty miles. We proceeded from Erie on our route through Pennsylvania, and night overtaking us, we thought to take shelter in some friendly house, but to our astonishment we were refused. Alas, here is trouble. The loud peals of thunder and vivid lightning filled us with despair; the road in which we had to travel for the space of four miles was thick and uninhabited. But it could not be helped. We passed on in low spirits, the lightning lighting us every few steps, until at last we arrived at a log house where we met with humane entertainment and quietly laid our wearied heads on a bed prepared for us on the floor. Next morning we paid the fare, which was twelve and a half cents each, and proceeded on our journey through Salem to the village of Monroe in Ashtabula County, a distance of twenty-six miles, where we stayed all night. On the twenty-fifth, we proceeded on our journey to a place called Kingman's where we stayed all night, a distance of twenty-nine miles; here we supped on porridge and milk &c., for which we paid thirty-seven and a half cents. On the twenty-sixth we proceeded three miles, where we had for our breakfast our heart's desire, that is, a large pan of milk set before us with bread and butter and cheese in abundance, for which we paid six cents each. This was at a private house. This sounds like the Promised Land of Ohio.

Thence we proceeded through the center of Hartford to Warren, the county seat, a distance of twenty-nine miles; passing two miles beyond, we put up for the night. On the twenty-seventh we continued on through the country to Levi Hurlbutt's, a distance of thirty-three miles. Arriving within six miles of Mr. Hurlbutt's, we inquired of the people, and you cannot think what pleasure it gave us to hear of one that we formerly knew. We proceeded on with quick steps until we got on the hill in sight of his clearing where we sat down on a large tree and thus exclaimed: I am astonished and amazed. What do we see! It is nothing but a wild wilderness, not a house within a mile. We are "beat," we will say nothing but leave the inquirer to judge for himself.

Here we stayed until the twenty-ninth when we steered our course for the Ohio Canal, a distance of about nineteen miles, to a place called Akron, where we took passage on board the boat called the Union of Dover, for two cents a mile and find ourselves. This being on the thirtieth of the eighth month, we proceeded on through a lonesome, dismal, and sickly hole to a place called Dover, a distance of fifty-one miles, where we arrived on the morning of the thirty-first. From thence we proceeded on foot through Shanesville to Coshocton, a distance of thirty-one miles; on the first of ninth month we proceeded on to Newark, a distance of thirty-five miles. We continued on the second through Granville to Columbus, a distance of thirty-three miles, the capital of Ohio, where we arrived on the third; we continued on to London, a distance of twenty-five miles; but, overtaking an empty wagon about five miles from Columbus, we solicited them to take us up, which they did. On the fourth we passed on from London to Xenia, fifty-one miles, in wagons in merry glee. We had as many peaches and plums as we wanted—stealing them. We passed through Xenia to Bell Brook, and soon through Waynesville to James Young's, five miles East of Lebanon, where we arrived on the fifth of ninth month, just a month from the time we left Bargaintown. Here we met with acquaintances, as it were, who used us as parents and respected us as children. Here we stayed until the seventh when we took stage from Lebanon to Cincinnati, a distance of fifty-five miles, where we arrived on the eighth. On the ninth we paid Richard Steelman a visit; his wife's name is Martha, a sister of N. Vansant.

Our home was at Anthony Ireland's where we enjoyed ourselves as at home. On the tenth we took tea at James Blackman's, and on the eleventh we took passage with one Clark, a distant relative of ours, who had come to market at Cincinnati. The distance from Cincinnati to Uncle's is twenty-seven miles. We arrived in the evening, and met our relatives with much joy, and on the twelfth, being the first day of the week, we took a pleasant walk around the fruitful fields as they were clothed with the green grass and rustling corn. Here we could view the fruit trees clothed with golden fruit, which remind us of the "Promised Land" of Ohio in some degree. In the afternoon we went to meeting for the first time since we left home. On the thirteenth we went hunting for squirrels with Edward Doughty. Having our rifles equipped, we marched forth and returned with four squirrels, one hawk, and one pigeon. This we thought was doing well, since we had never shot a rifle before. On the fourteenth we paid S. Justice a visit; his wife's name was Black (man?). Thence we went to Uncle Edward Doughty's. On the fifteenth, we went to Samuel Homan's; his wife's name was Ann Doughty.

Here produce is as follows: Wheat, forty cents per bushel; rye the same; corn and oats from twenty to twenty-five cents per bushel; s. p. wheat flour one dollar and seventy-five cents per hundred; beef from two to two and a half cents per pound; pork, fresh, two and one-half to three cents per pound, salt, six and one-quarter cents; sweet potatoes seventy-five cents per bushel; round potatoes, twenty-five cents; apples, green, twenty-five cents, dried, seventy-five cents; peaches, dried, one dollar; green, thirty-seven and one-half cents; butter, eighteen and one-half cents per pound; cheese, eight cents. Broom corn brooms one dollar and fifty cents per dozen. Shoes about the same as in our place; hats the same; clothing about the same. Whiskey from twenty-five to thirty-seven and one-half cents per gallon. Laborers receive from thirty-seven and one-half cents to fifty cents per day.

After spending about ten days in Claremont and conversing freely with the girls, as usual, we returned to Cincinnati where we scouted about several days. We crossed the Ohio River into Kentucky where we spent a half a day viewing the land. We returned to the City and went to view the Infernal Regions. Here we viewed with astonishment the most frightful sights and figures that human art could invent. Here we were “electronized.”

On the twenty-ninth of ninth month we met with John Belangey and went home with him, nine miles down the Ohio River; here the old people used us well; here we saw pleasure. We stayed here several days, and there being a company of young people gathered together, we had a most delightful series of plays such as we play at home and many others.

Leaving here we steered for Coldrain where Peter Stephens lives. Here we were used as relatives. The distance from J. Belangey's to Peter Stephens' was twenty miles. We left here the second of tenth month, being the first of the week, for Brookville, a distance of twenty miles, where we put up for the night. The third we steered for Rushville, a distance of thirty miles, and so on to Indianapolis, where we arrived on the morning of the sixth. Nothing improper occurred as yet.

We took breakfast on the sixth at one Zenas Lake’s on White River, two miles west of Indianapolis. Here we were used well. He came from Jersey. There seemed to be a family likeness in his features and in other respects, which made us think he was a descendant of our forefathers.

From here we took our departure for Lafayette, a distance of about eighty miles, twenty of which was a wild wilderness. Here we came to know and feel the miseries of a lost traveler. After traveling twelve miles we were informed that we could get lodgings eight miles further on; but to our sorrow we took the wrong road, and it appeared to be the longest eight miles that we had ever travelled. We travelled on about twelve miles when, night overtaking us, we were compelled to feel for the road; after getting out of it a number of times, we resolved if we could get in it we would quietly lie down till the moon should rise. Here were feelings better felt than expressed. Here we lay down by the side of a rotten log all overgrown with the green moss. It was star light, but the lofty and proud branches of the oak obstructed the rays of the bright orbs; here we could listen in silence to the hideous cries and shrieks of wild beasts of the wilderness. Here we remained for the space of three hours when the long looked for moon arose and diffused its beautiful rays of light through the thick forest and lighted the lost traveler on his way in peace. But, worn out with hunger and fatigue, and suffering still more with thirst, causing our steps to be slow and silent, we approached the sound of a bell. We continued on till at last we saw a light, which created new strength in us. Drawing near the light, it proved to be travelers like ourselves. Here we stayed till morning and took breakfast with the travelers. There were seven wagons. Being somewhat refreshed, we proceeded on our journey, leaving our benefactors behind.

Travelling on through the wilderness where the road was extremely crooked and muddy, and not being very careful, we found ourselves entirely out of the road; so there was no alternative but to set our compass and steer for Lafayette. This we did and travelled about three hours through the woods without any paths save those that were trodden by the wild beasts till at length we arrived at a house where we got some victuals for the second time in thirty-six hours. Here getting information we travelled on to Thorntown. What a beautiful town to be sure! It consists of two houses, and they are half a mile apart. Here we put up for the night. Being refreshed we proceeded on through the Promised Land of which we had heard so much. After travelling several miles through the dark woods we at length came to the prairie, which is delightful. Here we could view a large extent of country clothed with the beautifulest grass and sweetest smelling flowers that ever we beheld. Here we could hear larks singing on every hand, reminding us of our native homes.

Continuing on at length we arrived at the sought for place, Lafayette, where we arrived on the eighth of tenth month, 1830. It being very sickly here, we did not tarry longer than till the tenth, when we took our departure for Mt. Carmel by water, a distance of about three hundred and fifty miles. Having purchased a canoe for the purpose and getting in readiness we put forth. In our history you may see the fruits of breaking the Sabbath. After proceeding about twelve miles, we concluded we would have something to eat, and our provisions being placed forward, I advanced to get them, and turning around, I made a misstep and alas, alas, we found ourselves overboard in the midst of the Wabash in water breast high. Here is travelling for you! Every individual thing wet, watches and all; here we “poked” along a while, and at last found ourselves ashore. We gathered up our things as well as we could. In the meantime, the rain came down in torrents. After proceeding a mile, we arrived at a cabin looking more like the habitation of brutes than man. Here we will pause a while and think upon the difficulties and trials of mankind.

The habitation in which we sought shelter was situated on the bank of the Wabash River, about twelve miles from Lafayette. The inhabitants consisted of a father and six children; he had been bereft of a dear wife about a year since and the sickness had raged so severely that he could get no housekeeper. Here we dried our clothes as well as we could.

Readers, though your hearts are as hard as stone, would they not melt into sorrow to see those young children hovering around a poor fire, clothed with rags, the rain falling in torrents on the leaky roof, and the father about to break the last piece of bread that is baked? Here we pause awhile and give vent to our sorrow in a flood of tears. Here we cast a fond look back to our dear homes.

Thus passed a long and tedious night. The bright sun brought forth pleasures of a new day and we set forth in our tottering bark down the beautiful river, passing Attica and Baltimore, on to Covington where we put up for the evening, a distance of forty-five miles from Lafayette. Next morning we proceeded on to Perryville, where we took breakfast; we continued on to Montezuma, about forty miles, where we passed the evening agreeably. On the thirteenth we put forth through Clinton to Terre Haute, a distance of thirty-five miles. Here we put up for the night, and on the fourteenth continued on through Darwin about six miles, where we put up for the night, a distance of forty miles. On the fifteenth we continued on through York and past Miriam about eleven miles, where we put up for the night, making a distance of forty miles. On the sixteenth we proceeded on through Vincennes about twelve miles, where we arrived after dark; the family being sick we quietly laid our heads on our knapsacks, thinking that much better than to rest in the evening air. Starting early in the morning for Mt. Carmel, after traveling about twenty miles we concluded to take it on foot, seven miles to Centerville where we found our cousins, making a distance of seventy-four miles. We arrived at John Penston's on First Day the seventeenth of October, who received us with much satisfaction. Here we could raise our minds above and rejoice in our prosperity through the many difficulties that had beset us in our journey.

Here we visited our Jersey friends with much pleasure and listened with attention to their sentiments in respect to this country. They appear to be well satisfied at present. They have the necessaries of life, which is all reason can ask. The soil is very fertile; it brings forth fruit in abundance. The general yield is about forty bushels of corn to the acre and other produce accordingly.

Prices current in Wabash: Wheat flour two dollars and one-half per hundred; rye we hear no talk of; wheat by the bushel fifty cents; corn twenty cents; oats twenty-five cents; potatoes twenty-five cents; beans to eat sixty-two and one-half cents per bushel; beef, per pound, two and two and one-half cents; beef, salt, six and a quarter cents; pork, fresh, two and one-half cents; pork, salt, six and one-quarter cents.

Wages is thirty-seven and one-half cents per day, cash; by the month from seven to ten dollars. Mechanics wages about the same as there.

After getting acquainted with some of the gentlemen and ladies of Bald Hill, we resolved to take a ride out to Lick Prairie to a meeting of New Lights, or, as they call themselves, the Christian Body. Being supplied with horses by Jeremiah Risley and equipped, we set forth to see the new worshipers. They appear to be a loving people and zealous in their worship. After meeting we returned home, about twenty-five or thirty young people, men and women, on horseback. These are sights not common in Jersey. We travelled on in much gayety and pleasure. Evening coming on, we went to Methodist meeting. Here we talked and laughed with our new friends with seeming pleasure and happiness. But, O! how soon is such pleasure and happiness blasted. Next day I could see a lurking disease hovering around my dearest friend, Mr. Lake. Not many days passed before I could view him laid on a bed of sickness, groaning under the scorching fevers and pains that accompany bilious turns. What could be more lamentable than to be laid on a bed of sickness far from our homes and parents; no one to protect us; no one to administer the necessaries of life; no one to soothe the troubled breast and bring contentment to the troubled and wearied traveller. Here we will pause a moment and raise our voices in acclamations of joy to think that this is not our case. Although we are distant far from our parents and our native state, yet we are at home, as it were, where parental affection is bestowed upon us and where every attention and care is administered unto us that could be looked for from a parent's hand. I can rejoice to think that our troubles and disappointments are no worse than they are. Although our troubles have been considerable, yet as for my own part, I have seen pleasure in some degree. I have been a sleighing and been through the prairies, feasting my eyes on the cheeks of the pretty girls. On New Year's Day we had the pleasure of attending a quilting party at James Wiley's. Here I could see my comrade skipping philanders with the girls for the first time in three months, which gave me much pleasure. Mark's strength being recovered in some degree, we bade farewell to Illinois, the place which we regretted to leave more than we did our homes because we thought ourselves indebted to the people for their kindness to us.

Leaving Mt. Carmel, we crossed the Wabash River on the seventh of January, 1831, and directed our steps to Evansville, through Columbia and Princeton, where we arrived on the eighth; Mark being very weak and having the chills and fever, we thought it expedient to wait for the stage. We went to Evansville on Wednesday, the twelfth of first month, 1831, making a distance of forty-five miles. On the thirteenth about eight o'clock, we left Evansville and took passage on board the steamboat Mohican down the Ohio; we passed Shawnee about three o'clock and continued on down to the mouth of the Tennessee River. Here leaving her, we took passage on board the steamboat Lady Franklin for New Orleans. We passed Natchez at twelve o'clock on the nineteenth, and so on down the course of the Mississippi. Here we could view with mingled sorrow and delight the large and extensive sugar and cotton farms flourishing under the hands of slavery. Here we could count as many as fifteen or twenty small buildings occupied by the slaves, and in the midst the large and magnificent dwelling of the owner. What feeling man could forbear heaving a deep sigh on behalf of those unhappy victims!

We arrived at that great city New Orleans on the thirtieth of January, 1831. Here we could view with astonishment the sin and wickedness of men. New Orleans is the most wicked place that we have travelled through. The people have no respect for the Sabbath at all. Neither do I think they have any for conscience. Not getting employment and feeling dissatisfied, we resolved to leave the place, to do which we took passage on board of the fast sailing packet ship Louisiana of New York, Capt. Harris, on the twenty-sixth of January. About seven o'clock in the evening, the steam-boat Shark made fast to us, the ship Salem, and also to the brig Criterion; and so having things in readiness, we took our departure giving them three cheers and a discharge of a thirty-six pounder. After proceeding about fifty miles we were prevented by a thick fog which lasted till the twenty-seventh about noon, when we continued on down the Mississippi River under tow of the Shark, a distance of one hundred and twelve miles. We arrived at the mouth about eight o'clock in the evening. Here we came to anchor, and there not being a sufficient depth of water to carry us out, we were obliged to remain the twenty-eighth and till about four o'clock on the twenty-ninth when the pilot came aboard. We made sail, and after beating on the billows about two hours we cleared the way and steered about a southeast course for the Capes of Florida.

This is First Day, the 30th of January. We are sailing on the Gulf of Mexico in the ship Louisiana of New York with three cabin passengers and seven deck passengers, principally all sea sick. We are making good headway and have passed one ship, two brigs, and a schooner; we are now taking the lead with the wind about south, and the course is East by South. But it has every appearance of a severe gale; the atmosphere is clothed with a thick dark cloud and the fowls are uttering their plaintive cries which bespeak the approaching storm. And according to expectations about three o'clock it came forth in its frightful looks. The gale increased till about four o'clock when the sound of the Captain's voice came to our ears, saying "Where are these two well passengers (at the same time forcing our door open)? Turn out and pump or we shall sink." Which command we instantly obeyed. Then she was lying to under two topsails, close reefed. In this situation we remained till morning, by which time the sea had become very high, although the wind had abated in some degree,—so much so that they squared her before it. About eight o'clock on the thirty-first we saw trouble. Our ship tossed and pitched to such a degree that it stove the partition down in the cabin, upset the stove, spilt the dishes off the table, which made the cabin passengers look pretty wild. But they looked wilder still when they peeped out their heads and saw the poor condition of us deck passengers. Our ship shipped several heavy seas, which filled our lodging rooms knee deep in water and wet our provisions, capsizing the potato barrel. It carried away a part of the hen coop, let the turkeys out, and washed the pig out of his pen. He squealing, and the turnips and potatoes and cabbages rolling over the deck, and the turkey flopping, you must imagine, formed a very dismal aspect. None but the sailors know the hardships and trials which they have to undergo.

The sea gradually dying away and the atmosphere becoming clear, we could behold ourselves once more gliding over the smooth ocean towards the Capes of Florida. On the first day of February we had a fine breeze and our ship glided over the swelling waves in seeming delight, bringing to our mind the expression of the Slave:

Wide o'er the tremulous sea
The moon shed her mantle of light,
And the gale gently dying away
Breathed soft o'er the bosom of night.

On the forecastle we poor travellers stood and poured forth our sorrowful tale; the tears might fall unseen in the flood, and our sighs pass unheard in the gale. Wednesday, the second of February, at twelve o'clock, we changed our course from South-Southeast to East by North, with the view of clearing the Tortugas which lie about forty miles northeast of us. The weather was very warm and sultry,—enough so to be uncomfortable.

Thursday, the third of February, at noon we were steering east, the wind being southeast in latitude of 24° 30' N. Friday, the fourth of February, in the Gulf Stream with a head wind. About two o'clock we hove in sight of Cape Florida. There are several sail in sight and the weather has every appearance of a squall. Saturday, the fifth, forenoon, hang off and on under close reefed top sails; afternoon more moderate, carry full sail nearly, with the wind about N. N. E. It looks very blustery. First Day, sixth of month, the wind is favorable as yet, but it looks pretty wild as is common in this climate. Second Day, seventh of second month, just lay our course, hard wind and high sea; third, the wind ahead but fine weather; Fourth Day, ninth of February, fine breeze from the northwest, quite chilly; suppose ourselves to the east of the Gulf Stream near the latitude of Cape Hatteras.

The time passed slowly along,—nothing heard but the sea's song. Fifth Day, tenth of month, the wind ahead but blowing fresh; Sixth day, the eleventh of February, the wind is fair and fresh; we are sailing at the rate of eight and nine knots per hour. Seventh Day, twelfth of February, the wind ahead; it is quite cold, partly on account of the sun's being eclipsed last night. We experience a severe gale. First Day, thirteenth of February, fresh breezes from the North; spoke the United States of Providence, forty days from Savannah, with the rudder and top masts carried away. Second Day and fourteenth of February, the wind still continues ahead and very cold. Third Day, the fifteenth of February, we have once more a fair wind, and we judge ourselves between the Capes of Delaware and Sandy Hook; but it is uncertain. Fourth Day, the sixteenth of February, a heavy gale with the wind on shore or rather southerly, accompanied with rain. Fifth Day, the seventeenth, at twelve o'clock, we lay anchored off Sandy Hook, waiting for flood tide.

On the Sixth Day, the eighteenth, we got under way and came to the City of New York with much joy to think that we were once more landed, safe from off the boisterous ocean.

On the eighteenth we had the good luck to meet with Capt. Samuel Sharp with whom we took passage on board the Schooner Adrian with much pleasure. The nineteenth we remained in New York, and on First Day, the twentieth, we left New York. We had a fine wind which carried us home on the twenty-first, where we could rejoice in the company of our near friends. Here it is that we can rejoice in our prosperity. Here it is that we can rejoice in the company of fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, and our nearest connections. Here it is that we can seat ourselves by their warm firesides and meditate upon the misfortunes of men which we have seen in our travels, while the tables of our friends are clothed with plenty. And if we view the dark side of our travels, we can in propriety exclaim, stay at home and be contented;—tears from his eyes like fountains flow.
It is on the shores of New Jersey that we can recline our heads against the trunks of the beautiful cedars where the ground is overgrown with the green grass and receive the gentle zephyrs as they glide over the ever-green foliage. Here it is that we can contemplate the pleasures that we have seen and fondly hope to partake of the same pleasures again.
